Lovely Neighborhood Party.

Mrs. S. S. Royster had a delightful neighborhood party on Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock. The rooms were most attractive with beautiful flowers and the neighbors greeted Mrs. Arey who was a spend-the-day guest of Mrs. Royster, and a recent neighbor too, having moved a few weeks ago to her lovely new home on the Cleveland Springs road. Two tables of rook was played during the afternoon and delicious refreshments were served. Assisting Mrs. Royster in serving were her daughters, Mesdames D. W. and Ralph R. Royster.

Loyals Receive Attention at Boone.

Mr. H. M. Loy, member of the summer school faculty at the normal has returned from Shelby after accompanying his family there Saturday. Mrs. Loy, two children and her mother, Mrs. Ward, have been guests at Green Inn for the past six weeks, proving themselves very popular summer visitors.

Several members of the faculty who had the pleasure of knowing Mrs. Loy, entertained with an inner party at the Daniel Boone hotel on Thursday evening complimenting her.

Another charming compliment tendered Mr. and Mrs. Loy was the dinner party given by Mrs. B. B. Flowe and Miss London at the Valle Crucis school Wednesday evening.

Rollins McSwain Wedding.

A wedding of wide social interest was that of Miss Ruby McSwain and Mr. C. S. Rollins which took place in Earl on Friday afternoon at three o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. McSwain. Only the members of the two families being present. Rev. G. P. Abernethy, pastor of the bride, performed the impressive ring ceremony. The wedding was beautiful in its simplicity, and the home was tastefully decorated with lovely cut flowers. The couple left immediately after the wedding for a tour of Western Carolina. The bride is very popular being a teacher for the past five years, the past two as teacher in Gibson high school. Mr. Rollins is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. John Rollins, a young man of sterling worth and a graduate of A. and E. college at Raleigh. He is a progressive farmer being employed on the co-operative marketing board.

Mrs. Rollins wore a charming blue and tan ensemble suit with hat and accessories to match.

The "Looker On" Writes of "Desks."

One week it's chairs, and the next it's desks; but they go together. Now desks, like chairs, are useful and ornamental. Desks may be beautiful and ornamental too but they are always useful; and what good time one has "every once and so often" cleaning out the desk, ridding the drawers of the accumulation of a "thousand things", the pigeon holes of old letters, and the little secret, locked drawer of the desk, if the desk has one, and it should have, to be a perfect, honest-to-goodness desk; is looked into to see that everything there is safe. Desks are human things in a way. You hide your secrets and your business in them. They of course appeal to you. They have an interest in your affairs. If you are lucky enough to possess a real genuine heirloom, one that has been handed down from your own family, or a beautiful reproduction, if you have no heirloom, then you are proud of your possession—and by the way there are three beautiful reproductions of old American desks, the mahogany with cabinet tops, here in Shelby in three homes the writer has visited that are truly exquisite reproductions of this type. And speaking of old desks—if ever the romance of old desks is written, the most thrilling chapter will deal with the mysterious, secret recesses, without which no self-respecting desk of ancient times with any pretensions of greatness would presume to exist. The tradition of lost wills, valuable documents and tender love missives found hidden in these receptacles have furnished abundant and thrilling material for plots of stories. To a greater degree than with any other personal belonging, old desks are bound up in the lives of their owners. Like the confessional, a relic of this sort is the repository for

Aviator Carries Stars to Fallston in 7 Minutes

Shelby people apparently like Sid Molloy and his aluminum finished Waco airplane, for 143 of them have consented to ride through the currents of the upper air with him since his arrival last Thursday. And not so much as a nervous break-down has been recorded. Molloy likes Shelby, too, and he plans to stay on here at least another week. No doubt he will be a big attraction at the farmers picnic next Friday, for his land field is very near the picnic grounds at Cleveland Springs. Sid, as was stated in the last issue of The Star, was special Star carrier to Fallston last Thursday afternoon. He says that it took him fourteen minutes to carry his package of papers to the Fallston postmaster, and return to his field on the Cleveland Springs road. Many people at Fallston were waiting at the postoffice, where the crowd was gathered, the aviator turned it loose just beyond Stamey's store, in the edge of a corn-field. Reports from Fallston state that the package arrived in first-class shape, thanks to the care of Paul Abernethy and Molloy.

Yesterday afternoon, Molloy "ran over" to Charlotte during a spare hour or so he had on hand, taking with him Miss Betty Suttle, of Shelby, and his buddy, Ned Triplette, a student at the University last year. He returned late yesterday afternoon, and is planning to take another batch of papers to Lattimore next Thursday.

Four Miles Of No. 27 Highway Finished

Lincoln County News.
Work on the new state highway No. 27 continues, and it is likely that No. 27 will be completed within 30 days.

Last Tuesday afternoon the force of workmen of the P. R. Ashby Co., highway contractors, finished the four mile stretch leading from Linepoint to the Presley Miller Place, and many took a spin over the black top Tuesday night.

The force laying the concrete base on the remaining 5 miles of No. 27 now has about two and a half miles to put down.

There has been much delay recently in getting the necessary stone to keep the force busy, but Mr. Ashby expects to complete the entire road within 30 days.

Nowadays home talent doesn't mean a knack for washing dishes.

WAY PAVED IN JULY 77 MILES OF STATE HIGH.

According to figures compiled by the State highway commission 77 miles of paved roads were completed during the month of July. Of this mileage 36 miles of cement concrete construction; 13 miles of asphaltic concrete; 18 miles of concrete base course were laid; and 10 miles of sand asphalt, bituminous macadam, etc., were completed.

On Tuesday you will see one of the best pictures of the season at Webb theatre. Baby Peggy in "Helen's Babies". This picture will please young and old alike. A bachelor who adores the fair sex, and his sister's two kids, whom he is fathering and mothering in the absence of their parents. The comedy is wonderful.

On Wednesday Webbs have Patsy Ruth Miller in "The Girl on The Stairs". This is one of the best pictures ever shown in Shelby. There will also be a good comedy Wednesday.

On Thursday "The Cheebachos" (pronounced chee-chaw-ko) in a daring, dynamic, gripping picture. Scenes that will live in your memory for ever after. Never has drama on film been produced that carries a spectator out of himself as does this Alaskan-made masterpiece. Also a good comedy.

Tuesday the Princess present "Paths to Paradise" with Raymond Griffin, and Betty Compson, in a rollicking comedy drama, telling the experiences of two likable crooks who make you laugh all the way from San Francisco to the Mexican border and then back again it's a Paramount, too.

Wednesday a great picture of the World war with Kenneth McDonald and Chester Conking, that begins with a peaceful, unsuspecting world and ends amid the roar of guns. "Makers of Men" will rank as one of the greatest of war pictures.

Thursday Shirley Mason, as Shannon Day in "The Star Dust Trail", portrays faithfully a young musical comedy star, whose love for luxury comes near breaking up her home. With Bryant Washburn, she gives us an enticing glimpse of stage life.
