Charlotte To Have 20-Story Building

Charlotte, July 9.—A 20-story of-fice building will be erected here by the First National bank of Charlotte, stead of the modest building originally planned according to an announ cement today by officials of the institution. The cost of the structure will exceed $1,000,000, it was said.

When completed the structure will be the tallest in the Carolinas, according to tentative plans drawn by the architect. The Jefferson Standard Life insurance building, in Greensboro, is 17 stories high, as is the Woodside National bank building in Greenville,

The stockholders of the bank yesterday vote dunanimousty to author-ize the directors and building committee of the bank to proceed with any type of modern building their judgment dictated. They reached a decision to erect a building that would meet increasing demands for uptown office space for years to come.
