The program begins at 8 in the evening and all contestants are asked to notify C. L. Eaker, Cherryville route 1 prior to Friday night.

Child Run Over—The young son Jesse Barrett, of Buffalo, was knocked down by a passing automobile yesterday near the Buffalo school and severely injured. It was reported here today by Deputy Buren Deaton. The fender of the car struck the child, but the car was stopped suddenly by the driver without serious injury to the boy. It is thought to have been an unavoidable accident.

Proved a Cow's Grave—Below the Seaboard railroad crossing west of Shelby, a new made grave aroused suspicion because no one in that vicinity seemed to know what was buried there. All sorts of rumors and reports started, so C. F. Smith and Luther Spencer opened the grave and found that a cow was buried therein, which allays suspicion that a human body had been interred in such a secluded spot.

Killed By Fall—James Oscar Keever, a native of Lincoln county died in the hospital there last Thursday as a result of injuries received while squirrel hunting Wednesday. He went hunting alone and was found in the woods unconscious Thursday morning with his arm broken and bruises about his head. It is presumed he climbed the tree to a squirrel's nest and fell out sustaining the injuries.

Arrowwood Stars—Hugh Arrowwood, Shelby boy playing end for Davidson Saturday against Carolina was one of the stars of the game. According to Ben Dixon MacNeill, staff writer of the News & Observer, Arrowwood was the most consistent tackler of the game. A quotation from MacNeill's story follows: "The Wildcat ends somehow swept around the scrimmage and nailed the Carolina backs from the rear. Once Arrowwood shot through and ailed Underwood in his tracks as he was about to pass the ball over the line. It was the most brilliant tackle of the game."

Sure Aim Kills Very Strange Bird

Ernest Harris proved a sure shot Tuesday when he brought down a strange bird from the roof of the Lafayette street Methodist church. Mr. Harris using a pistol, the ball from which penetrated the bird's head. The bird is about the size of a mockingbird, but of a basic black color with brown spots. In the sunlight the glossy feathers show green, purple and other colors, depending on the angle of the light. The head and beak are shaped like that of a crow. Looking through the dictionary Mr. Harris finds that it corresponds to the "golden plover", a native of the arctic regions, a species of birds that have the habit of migrating south for the winter.

If a cold tub really is pleasant, why does it make people feel so virtuous? There's little difference between an idealist and a materialist when a profit is in sight.

How Provide The Worker An Audience.

Kansas City Times.

When a man does a good job it is human nature for him to want an audience. It is a wonderful satisfaction to know that work is appreciated. The Christian martyr went joyously to his fate because he felt he had an audience—God. A man may feel he has written a great play. But if nobody will go to see it the heart is taken out of him. A surgeon wants recognition for his skill, not merely because such recognition will bring financial success, but because he is a human being. He needs appreciation. Would a football player exert himself as he does if the game were played without a grandstand?

We recognize the fact about ourselves. We know we need appreciation to do our best work. But we often forget the same thing is true about the other fellow.

It is interesting to learn from Mr. Whiting Williams, who specializes in industrial relations, that heads of big corporations are coming to see the need of providing appreciation for employees who deserve it. He points out, for instance, that the Baltimore and Ohio, through a monthly publication sent to each of its employees, provides them a grandstand seating 75,000 persons, before whom they perform. If a man meets a difficult situation well, if he does some unusual piece of work, he is mentioned in this publication. He has an audience.

In the old days of small industries the employer was in close touch with the men who worked for him. He saw what they did. They knew good work won respect from the boss, and not the problem now is to find some substitute for this direct contact between the men and the head of the concern, so they may get the normal human satisfaction out of work well done and appreciated. Fortunately the need is recognized and progress is being made.

A human being must be able to take pride in his job and in the importance of the work he is doing and must get recognition for it, whether he is Judge Gary at the head of the United States Steel Corporation or the man who runs the steam shovel on a sewer contract.

Shot On Street Attracts Crowd

Quite a disturbance was created at the First National bank corner of the uptown business section about noon today when a gun in the hands of Jimmy Siceloff, local travelling man, was discharged in some manner during what was said to have been an argument between Siceloff and Carey Boshamer, head of the Shelby Wholesale Grocery company.

Bystanders say, it is understood that Siceloff, who was a former captain in the Canadian army as sabre instructor for the Canadian troops, and Boshamer were discussing something near the front of the bank when Boshamer invited Siceloff off the streets to settle it. As they turned the corner the shot was fired. It is understood that Siceloff says that he did not intend to shoot, but that he started to strike with the gun and that it was discharged in some manner. The bullet struck the pavement and did not hit Boshamer. Officers were upon the scene a short time later and Siceloff was placed under bond for a hearing, the exact charges being preferred against him are not known.

The Strangest Duel.

(From Brief Stories)

Probably the strangest duel that ever took place was one fought in Paris in 1808. It is peculiarly French and could hardly have occurred anywhere but French society. Two gentlemen of France quarreled over the lady of their mutual love. Tempers rose and in the heat of the moment they agreed to fight a duel to settle their respective claims.

In order that the heat of angry passion should not interfere with the polished elegance of the proceedings, they agreed to postpone the duel for a month. The fight was to be from balloons, the survivor to claim the hand of the lady in marriage. A day and place of meeting were arranged and on the appointed day the duellists met. The gentlemen were named Granpre and LePique. The ascent took place in the garden of the Tuilleries amidst a vast concourse of spectators. The gentlemen were to fire not at each other, but at the balloons. The resultant escape of gas would bring the balloon down and in all probability would mean death to the occupant.

The balloons having been cast off and having ascended at a given signal the duellist opened fire. Le Pique missed, but his opponent was successful in sending a bullet through Le Pique's balloon. The latter crashed to earth and was smashed to pieces. His conqueror still made his ascent and landed seven miles out of Paris. So ended what must be considered the strangest of all duels.

Morrison, Jeweler, Makes Assignment

Mr. E. G. Morrison, well known Shelby jeweler, made a voluntary assignment for the benefit of his creditors this week and Mr. John S. McKnight has been appointed trustee. The many friends of Mr. Morrison regret to learn of his financial embarrassment which has made it necessary to surrender his property but this he has done willingly. It is reported that the liabilities are about $12,000. J. B. Thomas representing Ritchie and Phillips Company of Cincinnati, Ohio wholesale jewelers is here to help in taking stock and looking after the interest of his firm which is the largest creditors.

Schools Close Two Days Thanksgiving

The city school, it is understood will close for two days for Thanksgiving next week. No school will be held from Wednesday afternoon until the following Monday morning, Thursday and Friday being holidays. Quite a number of the teachers will spend the holidays at their homes in this and adjoining states.

A new addition to the city schools that is taking well is a 26-piece band formed of young school boys directed by W. T. Sinclair, of the faculty. The youngsters have been playing in chapel and also gave the Clover-Shelby football game last week a twang of the college spirit by playing during intermissions in the game.

What is needed is less advice for the merchant marine and more freight.

Flag And Bible Given To Piedmont

Woodmen Present Them With Words of Commendation for Professor Burns. Play is Enjoyed

(Special to The Star.)
"The Gold Bug" a play given by the dramatic class of Piedmont High school on last Friday evening was thoroughly enjoyed by a large and appreciative audience. The door receipts amounted to $85. The entertainment was under the direction of Mr. P. G. Gallop the proceeds will be added to the Athletic association fund.

The Home economics department, under the direction of Miss Alma Burgess, recently served a supper, the proceeds of which amounted to $75. Silver, china and linen and a few other much-needed articles were immediately added to the equipment of the new and lively department.

On Wednesday and Thursday of last week Miss Burgess and her young housekeepers were hostesses at a delightful breakfast to the faculty. Ample proof was furnished that simple and wholesome food can be cooked and served in such a way as to be an achievement in art—proof which the faculty readily swallowed.

With a beautiful and impressive ceremony, the Belwood Junior order of the Woodmen of the World recently presented the school with a United States flag and a Bible. The presentation speech was made by Professor Hodges of Belwood, in words appealing to the highest patriotism. Professor Burns replied with a neat speech of acceptance.
