“SHORT PINTS” Sentiment

(BY RENN DRUM.)

A READER PASSES ALONG the information that Shelby's best known bootlegger, euphemistically known as a dispenser of select alcoholic beverages from the South Mountains, is “agin Al Smith.” The reason assigned is that if Smith is elected president he may force bootleggers to sell 14-ounce pints for the two dollars per quart instead of the well-known “short pints” now in circulation.

Which is just another bit of political data to store in our filing warehouse.

HEADING THE DEMOCRATIC party in North Carolina with conditions as they are now must be considered a perilous undertaking. Oduis M. Mill, the new state chairman, since being appointed has been receiving letters from life insurance agencies wishing to increase his insurance.

Mr. Mill, so far as is known, has not increased his insurance, having been through numerous campaigns in years gone by with very little physical anguish except that he has not as much flaming red hair as he once had.

And there are a lot of insurance men who never need to use a comb.

WONDER WHO HON. FRANK Hampton will act as proxy for now?

LOCAL BASEBALL FANS, which is to say those fellows who were rabid fans back in the days when Shelby had a team in the Blue Ridge league, are watching the career of Buck Redfern, former Shelby player, with more interest now than ever before.

Redfern journeyed back to the big leagues this year as one of the players on the roster of the Chicago White Sox. The former Star's college star got quite a bit of notice while in spring training but once the team journeyed back north he was not heard of for sometime as Chalmers Cissell, the high priced Coast player, was hogging the limelight around shortstop. Buck's regular position. A little later, however, the White Sox second-sacker failed to develop properly and Buck was shoved into the line-up at that position. He remained there several days, failed to show any big burst of hitting, and was again benched. More recently Cissell suffered a slight injury and Redfern left the bench for his regular position, secured three hits and fielded in faultless style on the first day. He is still in the line-up and doing no bad job for it.

But the thing that gets the local eye is the color of that once famous White Sox line-up of recent weeks. Years ago Ed Walsh, one of the greatest spit-batters who ever hurled in the national pastime, was the talk of the baseball world. Old Father Time, as he has a habit of doing, came along, however, and removed Walsh from active participation. This spring young Ed Walsh graduated from college right onto the White Sox bench and the baseball world parked up and waited. Would he be another Big Ed? Then the kid lost his first game as old Ed looked on from the bench. Several days later he won his first game—Buck Redfern in the infield behind him at the time, remember. Then last week young Ed got his big chance—the opportunity to pitch against Babe Ruth and the pitcher-slaughtering New York Yankees. For five innings the kid hurled a no-hit game, then he wakened, shot one straight over the plate and the Bambino lofted it out of the park for the game. Over in the Chicago dugout, old Ed spoke huskily: “But the kid worked for it.” He did, and he very near won. Some day he may go for nine frames like he did for those first five and stop Babe and his bunch dead cold.

Anyway, Shelby fans have their eyes on that White Sox line-up. They know Buck Redfern personally, and the entire baseball world knows and loves young Ed Walsh if for nothing else than that he is old Ed Walsh's boy.

THE COLYUM GETS A RIGHT pert, little call-down for the remarks recently about “Hobo” Feeney, the young box-car bum with the blinking eyes.

“Must be trying to imitate Heywood Brown,” the call-down said. “Playing sentimental and gushing over criminals. That's one of the major reasons we have so many hardened criminals—you sentimentalists gush and sob over them and keep them from getting the punishment they deserve.

Aha! Perhaps we are sentimental. I feel a certain degree of pity for a tousie-haired, unfortunate kid with all of life before him is sentimental then we hope we remain that way. But for the interest of our friend we'd like to explain what we think makes for many hardened criminals—and that is the jailing of young boys for minor offenses and confining them with veteran criminals from whom they learn the tricks of beating a living: out of life after they become embittered at the world as youth will do. The best way in the world to give a boy a diploma in criminality is to toss him out on the chain gang with hardened criminals, where in a few months time he becomes an expert in forgery, safe-cracking, bootlegging, and what have you. When the boy leaves the gang the world usually gives him the cold shoulder as if to say, “Un huh, you've been on the gang.”

“Hobo” Feeney and all other boys who get into minor trouble early in life may be tough ones to start with, but do you suppose they are softened any by being given the same punishment as their hardened, soulless brothers in crime?

Here we desist, for we may injure rather than help the cause of erring youths. Once the colyum made a plea for a grinning little black-face, who scarcely knew right from wrong never having had the chance to know as his lone possession was his grin and a pair of tattered overalls. And that appeal did a lot of good. Yes? Only recently the grinning negro youth came home as a sour-faced black boy after a year in prison, and we'd almost stake our weeks wages that that negro youth has yet to celebrate his 16th birthday—that is, if he knew his own age.

Sentimental? Yes, sometimes, when we're not pessimistic. But what does it matter. Yonder rolls a dollar down street! Watch the scramble!

CITY ORDINANCE.

Be it ordained by the governing body of the town of Shelby, North Carolina.

1.—That no cattle of any kind exceeding two in number shall be kept within the old corporate limits of the town of Shelby, or within the corporate limits of the town of Shelby as constituted prior to January 1, 1925, within less than a distance of two hundred feet of any dwelling house or other place of residence. Five days notice in writing shall be given to the owner or keeper of any cattle exceeding two in number for the removal thereof after the ratification of this ordinance for compliance with the condition of this section; and such notice shall be required only for those cases where more than two cattle are kept on any premises, as aforesaid, at the time of the ratification of this ordinance.

2.—That no cattle, hogs or sheep of any kind for the purpose of being used for the market shall be kept within the old corporate limits of the town of Shelby, or within the corporate limits of the town of Shelby as constituted prior to January 1, 1925, within less than a distance of two hundred feet of any dwelling house or other place of residence.

3.—No person, firm or corporation owning, occupying or having the use of any stable, shed, pen, stall or other place in the corporate limits of the town of Shelby where animals of any kind are kept shall permit said premises to become or remain filthy or unwholesome. In the event that such premises become or remain filthy or unwholesome, written notice of such condition shall be given to the owner or occupant thereof; and if said premises remain in a filthy or unwholesome condition more than thirty days after the service of written notice as above provided, such stable, shed, pen, stall or place shall be placed in a sanitary condition by the city health authorities, and the actual and reasonable costs of such sanitary measures shall be paid by the person, firm or corporation owning or controlling same.

4.—Any person, firm or corporation violating any of the provisions of any of the sections above set forth shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor; and upon conviction shall be fined fifty dollars ($50) or imprisoned for thirty days.

5.—That all ordinances and parts of ordinances in conflict with the provisions of the above are hereby repealed.

6.—This ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its ratification.

Ratified by the Mayor and Board of Aldermen on the 17th day of July, 1928.

BISHOP CANDLER'S ADVICE

(Stanly News-Herald)

“Dodge politics,” is the advice which Bishop Candler dishes out to his brethren of the Methodist ministry. He quotes the pastoral advice given out in 1865 by the Southern Bishops and we get this: “Know your high calling. Preach Christ and Him crucified. Do not preach politics. You have no commission to preach politics. The divinity of the church is never more strikingly displayed than when it holds on its ever-straightforward way in the midst of worldly commotion.”

If all the ministers of this country would follow up that advice there would be no temptation nor necessity for them to preach politics. We somehow can't hardly agree with the minister who insists on using his pulpit for preaching politics. Ministers are citizens and as such they have a right to and should vote and take part in politics as other good citizens do, but have they the right to preach politics from their pulpits? Would their preaching not be more effective were they to follow Paul's example and preach “Christ and Him Crucified?”

Bootlegger Thinks Fliers Are Raiders

Anderson—Two narrow escapes from serious harm was the lot of two Anderson airmen and another companion when their Waco 10 plane, in which they were making a flight from Cincinnati to Anderson, was forced down near Leans Creek, Tenn.

Not only did the three men narrowly escape serious injuries in having to land with a “dead” motor, due to a broken connecting rod, but they ran another narrow escape by landing in the back yard of a bootlegger, who was unusually hospitable, thinking that the men were flying revenue officers.

This story is told here by Pilot D. C. Martin, who was at the controls of the plane of Tommy Drake of this city. J. L. Jackson of the Anderson Airways was the third occupant of the plane.

Mr. Drake and his pilot had been to Cincinnati, where they purchased another plane.

When the connecting rod of the plane broke, part of it was left on the crankshaft and this portion, hurled around with terrific speed, cut its way through the crankcase and block and literally cut the motor in two, making it necessary to land with a “dead stick.”
