ANCIENT BONES BROUGHT OUT OF AFRICAN COLONY

Light On Early Humans Discovered In Remains Dug Up In Africa.

(By International News Service)

New York.—Bones, believed to be those of the earliest members of the human race, of persons who inhabited the earth between 20,000 and 25,000 years ago have been brought to this country.

They have arrived as part of the discoveries made by Dr. George L. Collyer, famous anthropologist, Beloit college professor.

From the Kenya Colony in what was formerly British East Africa and Algeria, the bones have been brought here in hopes that they will throw important light on the earliest of humans.

Chief among the collection is a skull, unearthed in a stone age deposit at Mechia-el-arbi, Algeria, which the best authorities agree is approximately 25,000 years old and convincing proof of the long-maintained theory of many scientists that Africa and not Asia, was man's first home.

Found Seven Skulls

The Kenya discovery, Dr. Collyer reports, was made by L. S. Leakey, leading the Cutler Dinosaur expedition at Tanganyika. During six weeks of excavating this expedition unearthed seven skulls at Nakuru in a stone age deposit. A complete human skeleton, that of a man six feet tall, buried six feet under ground, with more than 100 stone tools beside it, also was uncovered.

Further details concerning the discoveries are being withheld at present at the request of Mr. Leakey, pending official reports to be made late this fall. Dr. Collyer, however, stresses the importance of the find because of the apparent inexhaustible supply of these remains and also the fact that traces of dinosaurs were found.

Although Dr. Collyer had not intended to engage further in personally searching the sources of the early man in Africa, he announces that he probably will return to assist the Kenya workers.

"The skull I bring with me, is entirely different from any other of the Aurignacian period. I have never seen," Dr. Collyer said upon his arrival from Africa. "It was found by M. A. Debruge, our French Colleague, of Constantine, Algeria, who gave most grudging permission for the bringing of the skull to this country. It is held as precious."

"After I had gone to Algeria Debruge was on the point of refusing to allow the skull out of his possession and only after the most ardent persuasion was I able to change his mind."

Will Return Skull

The skull must be returned to Algeria in February. Between now and the time for its return, it will be examined by leading anthropologists in the middle west, including Dr. Fay Cooper Cole, of the University of Chicago and Professor R. Reemer, noted paleontologist of the same institution.

It is the most perfect specimen of paleolithic skulls, ever found, according to Dr. Collyer and the absence of Negroid characteristics makes it all the more interesting, he said. Although men of that period seem to have lived mostly on snails, there is ample evidence that the Sahara desert was not then the formidable area that it is now and that Northern Africa abounded in game.

"This skull, Dr. Collyer said, has a tremendous development of the glabella, the section of the skull above the nose, but the eye ranges are low. He had a large face with an overdeveloped jawbone apparently for the insertion of huge muscles. It scarcely seems to be that of a man content on snails, but a hunter of big game in the days when it abounded north of the Sahara."

Let's Go After Prosperity

There is no longer any doubt that a farmer can make money producing cream and selling it to us, provided he OBSERVES THE RULES OF THE GAME.

Moreover, there is no danger now, and will not be any time soon, for a surplus in production because the demand far exceeds the supply.

Begin now--

The successful dairyman grows the greater part of the feed for his cows and in that way, obtains a double profit. Preparations for entering the dairy business SHOULD THEREFORE BEGIN NOW—By sowing Oats, Wheat, Vetch, Clover, Barley and other grains for hay crops.

PLAN NOW FOR NEXT YEAR

Don't let the high price of cotton fool you. It may not be 20c next year—Grow your own feed, STICK TO THE OLD COW, HEN and HOG. THESE BRING IN THE CASH—EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR—RAIN OR SHINE.

WE NEED FOUR TIMES MORE CREAM THAN WE ARE NOW GETTING.

FEED UP YOUR COWS—MILK THEM WELL. Send us your Cream and receive the highest prices.
