

GLORIA SWANSON

In Her Supreme Screen Achievement

As a modern maid craving romance
As a society doll wedded to wealth
As a prima donna gaming with fame
As a school teacher duty before beauty
Love swayed her being

Here's storm and sunshine love, love at its peak and love at its depth.

Dramatic love, romantic love, real love and tinsel love enacted against settings of sumptuous splendor to thrill, amaze and satisfy the most discriminating.

Here is the screen's most attractive beauty at her best.

The LOVE of SUNYA

TUESDAY!

Mr. Webb invited me to see this picture run off Friday morning, just after the film had arrived at the theatre.

Heretofore I have never been carried away by Gloria Swanson. Other players have appealed to me more, notwithstanding that Miss Swanson has the reputation of being the country's most successful performer.

But this picture made it appear clear to me why this woman has built up such a stupendous reputation. The play is literally enthralling. In the first place, the sheer artistry of it has perhaps never been surpassed. The purely physical aspect of the film is really beautiful. And the story is unusual. It builds up the reincarnation idea.

Lots of people in our time believe in what is called reincarnation; that is, souls living again and again on this planet, or on this plane, and such belief makes one life the background for another life, and so on up the scale.

It is a new theme on the screen, and the result is very engrossing, and very fascinating. Which is a way of saying that the play, while not "deep," at the same time is sufficiently serious and true to make it from this purely moral point of view very different.

Gloria Cowns well, as they say out in Belvedere Heights. She can wear clothes. And she has the pep and vitality, to carry the action over with a ring.

It is, all told, a very fine film; an unusually fine one. And you will miss a treat if you fail to see it.

One-arm Pitcher—The Shelby colored baseball team will play the Lincoln team at the city park here Tuesday afternoon. The advertised feature of the game is a one-armed pitcher scheduled to do the hurling for the Shelby team. Bob Rogers, catcher of parts, says the one-arm fellow is a wonder on the mound as well as a curiosity.

Remodelling—Prof. J. Y. Irvin of Kings Mountain is adding two rooms and brick veneering his residence on Highway 208 just east of Shelby on the Lincoln road. He will move his family back to this home shortly after the work is finished. Mr. Irvin will teach mathematics in the Shelby High school beginning with the fall term.

Headlight Clinic—A headlight adjustment clinic will be held at the Eskridge garage Wednesday, May 11th by the state highway commission and the Carolina Motor Club. All car owners will have to have a headlight certificate after July 1st, so all garage owners, service station men and electric station operators, should attend this clinic so they may understand the law and requirements to become a responsible one, able to issue certificates to car owners.

Demonstration—The Shelby Hardware company put on a very successful demonstration of 'Duco' at the store Saturday, with Mr. W. C. Trainer, of Philadelphia, in charge of the work. Many women of Shelby and the county took advantage of the opportunity to learn what can be accomplished with this marvel product of the Duponts. Trainer showed the visitors how to make old furniture look like a million dollars, with the new treatment revealing the beauty and durability of the new product.

Help Children—Every student in the high school will be on their toes to see their team perform in the crucial game at Gastonia tomorrow afternoon. And they are entitled to see the game. It is their team. But all of them have not conveyances to go. It might be a good idea to charter a bus to carry those who would be willing to pay a reasonable transportation fee. At any rate this is a plea for all those who have cars, and who are going to the game, to remember the children. Take all you can. You will win the kids' undying gratitude.
