

Bostic Mail Carrier Gets Carnegie Metal As Hero

Four Tar Heels And One South Carolinian Decorated For Attempts Save Human Life.

Pittsburg, Pa.—Four North Carolinians and one South Carolinian, visiting in North Carolina at the time, have been cited by the Carnegie Hero Fund commission for bravery and for the award of bronze medals.

The South Carolinian, David Hill Henry, 48, director of student affairs at Clemson college, saved Miss N. Margaret Craig, 18, from drowning at Rosman, N. C., on July 5, 1926. While swimming in Rocky Bottom lake Miss Craig became exhausted, and her father, a good swimmer, became disabled while trying to help her. Henry, who was a poor swimmer, swam 80 feet to Miss Craig. After a brief struggle he swam with her to wadable water. Miss Craig was dazed but recovered. Her father was drowned.

Drowned.
Ray D. Elliott, 20, a student, died attempting to save Charles J. Pool, 18, school boy, from drowning at Marion, N. C., July 1, 1926. While wading in the Catawba river, Pool got into deep water 15 feet from the bank. From the opposite bank Elliott swam to Pool, reaching him just as a youth had left him to avoid being grasped by the drowning boy. Pool grasped Elliott around the neck with both arms and they were momentarily submerged. As they struggled Pool climbed over Elliott's shoulders, but Elliott pushed Pool to wadable water. Another swimmer arrived and took Pool to safety. Elliott sank in the deep water and was drowned. The medal is to be awarded to the father of the deceased boy, Augustus L. Elliott.

Helen Carier Talmon, 11, 200 Aberdeen Terrace, Greensboro, N. C., saved Minnie L. Lyon, 4, from being killed by an automobile in Greensboro on June 12, 1925. While crossing the street Minnie walked into the path of the car, Helen ran to Minnie, seized her arms and dragged her clear of the automobile; but Helen fell and one of the wheels of the machine passed over her ankle and fractured it. She was disabled for several weeks.

Y. Francis Beaty, 67, rural route No. 2, Bostic, N. C., attempted to save John P. Campbell, who was working at the bottom of a well, became overcome by gas. Numerous men refused to enter the well to aid him. In the face of protests from his wife and others, Beaty, who knew the conditions, had himself lowered to Campbell's side and tied the overcome man to the rope. Beaty was overcome himself while being drawn out of the well, but was revived. Campbell died.

Everett G. Nichols, 39, of Murphy, N. C., a locomotive hostler, saved Jeff Hickey, 46, at the bottom of a well where he was overcome by gas. Nichols descended and tied a rope around Hickey, who was drawn out. He was very weak and felt the effects of the gas for several days. Hickey was revived.

Fisher Bros. Give $100,000 To The Republican Party

New York.—Jermiah Milbank, eastern treasurer of the Republican campaign committee today announced receipt of a $100,000 campaign gift from the Fisher manufacturers. The gift, one of the largest of the campaign, Mr. Milbank said, was made by Fred Charles, William, Lawrence, Edward and Alfred Fisher, who requested that the contribution be credited to the Michigan quota.

97-Year-Old Is To Vote For Al Smith

Mrs. Cynthia Young 97 years of age, of Lincoln county, perhaps the oldest or one of the oldest Democrats in this county, intends to vote the Democratic ticket Nov. 6, all the way from Al Smith down to the township officers.

Mrs. Young, who is nearing the century mark, is still able to get about by the aid of a crutch. She has seen many presidents come and go, has lived through the Civil War, Spanish-American War, World War, and is now living through the battling campaign of 1923.

Had women been voting before the Civil War she could have voted in the days before the Civil War. She had lived to see this nation emerge from an undeveloped forest into a civilization that starts the world; has seen the log cabin school replaced by modern schools, seen the stage coach and the trail road go, and the auto and paved highways take their place. The radio, the airplane, the telephone, the daily newspaper, trips by plane the oceans were unthought of when Mrs. Young was a girl. She has been a constant reader of the Lincoln County News since its establishment, read after the half dozen editor of the News; has always read the Lincoln paper.

A 90-year-old woman up in Cleveland has announced her intentions to vote Democratic this year, but the Lincoln Democrat has scored a few more years.

POSTAL EMPLOYEES GETS OFFICIAL SUSPICION

Washington.—Omar P. Hillborn, a letter carrier at Bristol, Pa., post-office, was suspended today by Postmaster General New on charges of distributing copies of a circular "casting aspersions on the Democratic candidate for president."

Although New refused to make public any quotation from the circular, he said the ones distributed by Hillborn attacked Governor Alfred E. Smith because of his religion.

This is the second suspension ordered by New within the last 10 days for distribution of political circulars attacking the presidential candidate. He said he would not stand for any unfair political tactics by postal officials or employees.

Last week New suspended Robert H. Stickler, postmaster at Lansford, Pa., and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Bessie Burns Stickler, the assistant postmaster there, on charges of having "connived with others to secure the mailing through the Lansford postoffice without postmarks" of a large number of anonymous circulars attacking the candidacy of Herbert Hoover.

An inspector has been sent to Bristol to investigate the charges against Hillborn and further action in the case will depend upon the inspector's findings, New said.

K.K.K. LECTURER HANDS OUT "LIAR"

Says Editors Who Help Smith Have Peanut Brains. Denies Charges.

Asheville Citizen.

The Asheville Chapter of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan had its ining Tuesday night at the Buncombe county courthouse when the Rev. Dr. W. Earl Hotalen, imperial lecturer of the Klan, who looked more like a school boy than a leader of the hooded host, delivered a tirade against the supporters of Al Smith and what he termed the Democratic party's nominee's alcoholism, alienism, Romanism, Tammanyism, and Negroism.

For two hours or more Hotalen, who said his speech was based on cold facts and reason, made an appeal to bigotry, intolerance, and ignorance that should take the cake in this neck of the woods were it not for the speech delivered here several days ago by the Rev. M. F. Ham, who made the declaration that the curse of God would be upon any man who voted for Al Smith in this election.

The speaker was introduced by the Rev. Clyde Long, who was requested to do so by Carl Jones, of the local chapter of the Klan. He was introduced as an imperial lecturer of the Klan, immediately preceding the speaking, the song "America" was sung and prayer was offered. A male quartet sang a song about sending Al's folks back to Rome and about effacing Rome's plan to rule in America.

Forum Is Sold.

While the crowd was waiting for the speaker to appear, Salesman Baker sold copies of The Fellowship Forum to members of the audience, the paper having glaring headlines saying "Solid South—Solid for Hoover; Smith-Rum-Rome Badly Beaten." After Hotalen finished his address, a collection was taken up by the Klan for the purpose of financing the fight on Smith. Hotalen said, however, that Republican money was not wanted.

The audience filled the courtroom, some of the listeners having to stand. The speaker's remarks occasionally brought forth applause, but even some of his most serious statements brought smiles of indulgence from spectators.

Locally, the two Asheville dailies, and more particularly The Asheville Citizen, came in for the denunciation of Hotalen. He also paid his respects to E. W. Ewbank, chairman of the Henderson county Democratic executive committee, for the latter's expose of his career in Tennessee and Alabama. Mr. Ewbank sometime ago made public certain information he had obtained about Hotalen being indicted by the Hamilton county, Tenn., grand jury on a charge of perjury and about him leaving the state to avoid arrest.

An Infernal Liar.

Hotalen declared the statement false. He termed it "malicious, libelous, and slanderous." He said he proved Mr. Ewbank "an infernal liar before a crowded house at Hendersonville." Evidently, Mr. Hotalen, although a minister, does not believe that a soft answer turneth away wrath. He read to the audience Mr. Ewbank's statement in which the latter quoted The Birmingham News as to Hotalen's activities in Alabama. That newspaper said, according to Mr. Ewbank, that Hotalen had been proscribed by the Holston Conference of the Methodist church for his radical views and utterances and that he conducted a incendiary revival under Klan auspices in Alabama until exposed by The News. The Alabama paper also said that The Chattanooga Times as well as the Birmingham News published his indictment and practically charged him with being a fugitive from justice.

Hotalen then vented his wrath upon The Birmingham News, declaring that newspaper is a "subsidized supporter of 'Alcohol Smith'." He also declared that Victor Hansen, publisher of The News, is "one of the most corrupt men in Alabama" and that his newspaper is known in Alabama as "The Birmingham Evening Liar." The speaker then read a telegram from James Esdale, grand dragon of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan in Alabama, denying the truth of the telegram sent to Mr. Ewbank by The News. Hotalen also said he exposed Hansen in Alabama, instead of the latter exposing him.

Fleeing Tennessee.

As to fleeing Tennessee to avoid the sheriff, Hotalen said that it is "a lie in toto." He explained that he was at one time a Great Titan of the Klan in Memphis, Tenn., and was required to banish 13 men from the order; that an injunction obtained by these men to avoid dismissal was dismissed by the court. He said that his first wife died about that time and that he was assigned to Alabama for work there. Six months later, he said, a warrant was sworn out by the Hamilton county grand jury. He stated he went back there four times in an effort to have the case tried, but that his traducers failed to appear. He said the court then entered a verdict of not guilty.

The speaker then went into his attack on Smith, declaring that his supporters do not have any logic or facts on which to base their appeal to the American voters. He also said that false charges were made against Protestant preachers.

Lovely as Ever
her cold dispelled

Tonight there's hardly a sign of the distressing cold she had this morning—no dull headache, no reddened, unlovely nose, no maddening sniffle to torment her, destroy her charm, and spoil her evening.
Thanks to these Quick-Acting Vapors
Now she can keep that engagement after all. And all because, three times since breakfast, she melted a little Vicks VapoRub in hot water and inhaled its penetrating, healing vapors.
With every breath, she could feel them loosening the phlegm, clearing her head, and soothing her dry and irritated throat. And now, the worst of her cold is over.
For chest-colds, Vicks is just rubbed on at bed-time. Then the warmth of the body releases the vapors and, at the same time, this quick 2-way salve acts through the skin like a poultice.
It's strictly external, hence safe even for the youngest child.

Every purchaser of a new Ford is entitled to Free Inspection Service for the first 1500 miles

THE modern automobile is a finely built piece of machinery and it will stand a lot of abuse. Considering the work it does, it gives surprisingly little trouble. But there isn't a car made that will not run better and longer if given proper care.

The first few hundred miles are especially important because that is when the mechanism of your car is being broken in.

Proper attention during this period will lengthen its life and prevent unnecessary trouble later on.

We are particularly interested in this matter because we believe it is our duty not only to make a good automobile, but to help the owner get the greatest possible use over the longest period of time at a minimum of trouble and expense.

With this in view, the entire Ford dealer organization has been specially trained and equipped to service the new Model A car. Furthermore, we have instructed every Ford dealer to give the following Free

Inspection Service at 500, 1000 and 1500 miles:
Check battery
Check generator charging rate
Check distributor adjustment
Check carburetor adjustment
Check lights
Check brakes
Check shock absorber adjustment
Check tire inflation
Check steering gear
Change engine oil
Lubricate chassis

No charge is made for labor or materials incidental to this service, except, of course, where repairs are necessary through accident, misuse or neglect. The only charge is for new oil.

See your Ford dealer, therefore, and get this Free Inspection of your new car at 500, 1000 and 1500 miles. Find out, too, how little it will cost to have your car given a thorough going-over at regular periods thereafter.

A checking-up by experienced mechanics, together with oiling and greasing every 500 miles, will add months and years to the life of your car and mean more economical and pleasurable motoring every mile you drive.
