Man's Ape Ancestry Is Proved, Thinks Sir Arthur Keith
 (By International News Service.)
 London.—"The evidence that man is evolved from a common ancestor with the anthropoid ape is now complete," says Professor Sir Arthur Keith, conservator of the Royal College of Surgeons and one of the world's greatest anthropologists.

In this phrase he sums up the present position of science in regard to Darwin's theory of man's descent.

Sir Arthur Keith will give, this summer, at Leeds his Presidential address to the British association on "Darwin's Theory of Man's Descent" as it stands today.

"My conclusion," he says, "will be wholly in support of Darwin, and I shall go into greater detail. We are writing the history of man in a new way; Darwin book was the beginning.

"We cannot yet say why the human stock has budded into the intelligent being that is man today, or why the poor anthropoid ape should have remained so low down the scale. Neither do we know anything about the beginning of life or its end.

"Scientists all over the world are working at this great task of compiling man's history. Professor Nuttall has shown us that the chimpanzee's blood and that of other anthropoid apes gives exactly the same reaction as human blood. This happens with the blood of no other animal. We know, too, that certain human diseases will also attack the anthropoid. Or work for the most part in terms of thousands of years.

BLIND GIRL GRADUATES FROM SCHOOL OF MUSIC WITH HIGHEST HONORS
 (By International News Service.)
 Waynesburg, Pa.—Although handicapped by blindness since childhood, Miss Georgia May King, daughter of the proprietor of a general store in Green county, will be graduated with honors this summer from the Waynesburg college of music.

WEBB THEATRE

TOO SATISFIED

We are all different in the way we do things. Some people jump out of bed the second they open their eyes; others get up ten minutes after the alarm has gone off; others have to be called three or four times and then aren't wide-awake until after breakfast.

But just the same every one has to get up.

If he stays in bed, he misses the fun in life and soon becomes an actual invalid. That is Nature's punishment for being "too satisfied with the present pleasure."

Banking money is pretty much the same way. Some people do it easily; some have to force themselves. But we all have to put money aside or we end up as "charity patients."

We invite you to bank your money in this bank.
