

STAR TELLS NEWS BY PHOTOS IN THIS COLUM

The above illustration was exclusively prepared for the Star by the artist who represents the well known editor taking his daily run along the beach at Morehead. Puzzle: What are the wild waves saying, and what made them wild?

Some newspapers get the first picture of all big news events. Today the Star and its photographer goes to those newspapers one better. It presents below a picture of what might happen if some fond hubby comes home unexpectedly and finds that his spouse has a caller.

Such was the rush to get this photo to Star readers first that it isn't possible to identify those in the picture, reading left to right. Those trifling details may come later when the story develops.

This, by the way, is a photo of that auto Charlie Eskridge drove about Shelby in bygone days when the buggy boys wanted to bar him from the highways and streets.

And, lest it be overlooked, Mister Charlie is still selling cars that in some ways resemble the above. Of course, there's a new model coming out.

Most everybody in Shelby attends Sunday school, but some few do not. Yesterday two or three were missing at Clyde Hoey's Bible class, whereupon the teacher sent the Star photographer out a rambler and the exclusive photo below shows why some few of them did not get there in time to have their names checked by Oliver Anthony's roll call.

A suggestion the cub reporter would make is that one of Curtis Weather's alarm clocks was left out of the picture. Yet he might have been at Sunday school then.

According to Mrs. Riley's social notes several of Shelby's Four Hundred are away at the seashore and in the mountains. Having noted such the Star camera man snapped the following glimpse of a prominent Shelby business man on the street taking in the scenery without a chaperone.

In the old days he would have been looking down. The skirt line has moved up. Nuff ced. The next social notes may record several ladies returning home.

The lawyers of the town and county are scheduled for a big banquet at Cleveland Springs tomorrow night. Despite the fact that Judge Schenck and Associate Justice Heriot Clarkson will be present several better halves have their doubts as to the refreshments that will be served.

This is a telling of a prominent barrister in the limit. Poor fellows they will have to sample the evidence in court hereafter. For the fresh news, and it is fresh several ways, watch the Star's tabloid column. It will be back the next time the Prince of Wales gets a divorce and the gamblers bet on Sharkey. 'Slong, old thing.

FALLSTON ITEMS OF LATE EVENTS

(Special to The Star.) Master George Stamey, son of Claude Stamey, fell off his pony one day last week cutting a bad rash on his leg, he was rushed to the Shelby hospital where 18 stitches were taken in the wound. He is now at home getting along fine.

BOILING SPRINGS NEWS OF INTEREST

(Special to The Star.) Mrs. O. E. Lee and Mrs. D. W. Moore gave one of the loveliest parties of the season at the home of Mrs. Moore on Tuesday evening at eight o'clock, entertaining members of Philonian book club and several other guests.

The lovely home lent itself well to the beautiful flowers which were bountifully used throughout the home. Eight tables were placed for home. Each table was graced with a bud vase containing beautiful red rose buds. The place cards and score cards were most attractive.

They carried still further the idea of summer by their dainty flower designs. The guests were met at the door by Meslames Moore and Lee and invited into the lovely flower laden rooms.

The ever popular game of rook was enjoyed until a late hour. The score were then taken. Mrs. John Mintz and Dr. B. M. Jarret were the winners of the high score prize. Mrs. Mintz received a beautiful electric table lamp and Dr. Jarret received an attractive ash tray. Mr. O. E. Lee received the low score prize - which was a miniature boat with a bottle of Scotch rye attached.

The guests other than the club members and their husbands were: Misses Ollie and Kate Moore, Elizabeth Hamrick, Thelma Jolley, Mary Lilia Hamrick, Mr. and Mrs. Halesy Moore and their guest, Mrs. Port.

FELT VERY POORLY Weak and Run-Down Missour Woman Got Strong and Well. Says Cardui Started Her On Road To Health.

Clarkeburg, Mo.—Mrs. T. G. Harris of this place, says: "For two years I was in very poor health. Some of the time I was almost past going. I was very weak and run-down. "I tried to make the most of what little strength I had by taking frequent rests, but I could find nothing which would start me on the road to health again, until one day I decided to try Cardui. "I had heard about other women who had been benefited after taking it, so I made up my mind to see what it would do for me. I took Cardui for several months and was very much gratified with the results. I began to do my own work again which I had not been able to do for a long time past. My color, which had been pale and sallow, became natural, and my complexion cleared up. I gained in weight and was pleased to have an improved appetite. "When I finished my last bottle of Cardui I was feeling better than had in years. Now I am strong and well."

ter, of Raleigh, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Moore and Dr. D. F. Moore of Shelby, Rev. J. L. Jenkins, Mrs. James H. McBrayer, Miss Mittie Parker, Messrs. Vick Moore, Cecil Goode, and Roland Hamrick. At the conclusion of the games the hostesses assisted by Misses Elizabeth Hamrick, Mary Lelia Hamrick and Thelma Jolley served most delicious refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Putnam were the spend-the-day guests of Miss Emma Gold, of Union, Sunday. Miss Sarah Lee Hamrick accompanied Mr. Rush Hamrick of Shelby, to Charleston, S. C. Tuesday. They will visit relatives there for a few days.

Miss Corinne Putnam, of Gastonia, spent a few days of last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Putnam. Mrs. W. M. Porter, of Raleigh, is spending a few days here as the guest of Mrs. Haly Moore.

Little Miss Gwendolyn Biggerstaff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Yates Biggerstaff, of Shelby, is visiting her grandparents here.

The Tongues and Needles club met at the home of Mrs. H. B. Greene Friday evening at eight o'clock. The meeting was called to order by the president and the business matters were discussed, after which the meeting was turned over to the hostesses. Most interesting games were played and stunts were played on many of the guests which afforded the others much merriment. After a most delightful evening of games the hostesses served tempting refreshments.

Miss Mary Artie Putnam and Mr. Woford Hamrick, of Gastonia, were visitors here Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wright and daughter, Lucille, of Ellenboro, were visitors here Sunday.

Miss Mae Ellen McBrayer, of Shelby who has been visiting her grandmother here has returned home. The Home Economics club met at the home of Mrs. H. G. Moore Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

A most unusually interesting demonstration was given by Mrs. Wallace. She demonstrated with Duce paint and in a few minutes times produced plain candle sticks, glass bowls and baskets into the most beautiful and ornamental pieces. Mrs. Moore gave an account of the meeting in Raleigh which she attended as chaperone for the girls from the different clubs of the county. After the demonstration and discussions the hostess served delicious lemonade and candy.

Master David Wright, of Ellenboro, is visiting here this week. Miss Elinor Hicks, of Chesnee, is spending a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dean White.

Miss Lucille Hamrick returned home Friday from Chapel Hill where she has been attending summer school. Miss Johnnie Maie McBrayer spent the past week-end with Miss Helen Blanton, of Mooresboro.

Too Many 'Bums' In Colleges Of Nation

Boys And Girls Going Just For College Life Will Give Way To Workers.

Chicago.—The boy and girl who go to college just for the "college life" without regard for attaining the aims of higher education will have to give way to earnest youths who honestly seek to fit themselves for serious work, university officials have agreed.

Of the 850,000 boys and girls who now attend colleges and universities, many go to the institutions for a few years of play before bucking down to work, and study just enough to "get by," Art Morgan, president of Antioch college, Yellow Springs, O., believes. He explained his views on college entrance to the institute for administrative officers of institutions of higher learning, which is in session here.

"The standard of admission must be raised—not to keep out any worthy boy or girl—but to discover those of earnest mind, who want to come to college for serious work to prepare themselves for an intelligent after-life, not to have a few years play with fun, enough study to allow them barely to remain in school," Dr. Morgan said.

There must be better preparation in the high schools, and a better objective—not mere professional training, Prof. Frank Lerond McVey, president of the University of Kentucky, said. "The student who comes to college should be given such a background that his years in college will fit him for the widest usefulness," Prof. McVey said. "With 850,000 boys and girls in our colleges now, we must limit the registration to give us the best of the students, and the chaff must be winnowed out—else the entire system of higher education in the United States will break down," he explained.

The United States has more than double the number of students in college than England, France and Germany combined, he added. England has 65,000; France, 53,000, and Germany, 123,000. In America more college trained men go into industry yearly than are registered in the universities of England and France.

BLAMES PARENTS FOR CHILD FAULTS

If a Boy Steals, Father And Mother Are At Fault, Declares Speaker.

Chapel Hill.—"If a boy steals and has a father and mother, it is their fault," said Dr. George Preston, director of the Children's Clinic, of the Public Welfare Institute here on "Child Psychology." "We are born liars and acquire a sense of truth later, and it is first of all up to the parents to train their children."

The program was devoted entirely to child psychology, with Dr. Preston in charge, and round table discussions on behavior problems were entered into enthusiastically by the social workers at the institute. Registrations for the sessions neared the 50 mark. The institute will close tomorrow with addresses by Dr. W. S. Rankin, of the Duke Endowment; Edwin Bridges, Pardon Commissioner, and others, followed by a banquet at the Carolina Inn.

In treating the field of child training, Dr. Preston pointed out the dangers of being inconsistent; giving too many directions and being inconceivable of the child. Turmoil in the family, he said, multiplies these other factors several times.

"If a child is termed disobedient, one should remember first that it involves another person—the one giving the orders," he continued. "If a child is given an order every five minutes, naturally he can't obey them all and if a 9-year-old child is told to do something impossible, as sitting still for half an hour, disobedience is surely followed. It is just as wrong to be inconsistent and tell the child to do one thing and "let him do you do another."

A variety of reasons cause children to steal, or to lie, Dr. Preston pointed out, and the manner of treatment depends on the kind of misbehavior. Contrary to popular belief, he stated that in the majority of cases the actual job is done not by extremely technical procedure, but rather by "intelligent study and work which may be carried on by the parents themselves as well as the social workers."

"Truancy," said Dr. Preston, is often caused by a desire to dodge reality, just as a headache is a socially accepted kind of truancy for many grown-ups, and there is not very much difference in the child's method.

Place Orders For 38,000 Tons Of Rail Purchase of 38,325 tons of new steel rails, enough to lay 255 miles of track, for delivery during the remainder of 1927, is announced by the Southern Railway system. Of the total purchased, 33,350 tons will be of the 100-pound weight, now the standard for the Southern's main lines, and 4,975 tons of the 85-pound weight. All will be rolled at the Ensley plant of the Tennessee company, near Birmingham, Ala., with the exception of 650 tons bought from the Illinois Steel company for use on the St. Louis-Louisville line.

This brings the Southern's purchase of rail for 1927 lying to 35,150 tons, sufficient to lay 542 miles of track. M. Cotieau, a French grocer, awakened from a comfortable sleep to find a bed-fellow—a husky lion that had escaped from a circus.

Statistics covering a five-year period of a dental dispensary in the public schools of one American city show that diphtheria was reduced from 36.6 per cent to 8.7 percent; measles from 20 per cent to 4.1 percent; and scarlet fever from 14.1 per cent to 5 per cent among the school children.
