

While driving autos or bargains, it is safer to keep to the right, advises Walter Fanning.

Fable: "Go right ahead," said the traffic cop. "You really needn't have stopped at all. I thought, of course, you knew I was fooling. Never pay any attention to my signals."

It used to be that crows would scare at an automobile. Now John Beam says, they scare at a horse.

Definitions

Detour—Longest distance between two driven points.

Joy Rider—One who rides while we walk.

Jay Walker—One who walks when we ride.

Motorists who continue to let trains beat them to the crossings may read about those who don't.

Here lies one who for lack of brains.

Such time consumed in racing trains.

To crossings. Now his life is done. The 7:15 local won.

The American farmer will never get rich, thinks Ivey Willis, until he is able to raise something to feed an automobile.

"Old friend, I won't forget you," the luckless Shelby motorist sadly said, as he gazed at the ruin of his flivver, wrecked against a tree. "The payments will go on just the same."

Owner of Ford: "I've got some car. Seven 'pick-up' to the mile."

Owner of Baby Lincoln: "That's nothing on me. Just bought a new horn that says, Hello, Girls."

J. D. Lneberger says a business without a plan is like a flivver with a busted steering gear.

A taxi driver from Lattimore recently caught a fare to Charlotte and while hunting for his fare's address on a side street, an old man wheeling a wheelbarrow crossed the street in front of him. The taxi driver "stopped on his horn" and the shrill shriek caused the old man to stop suddenly in the taxi's path.

The driver jammed on his brakes and yelled at the old man, "Get outta my way. Say, you oughta be wheeling a baby buggy."

"Yeah," answered the old man as he leisurely grasped the handles of his wheelbarrow, "and you ought to be in it!"

The supreme test of personality comes when you must tell the taxi driver that your money is in your other pants.

"I saw you in church last Sunday." "Yes, I am having my car painted. What was the matter with yours?"

There was a chauffeur. And his name was Fred; He raced with a train And now he's dead.

You'll have to guarantee Garages in connection with the Mansions if you want to induce some people to go to Heaven.

Henry: Did you build a garage for your flivver?

Ford: Yes, I had to. Caught a couple of ants trying to drag it thru a crack under the sidewalk.

Motorist (seeing a road sign out of Walla Walla, Wash.) It must be that stuff I had in St. Louis.

The other fellow is a person who is expected to drive slow at street crossings.

A rattle in the average man's car worries him more than a rattle in his brain.

Piedmont News of School-Medal Winner

(Special to The Star) The Piedmont nine won by a score of 5 to 4 over the Forest City team Friday afternoon, April 9.

On Friday evening, the Plerian Literary Society held their annual improvement contest, the winner of the medal being Thomas Forney. The query was, Resolved: That North Carolina should abolish capital punishment. The defenders of the affirmative were William Yelton, William Eaker, Lawrence Leo, and Robert Forney. Their "honorable opponents" were Durham Whisnant, Alvin Propst, Floyd Hallman, and Thomas Forney. The welcome address was delivered by Edgar Peeler, and the annual oration by Fletcher Sain. A piano duet was rendered by Misses Ethel Elmore and Ruby Warlick. The program was thoroughly enjoyed by a large audience.

During the last few weeks several other events of interest have occurred.

A minstrel was given by the young men of the high school, the proceed amounting to $60.

A large audience enjoyed the recital given by Miss Elmore's music class.

The senior class were given a dinner by the students of the Domestic Science department. The color scheme was green and gold, and the table was decorated with yellow jonquills.

The closing exercises will begin with the annual sermon, Sunday, May 2, and continue through Wednesday evening, May 5.

See the GREAT LAKE LURE PLAN unfold day by day. See this mammoth job in progress. The roads are fine. Bring the family to Chimney Rock. Ascend the world's most spectacular monolith. Lunch at the dining pavillion above the clouds. Take a bird's-eye view of the tremendous job below—the creation of Lake Lure—and make up your mind now to have one of the limited number of homesites to be available by the time of its completion. If you can't get to Chimney Rock any time soon, call at nearest office, where maps and full information are available. Get this Wondrous View from Chimney Rock. This is the most beautiful time of the year to make a trip to Chimney Rock. More than 2,000 cars were parked near the dam site last Sunday. Right on the main highway, Route 20, between Rutherfordton and Asheville, the gigantic operation at Lake Lure dam is worth a day's trip to see. Immense rock crushers and lofty cranes—a force of 200 men working—concrete being poured so rapidly that visible progress is made every day. The lake basin has been cleared, so that the water line of Lake Lure is definitely marked. Three beautiful bridges are under construction. A fleet of steamshovels working on the main highway and the roads of Luremont. Parties of civil engineers surveying in every part of this section. Lake Lure business center, under construction, is rising rapidly. See the GREAT LAKE LURE PLAN unfold day by day. You folks who live within a day's ride of Chimney Rock—are you alive to what is going on here? You all know that the great real estate activity of the year, centering around Asheville, Hendersonville and Lake Lure, is attracting nationwide attention. People from Florida and other states south of us are flocking into this region, to make investments. Are the "home folks" keeping abreast of the situation, too? Events move so rapidly in the development of Lake Lure that, in order to keep informed, it is necessary to visit the development from week to week and see the work in progress. With an army of engineers on the job, it has been possible to speed up the work on the dam, so that water will be collecting in the basin during July. The entire Luremont residential section, adjoining Lake Lure business center, the bay and Bottomless Pools Park, has been mapped and blue-printed, and blocks Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4 have been staked out. The residence plots in these blocks are the most beautiful homesites on Lake Lure. Some have shore frontage; many more overlook the lake. Others have both the lake view and frontage on State Highway 20. Any homesite in Luremont is but a little way from Lake Lure business center. Every lot will have all hard-surface roads, electric lights, water mains, and an actual sanitary sewage system, a thing heretofore unknown in mountain developments. Arrangements are being made now to receive applications for the purchase of residential plots in the Luremont section. Within a few days announcement will be made as to requirements covering applications, and reservations. ChimneyRock Mountains, Inc. CHIMNEY ROCK, N. C. Sidney Gayle District Mgr. Greensboro, N. C. A.
