Johnson J. Haves
Talks For Hour
To 17 Listeners

Rockingham, Sept. 15.—Johnson Haves Republican candidate for the U. S. senate, spoke for an hour here this afternoon at the court house, with 17 people present when he began.
"A lawyer gets accustomed to talking to 12 men and that is about the number I have here today," began the speaker. But the few present listened attentively to his speech, which was free from rancor or bitterness. He centered his attack chiefly upon the school system and a tribute to and defense of the protective tariff. Incidentally he denounced the world court and league of nation.
