Two Papers Wont Pay At Kings Mtn.

Yorkville Enquirer. We see by the Kings Mountain Herald in its last issue, that certain "prominent people," (quotations ours; have in mind starting another newspaper in Kings Mountain. The news is of interest to The Yorkville Enquirer. Kings Mountain is a town perhaps large enough to support one weekly newspaper. It is not large enough to support two. It has a good one now in the Kings Mountain Herald, which has been edited by G. G. Page for many years past. The newspaper is better and brighter than the patronage accorded it. In other words, support has not been supremely surprising. If some folks want another newspaper this newspaper would suggest they dicker with Brother Page, before buying a new outfit.

If they can't come to terms, we would hint they might drop down to Yorkville—The Yorkville Enquirer is for sale any time at the figure the owners and publishers know, or think they know, it is worth.

Two newspapers can't be published in Kings Mountain at a profit. And that's that.

To Pave Rutherford Road To Columbus

From The Sun: When bids for regrading and rebuilding route nineteen, the road from Rutherfordton to Columbus and Tryon, were open at Raleigh by the State highway commission it was found that Messrs. Geer and Wilson, contractors of Rutherfordton, had submitted the lowest bid for the Rutherford county part of the work and next to the lowest bid for the Polk county end. If the State highway commission, as it is thought possible, decides not to use as much sand on the Columbus end of the route, then Messrs. Geer and Wilson will likely receive the contracts for the entire work of regrading and surfacing with sand and clay the road which will shorten the distance between the county seats by six miles.

Motoring Mother Goose Mary had a little car, Built very long and low, And everywhere that Mary went The car would try to go.

A railroad crossing she espied— (Her faults, oh, please excuse 'em She tried to beat the train and now She rests in Abr-am's boozes.

Ruth To Have New Railroad Siding

From The Sun.

Ruth, Dec. 22.—Engineers of the Southern railway company are expected here this morning to survey the new siding to be built for the Zeigler Construction company. It is to be directly south of the freight station and on the right hand side of the tracks.

The siding is to be about eight hundred feet in length. It is expected work will begin soon after the New Year and be completed as rapidly as possible.

The Zeigler company was awarded some time ago the contract for concreting Route 20 from Rutherfordton to Broad river and the new siding is for the purpose of enabling this company to accommodate the cars of rock and other materials to be used in the construction of the paving.

New Law Maker Takes A New Wife

Rutherford Sun.

At ten o'clock on Tuesday morning Miss Rose B. Gaffney was married to Mr. Tom J. Moss in the parsonage of the First Baptist church of Rutherfordton by Rev. M. A. Adams. The bride and groom were unattended and only the necessary witnesses were present. Mr. and Mrs. Moss left immediately after the ceremony for their honeymoon.

Mr. Tom J. Moss is one of the best known attorneys in Forest City and in the county. In the November elections he was re-elected to serve as representative of this district in the legislature.

Church Treasurer's Short

Richmond, Va.—A shortage estimated at $92,000 has been discovered in the treasurer's books of the foreign mission board of the Southern Baptist convention, and George N. Sanders of Richmond, treasurer, confessed his responsibility for the shortage.

FLIRTING WITH PRETTY GIRL NO EXCUSE FOR SEPARATION

New York.—The plea of Mrs. Helene Tateiman for a decree of separation was denied when Supreme Court Justice John Ford ruled that "a man who doesn't like to look at pretty women had something abnormal about him."

Mrs. Tateiman, who married Harry Tateiman, cotton goods salesman in December, 1923, said that on her honeymoon trip to Montreal her husband had "flirted with a pretty girl on the train."

"I don't know that there is anything wrong about smiling at a pretty girl," the justice said. "I'm smiling at you now and right in the presence of your husband."

The World's Foster Mother There is no more efficient producer of human food than the cow. For each 100 pounds of digestible feed consumed, she gives back in her milk six times as much edible solids as the steer or sheep yields in its carcass. As the breed has improved throughout the years, so has the feed, and today Miami Dairy stands among the most productive of 16% protein dairy feeds. All of the ingredients necessary for the cow's body maintenance, for sturdy calves and heavy milk yield are found in Miami Dairy. Whether you have one cow or one hundred, Miami Dairy will produce results. We recommend it. See us for a supply today. HUNT & HEWITT, LATTIMORE, N. C. Miami Dairy CLEVELAND STAR EVERY-OTHER-DAY
