They are now using phrenology to determine the guilt or innocence in circumstantial cases; we wouldn't be a bit surprised if judges would soon start instructing juries to use ouija boards for the same purpose; circumstances point to the fact that Sinclair gas and Opaline oil insure a clean engine with its consequent operation efficiency. Mileage in gas depends largely upon its pep and driving power. Both of these essentials are emphatically realized in Sinclair gas.

At The Theatres

The Princess is featuring "No Other Woman," starring the dainty Dolores Del Rio, for a two day run—Thursday and Friday. Miss Del Rio is one of the screen's stellar attractions. She appears here in a play with a Biarritz background—Biarritz being the world's playground—the Palm Beach of Europe. The director of the piece is none other than Lou Telgen, one time husband of Geraldine Farrar. Don Alvarado appears as Maurice, supporting in the feature role. It is a Fox film.

Today the star attraction is George Beban, in "The Loves of Riccardo." It is a play of great emotional power Beban is rated as one of the greatest of emotional players, and in this place he has full range for his marvelous powers.

The Webb theatre presents Wednesday Glenn Tryon in "How Heels" with Patsy Ruth Miller. A comedy with the kick of youth, a hot romance in Cuba, the land where the 18th amendment ends and fun begins.

Thursday Buster Keaton. Buster's coming is enough without the title of his show, but this time it is "Steamboat Bill, Jr." A river romance that sets its audience in a roar. A famous navigator charting the continent's biggest flood of rare American comedy with sensational success.

Down in New York a one-act play has been seen and heard over the radio. Well, when we tune in on a New York play on our new television radio set we're going to have it fixt so that the air-waves pass through several inches of chlorate of lime, charcoal, and formaldehyde. We don't want the people next door to us at our hotel to think we are saying those things.—Chicago Tribune.

SPEECH OF HOEY HERE ON MONDAY HISTORY MAKER

the talk since, have told every one else about it. Along different lines from his former speech here he defended Smith against the three major issues hurled against the Democratic candidate—religion, Tammany Hall, and prohibition—with a denunciation of a misrepresented charge against the candidate as to immigration.

"You know," he declared, "when this campaign is over the Republican party should credit Al Smith with reforming them. When he was nominated they, for the first time in their lives came out for prohibition, civilization and Christianity. Never heretofore have they advocated either.

"As to prohibition—how much difference is there in the stands of the two candidates for them to raise such a hullabaloo over. Hoover doesn't know whether he is wet or dry for he doesn't know which way the most voters are. It took him 45 years to decide whether he was a Democrat or a Republican, and he hasn't decided about prohibition yet. He says it is a noble experiment and that when, and if, elected he will appoint a committee to see about it. On the other hand Al Smith says that there has been considerable criticism of prohibition as it is, and we can look about us and see that is true due to the Republican lack of enforcement in eight years, and since there is criticism he says he believe that the people should be given a right to say whether they want it changed or not and that the people's decision shall be the law which he will enforce as they want it. Mr. Hoover's idea of turning it over to a committee is a typical Republican move—they turn every problem over to a committee and no one hears of it again. Isn't it best to let the people say what they want rather than a committee? Smith promises, and he has never broken one, to enforce the law—the Republicans have never enforced it—but Mr. Hoover contents himself with calling prohibition an experiment and promising to turn it over to a committee. What have the committee done to aid the farmer and the flood-stricken questions?"

Gets On Bishop. At one part of the address the usually cool and kind talker seemed to grow sarcastic as he expressed his disapproval of the methods used by some of the bishops in his own church, the Methodist, in fighting the Democratic candidate.

"I believe a bishop or a minister should be made to stick to the facts and the truth just as any other man. Bishop Cannon's expressions on Smith's immigration views are misrepresentation. His declaration that Smith would put liquor in warehouses everywhere is without foundation. We didn't have such here before the 18th amendment and every fair-minded citizen knows we would not have such with the amendment repealed which it will not be."

"They try to make you believe Al Smith is dishonest because he belongs to Tammany Hall, an organization in which Boss Tweed lived and stole before Smith was born. Do you think that a church is dishonest because a mission secretary runs away with the money? I know you don't and surely they don't think they can make us believe that a man born after another had served his time in the penitentiary is crooked because the later was. Not hardly. Tweed lived years ago. The Vane and Thompson machines, Republican machines, which would make Tammany Hall blush at its worst, are present day machines—why do they not refer to these and the Ohio gang? Every southern Democrat living in New York who is anything belongs to Tammany Hall and if I lived there and you lived there we would belong Tammany Hall is the great Democratic organization of that section. That's the main reason the Republicans yell so much about it—it's just Democratic."

Grover Youth In Wreck In Which Four Were Hurt

Leonard Hope's Car In Collision. Gaffney Girls And Boy Injured.

Gaffney, Oct. 30.—Three daughters of County Commissioner J. E. Humphries of the Macedonia community, and Troy Clary, son of John E. Clary, also of Macedonia, were patients in the City hospital here yesterday following an automobile collision that occurred on the Chesnee road about 12 miles out from Gaffney Sunday evening about dark. All of the Humphries girls were suffering from internal injuries. Mr. Clary's skull was badly fractured and one arm was smashed between the elbow and shoulder.

Reports from the hospital at noon yesterday said that Miss Edna Humphries, 23, and Miss Addie Humphries, 15, were suffering greatly. The condition of the two girls was described as "pretty bad." Miss Alma Humphries, 17, did not appear so severely injured. Mr. Clary, who had been unconscious from the time of the wreck until yesterday morning, was also said to be "pretty bad."

The four young people were in a touring car that collided with a sedan driven by Leonard Hope, of Grover, N. C., son of Mr. and Mrs.

T. Lee Hope, of Grover, formerly of Gaffney. The collision occurred at a point on the Chesnee highway near Thicketty mountain.

Mr. Hope escaped with only minor injuries. He received a few small cuts and scratches from flying glass, and was shaken up and bruised.
