 The Following Items Were Gleaned From Issues Of The Cleveland Star Of Five And 10 Years Ago.

FIVE YEARS AGO.
 July 17, 1923.
 One hundred and twenty-five people were fed at the Kiwanis banquet at Boiling Springs Thursday night. It was one of the most enjoyable meetings the club has held and is in line with plans of the Kiwanis to hold meetings during the summer at some point in the county to cultivate a county pride and enlist the co-operation of the general betterment of the county.
 Shelby lost the championship of the first half of the Blue Riders circuit to Marion by one half game, not by errors or poor base running in the last few games. As some think but because of the club's inability to hit in the earlier part of the season, a tabulation of hitting records of the first half show.
 Senator Lee Overman and Mr. and Mrs. Edge N. Snow spent Sunday at the Cleveland Springs hotel. Mrs. Snow is Senator Overman's sister.
 Five cases of typhoid fever have been reported in Cleveland county to the state board of health.
 Miss Elizabeth Dugley left Wednesday for Baltimore, Md., to visit her aunt, Mrs. James Bayard, for several weeks.
 Mrs. Carl Webb and small son, Billie, who have been spending several weeks with Mrs. J. M. Austin at Wadesboro returned home Monday.

TEN YEARS AGO.
 July 16, 1918.
 The many friends of Clyde Hoey, Jr., will regret to learn that he is not doing so well at the Rutherfordton hospital where he has been under treatment for empyema for several months.
 Mrs. Bowen, mother of Mr. Marshall Bowen, was seriously injured Sunday afternoon when an automobile driven by a son of Mr. Monroe Green of Mooresboro ran head on into the buggy in which she was riding with her son-in-law Mr. Lee Owensby.
 Some of the Cleveland county boys in the May draft who are now stationed at Camp Seviere, Greenville, S. C., have their furloughs revoked and it is thought that they will embark soon for overseas.

Chicago Assassins Have A New Notch

Gunmen Of Illinois Carve A New Notch On Their Deadly Gats. Business Agent Killed.
 Chicago.—Another notch was carved in assassins' guns when two men in an automobile shot and killed Joseph Paul, 33, a business agent of the Plumbers union.
 Paul, lounging in motor car parked in front of his home, was sprayed with slugs from automatic pistols. He was struck four times in the head, while five slugs entered his body.
 Frank Paul, a brother of the gun victim and a witness of the shooting, drove the wounded man to a hospital, where he died.
 The brother, who was held for questioning, denied that Paul had any connection with the underworld feuds. Police pursued a theory that a row attributable to a recent union election may have prompted the slaying. Two weeks ago Paul was elected a delegate to the national convention of plumbers to be held in the fall.
 Paul was married and the father of two children. Frank Paul, who was standing nearby when the attack took place, was unable to provide a description of the gunmen, who remained concealed in the dark interior of the death machine.
 The slaying was the first of the automobile-automatic pistol variety executed in Chicago since Big Tim Murphy was shot down in similar fashion in front of his home several weeks ago.
 Despite deprivations by bean beetles, the ordinary farm garden is on the place.

MISS EARHART AN UNUSUAL WOMAN

Aviatrix Is Poet, Student Of Literature And Fairly Wealthy.
 Aviatrix, settlement worker, business woman, poet, student of literature and possessed of enough wealth to make her independent of outside offers—such is one picture drawn of Miss Amelia Earhart, first successful woman trans-Atlantic flyer, by her friends and relatives, says an article in the New York World.
 The other bids, her femininity, her charming manner, perfect poise, her naturally wavy hair, quiet eyes and her sense of humor, presents a no less delightful personality.
 One knowing her would believe, indeed—if one does! and one almost must believe the stories told of her from San Francisco to Boston—that within her slight frame there rises far more talent and genius than in any other feminine figure to be placed before the public in recent years.
 Her whole life story is one of absorbing interest. Born in Atchison, Kan., she was reared in California. Her early schooling was in Los Angeles. Then she attended the Opontz school at Philadelphia, returning to the University of Southern California for sociological study, completing this course later at Harvard and at Columbia.
 She was one of the earliest woman flyers, gaining her training at Los Angeles and San Diego. It was there in 1918 she made her first solo flight after but ten hours of instruction and was her pilot's license in an old Kinner plane with a three-cylinder motor.
 Within two years she had attained such proficiency that she held the altitude record for women. Another year and we find her the first woman to receive a Federation Aeronautique International pilot's license from the National Aeronautics association—this after a series of test flights at Los Angeles on December 15, 1921, the seventeenth international license to ever have been issued.
 Two years ago she went to Boston. Miss Marion Perkins, director

GETTING A LINE

On clean, powerful gas. To get the best your motor is capable of giving it is necessary to use a gas that is pure, clean and of high explosive power. Very often one gallon of good gas will take you much farther than two gallons of inferior quality. Sinclair gas and Opaline oil representing the best there is in gas, oil and service.

CLEVELAND OIL CO.
 DISTRIBUTORS

of Denison House, tells the story in the coming number of Survey Graphic, New York: "A tall, slender, boyish-looking woman walked into my office in the early fall of 1926. She wanted a job and a part time one would do, for she was giving courses in English under the university extension. Most of her classes were in factories in Lynn and other industrial towns near Boston. She had had no real experience in social work, but she wanted to try it, and before I knew it I had engaged her for half-time work at Denison House. She had poise and charm. I liked her quiet sense of humor, the frank, direct look in her gray eyes.
 "It was some time before any of us at Denison House knew that Amelia had flown. After driving with her in the 'Yellow Peril,' her own Kissel roadster. I knew that she was an expert driver, handling her car with ease, with an artistic touch. She has always seemed to me an unusual mixture of the artist and the practical person."

Calcium arsenate is being used successfully by farmers of Hoke county to control horn worms on tobacco. The growers were advised to use this material when it was found that arsenate of lead could not be secured.
