

LITTLE STARS

Cotton (Shelby spots) ----- 17c

Masonic Notice—Cleveland lodge 202 A. F. & A. M. will meet in called communication this evening, Friday, for work in the third degree. All members are urged to attend.

Singing Convention—There will be a singing convention at Sandy Run Baptist church at Mooresboro Sunday afternoon, August 22nd. Everybody is invited.

First Open Boll—J. Y. Kendrick who lives near Pleasant Ridge church, on Shelby R-7 is the first to produce an open boll of cotton. He found one in his field this week and says others are cracking.

Install Machine—Claude Mize, operator at the Webb theatre here, is in Kings Mountain supervising the installation of the movie machine and equipment at the Imperial theatre there, which is Webb's new theatre at the Cleveland town.

Not in Alaska—Prof. Robert Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Miller is not in Alaska but in Seattle, Washington. This corrects a mistake in Wednesday's Star. Mr. Miller has resigned his position as teacher in the school for the deaf at Morganton where he taught for twenty years.

Not Rabies—A report has been received from Raleigh that the pet dog which bit the child of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gallimore on the Gallimore farm just north of Shelby last week, did not have rabies. The child is rapidly improving and the family is relieved of much uneasiness.

Coach To School—Coach "Casey" Morris, athletic director of the Shelby schools, who has been playing summer baseball in Alabama, left Friday for Gastonia and will later go to Chapel Hill to attend the coaching school for a few days. He will return to Shelby soon to make preliminary arrangements for the opening of the football training season.

Ramsey Building Two—J. T. Ramsey, well known local contractor is building two houses, one for John Campbell on the Westfield road in Cleveland Springs Estates and one for Will Arey in Belvedere Park. Because of misinformation, The Star published in its last issue that Costner and Glasco had the contract for Mr. Arey's house, instead Mr. Ramsey has this contract.

Back From Meet—Chief Herman Eskridge and J. R. Robinson, Paul Hawkins and Ray Whisnant, of the Shelby volunteer fire department returned Friday from Morehead City where they attended the state convention of firemen. The Shelby delegates report an unusually enjoyable meeting and tournament and in the races and other convention proceedings picked up much information of value to them in fire fighting here.

New Cautions—In order that accidents might be avoided, new traffic signals have been placed at a number of street intersections where the traffic is heavy. The signs show a red light and signal the driver as he emerges from a side street or alley into a thoroughfare to either stop or go slow in order to avoid the main street traffic, which has the right of way. They are not "stop" and "go" signals like those around the square but simply warnings at dangerous places.

Investigate Cost—Senator Sam Lattimore has returned from Raleigh where he spent two days attending an important meeting of a special commission recently appointed by Governor McLean to study the school system of the state. The commission has no authority to act but it is empowered to make a survey of the schools, determine their cost of operation and determine whether the people want and are able to pay for an eight months school term. Their findings will be reported to the next General Assembly.

His Car Wrecked—Andrew Levantis, manager of Mack's cafe, had his Cadillac car badly damaged in a collision Monday night with a Ford touring car driven by a negro who is reported to live on J. D. Wilson's farm in the Buffalo section. The Ford was completely demolished, it was stated, but no one was seriously injured. The collision occurred at the crest of a hill on the road to Shelby, about two miles north of Broad river. The Levantis' car was brought in for repairs by the Cherokee Garage company. It was said a wagon on the road was responsible for the head-on crash.—Gaffney Ledger.

THEATRES

A visitor to The Webb theatre Thursday night—a traveling man—told Mr. Webb that he saw "Bride of the Storm" which is showing at the Webb today, in Baltimore last week and it was one of the best pictures he ever saw on the screen.

The play features Dolores Costello, a great actress, who has recently risen to fame—played opposite John Barrymore in "The Sea Beast."

This is a melodrama of the sea, revealing the harshness and cruelty of the men who sail before the mast, and a great love passion.

It is a J. Stuart Blackton production.

A side-splitting Mack Sennett comedy accompanies the main bill.

Saturday brings a good western, plus a good comedy and the Fables.

Princess Reader

"The Outsider," a sensational stage success of New York and London, transferred to the screen, is the feature today (Friday) at the Princess. Jacqueline Logan shares the lead with Lou Tellegen.

Scenes of the piece are laid first in London, and later in gypsy camps in Hungary. Jacqueline Logan is the fascinating dancer whose glamour life was suddenly shadowed by disaster and Lou Tellegen is the mysterious Gypsy whose sinister powers prevailed when all else failed.

The Princess announces as coming soon two of the big dramas of the time—"Ben Hur," and "The Big Parade."

These are the most talked-of pictures of the day, and many say the greatest.

There Is Dignity In A Good Bank Connection

A bank account in a good bank—a bank account that is held in proper respect by its owned invariably lends a certain dignity.

We sincerely believe there is not a depositor of the First National Bank provided he enjoys the reputation of never attempting to abuse his account by giving checks that can not be paid when presented—there is not a depositor, in our opinion, who has not just a little more assurance in his business dealings, because of his bank relationship.

He knows he is a depositor, having funds to his credit.

He knows his bank is owned by 120 stockholders, representing several millions of dollars in wealth.

He knows his bank is a member of the Federal Reserve System, which is one of the most important items in the banking world today.

He knows that his bank is his friend.
