TO TRY TEACHER FOR AN ATTACK

Troy—Large crowds thronged the court house here Monday for the opening session of criminal court to attend the trial of T. B. Mauney, principal of the Candor high school for the past three years who is charged with criminal assault upon Mrs. F. F. Sanders. The grand jury has not acted on the case.

Mrs. Sanders, formerly Miss Myrtle Poole, member of the senior high school class, was married February 13. The story as told by her husband is that they called on the principal the next day to ascertain whether she could continue her studies and were told to return the following day for a decision.

Upon returning, Mrs. Sanders says she was told to remain in Mauney's office while he went ostensibly to confer with other teachers. He returned to the office and locked the door, her story continues, at which time she alleges the assault was made. She took her examinations and graduated making no mention of an attack until a month ago.

Mr. Mauney whose home is in New London, has been under ten thousand dollar bond since his arrest four weeks ago. A brilliant array of attorneys has been employed by both plaintiffs and defense and a bitterly contested fight expected.

COTTON MARKETS

(By Jno. F. Clark and Co.)

Cotton was quoted at 11 o'clock today on New York exchange:

July 17.50; October 17.82; December 118.94.

New York, July 13.—Eight p. m. Southern weather rain at Atlanta, map mostly cloudy, rainfall, Macon .68; Montgomery .02; Abilene 1.20; Oklahoma City .01 Forecast is for thundershowers today or tomorrow in parts of all cotton states.

Memphis Cotton review in Journal of Commerce says cotton crop is now ahead of last year, most favorable weather of any week to date aided plant growth. Message late yesterday from Orangeburg, S. C., told of a farmer who offered his 45 acres of cotton to anyone who would give him five bales for it, rain and weevil took the crop.

Fair business in Worth street prices firmer. Forecast for showers over belt may offset lower cables and expectation favorable weekly weather report as the market is extremely sensitive to fears of weevil damage.

People often say they can not understand the usual published bank statement, so we have made the above explanation of each item, so that any one can read and understand the statement. We are naturally pleased with the showing made in this statement, under the adverse local conditions, and while not quite as large as some statements we have issued, it reflects safe, sound, conservative management, with the loan account considerably reduced. We thank every one who has helped to make possible this excellent showing of your bank.
