White Man's Food Tried On Eskimos

(By International News Service.) New York.—Dr. Leuman M. Waugh, professor of Orthodontia at Columbia school for dental and oral surgery, is sailing soon for the region of Northern Labrador and Ungava Bay on a mission to determine just what white man's food has done to the teeth of the Eskimo tribes.

Dr. Waugh is confident he will be able to disprove the theory advanced by 1890 by Howard Mumery, of Birmingham, England, that the teeth of Eskimos are stronger than those of any other primitive peoples. For the purpose of collecting data Dr. Waugh will penetrate into the almost unknown territory above Makevin.

He is sailing on the Nau, a 34-foot sea skiff, with a crew of two sailors and his young son Donald, now a student in a preparatory school. Dr. Waugh has made other trips to the Arctic.

"These people once had the largest jaws and strongest teeth in the world," he said. "But their teeth have gone to pieces since they have eaten white man's food. The meats and fats which were the exclusive diet of the primitive Eskimos have been replaced in many cases by the carbohydrate foods of civilization."

BOYS TAKES GUN, KILLS STEPFATHER

T. A. Marshall Accused Of Beating His Wife, Causing 16-Year-Old Son To Kill.

Lenoir, June 22.—Refusing to stand idly by while his stepfather berated and beat his mother, Leonard Carver, 16, shot and killed T. A. Marshall, 50, at their home near here, today, according to other members of the family.

Officers arrested the boy this afternoon, holding him in jail on a murder charge.

The trouble arose between father and stepson at the noon meal hour. It appears that there were four of the Carver children present. The stepfather corrected one of the Carver girls for some purpose, and this was resented by the child's mother.

Words followed, and according to the story told by the children, Marshall was beating Mrs. Marshall their mother. Leonard Carver ran to get a rifle from an older brother took it away from him and broke the rifle in two. Thinking he had put it out of commission, he threw it down and was trying to separate his mother and father. Again Leonard picked up the rifle and noticed that when his brother broke the stock from the barrel it did not affect the lock or firing mechanism, and he fired one .22 caliber bullet which struck his stepfather under the right arm.

Upon being shot, it is claimed that Marshall started to get a shotgun, but the older stepson succeeded in getting it first and fired both barrels into the air before his stepfather could reach it.

In his last efforts to reach the gun the man fell from the wounds inflicted by the rifle bullet.

(Mr. Marshall, deceased, bought the farm on which he lived at the time of the shooting from Mr. J. H. Hull, of Shelby. The farm contained over 300 acres and involved about $16,000.)

Paris.—Elaborate bathing suits will be seen at Deauville and other fashionable resorts this summer.

Even in the water women can plan to be elegant and keep in the mode, for the simple one-piece jersey outfit has been discarded by the important couturiers.

A stunning white bathing suit trimmed with white shells embroidered in silver, is one of the most popular models from Jean Patou. A white bathing bonnet goes with it, and boasts the same embroidery.

Stockinette is the newest material for the abbreviated beach outfit. Silk jersey and light weight taffetas are also used. Black stockinette suits are extremely chic. A great deal of green, orange, yellow, sun-burn color and flesh was displayed at a recent showing.

The two-piece bathing suit is in the lead this season. Necks are v-shaped, sleeves are eliminated, waists close-fitting and skirts follow the circular movement. Trousers are attached to the waist underneath, and only a tiny bit of them can be seen peeking from the skirt.

Trimming is used in profusion. All sorts of fancy braids bind the necks and hems. Long streamers fall from the collar. Rubber fringe, water-proof flowers and wooden bead decorations go towards making 1927 models successful.

Peignors, as the French call beach wraps, accompany each bathing suit. They are gray, nonchalantly worn and under no circumstances should she fit. Bright cretonnes with novel designs, shantung in odd colors and toweling are exceedingly smart.

The nicest bathing caps tie under the chin and come in the same color as the suit. Bathing handkerchiefs, rubberized, can be safely tied around the head and are most chic. Turbans are worn, made in waterproof taffeta, with the more dressy bathing suit.

and Meredith and Mrs. Nellie Ross Governor of Wyoming. In addition to the pictures printed it lists Phelan, Sweet, Thompson, Ayers, McLean, Harrison, Baker, Owen, and Hall. There are still others, not counting Byrd who might make a successful flight, and a half a dozen other Governors and Senators suggested, including a possible dark horse. It would be easier to make a selection if the number of availables was not so large. The Republican find selection less difficult because they have fewer from which to choose.

TALK TO MARS BY BEAM SIGNS IS RADIO PLAN

(By Robert S. Thornburgh, INS Staff Correspondent.)

Washington.—Proceeding on the theory that geometrical truths are known to any one intelligent enough to receive a radio or light message, and that inter-planetary communication is not beyond the range of possibility, Dr. Alfred N. Goldsmith, chief broadcast engineer of the Radio Corporation of America, is planning a series of attempted communications with Mars.

Once the apparatus is set up—either a huge bank of searchlights for a light message, or a beam transmitter of thousands of kilowatts power for a radio signal, Dr. Goldsmith's program will be this:

First will be transmitted a sequence of telegraphic dots—followed by another sequence of dots. This is calculated to attract the attention of the inhabitants of Mars. The signals sent from the terrestrial station should be such that if received on another planet the idea of regular control would be conveyed.

"This should be carried on for a long time," Dr. Goldsmith said, "ever waiting with receiving apparatus for the answering signal. My first message would be based on the assumption that geometrical truths are universal and known to anyone intelligent enough to get a light or radio message. The right angle is the most simple of the geometrical truths."

"There I would seek to indicate the right angle triangle in my message—possibly by using three dots, a space, four dots, space, five dots, then nine, sixteen and twenty-five dots followed by two sequences of twenty-five dots each, indicating twenty-five as the sum of nine and sixteen."

"If anything similar came back to my ear-phones, or if anything at all came back, the fact that life exists on the planet, that those beings had communication equipment and intelligence would be established."

Monroe Paper For Seaboard Bus Plan

Monroe Journal.

The Seaboard Air Line proposes to run a bus connection from its trains at Rutherfordton to Chimney Rock. But private bus owners, and perhaps others, are making objection, and the matter is to be heard by the Corporation Commission on Friday of this week.

Chimney Rock is the Seaboard's legitimate territory and it has all there years done what it could to advertise it. It was not able to build a track to it but always that has been the ultimate idea. Now roads and motor vehicles often make it unnecessary for a railroad to make heavy investments at terminals or for short extensions which are desirable but not sufficient to offer large returns. All over the country this is being done. Also with the street car lines in the cities. We are unable to think of any good reason why the Seaboard should not be given permission at once to go ahead, nay even encouraged to do so.

STOPPED HIS "DON'T CARE" FEELING

Charley Fisher Says Munyon's Paw Paw Tonic Whetted His Appetite and Gave Him Strength.

"I was having much difficulty with my stomach and whenever I would get up I would feel drowsy and really did not care for anything." So writes Charley Fisher, of Bunker Hill, Ill.

"I began taking Munyon's Paw Paw Tonic, and after the first dose I felt much better, and after about half the bottle was taken it seemed as if I could not get enough to eat, my appetite had improved to such an extent. I felt much stronger. I have altogether taken three bottles and my condition has been wonderfully improved."

"Our local druggist carries the tonic in stock, and I am able to procure it from him. I have been telling my friends about it and some of them are also taking the Tonic and find it as I told them. There is no better tonic for the blood, and the iron in it makes one strong."

If YOU are run-down or suffer from indigestion, heartburn, sleeplessness, stomach, liver, kidney or blood trouble, you owe it to yourself to try Munyon's Paw Paw Tonic. It has put thousands back on their feet and has given them the happiness of health a new strength again. There's danger in further delay! ### WORKING WOMEN IN STATE O. K.

News and Observer.

A survey of women in industry in North Carolina made under the direction of E. F. Carter, executive officer of the State child welfare commission during the biennium just closing, shows that employers of 79,931 women workers generally are abiding by State laws covering working hours and that industrial environment surrounding women workers generally is good.

Under way even before the turmoil of last summer blasted a breach between three State women's organizations and the administration at Raleigh had load the subject with so much T. N. T. that it was not even whispered on the floors of the last general assembly, the survey was made quietly by the child welfare commission.

Outstanding in the findings of the investigators was that the majority of women workers are employed between 55 and 60 hours a week; that night work is not frequent but workers are employed less than 60 hours a week, and that not a single violation of State labor laws was found in a tobacco manufacturing plant.

It was shown that hour violations were much more frequent in small establishments than in large ones, and that in many cases violations were caused by piece-workers own jealousies in working during lunch periods to increase their production.

Unknown to the public, the pile of statistics on the subject has accumulated during the last year until now they are complete for the closing biennium.

Mr. Carter, who was the storm center of the row last summer over who should conduct the survey, declined to comment on the statistics, which now constitute a public record.

He said, however, that the survey was made in the course of regular inspectional duties of the commission as outlined by statutes governing the child labor commission.

WOMEN PROFS. NAMED ON N. C. UNIVERSITY FACULTY

(By International News Service.) Raleigh.—Women have passed another milestone in North Carolina on the road to recognition.

For the first time since the University of North Carolina was founded 133 years ago, women are going to be members of the faculty.

Shattering of the precedent comes in the wake of the action of the board of trustees of the institution in approving the recommendation of the executive committee that women be admitted to the faculty of the school of education in order to facilitate the service of the school of education in advanced and graduate instruction for elementary school teachers supervisors."

Miss Sallie B. Marks, now supervisor of grades in the public schools of La Crosse, Wis., and Cecelia H. Bason, at present head of the department of primary methods in the East Tennessee State teachers college, are the first two women instructors. Each will have the rank of assistant professor.
