PALM TREE HAS A $35,000 CHURCH

To Editor of The Star:
Last week I sent in report of a gala occasion when Polkville Methodist church was dedicated in a sermon of remarkable power and discrimination by the old warhorse of Methodism, Rev. R. M. Hoyle; and another Methodist Boanerges, Rev. J. A. Cook, who featured as a church builder and organizer. Mention was made of the original frame structure reared in 1893; and of the neat, modern spacious brick building that maintains a flourishing S. S., an Epworth league, and the membership is conspicuous for its zeal and devotion.

On yesterday, October 28, 1928, I acted in the role of walking delegate and visited Palm Tree Methodist church, which has a modern brick edifice almost completed; devoted to Christian worship; which should be a source of pride to any town of 10,000 population in Cleveland county. When completed and dedicated, a write-up and picture of building will be forthcoming. Suffice it to say in this connection, that the cost will exceed $35,000; and a great deal of the labor and material has been voluntary. A good Sunday school is an evergreen institution; as well as a good choir and Epworth league of same variety. This is fifth church building erected by the present generation and their forbears.

The site of first temple of Christianity for this body of believers, was something near two hundred yards from the splendid brick edifice that calls the reverent proselyte of Methodism; as well as the way-faring man who makes no claim to piety, to prayer. Palm Tree embraces a history dating back to the time when the martial circuit rider was a man on horseback, who preached the unsearchable riches when bulles tried to stampe the services by ruffianism and drunken orgies; and the martial evangel of good tidings was a true soldier of the cross, who quelled the rebellious sons of Belial by apostolic blows, and would swim his horse across a raging river to fill an appointment. His horse was his means of locomotion, and his headquarters were in the saddle. Through perils of flood and fever, in danger of robbers and ruffians; these martial soldiers of the Methodist and Baptist churches fought the good fight of faith until in the Valley of Shadow they saw the dawning glories of the Celestial city. Now, by the Eternal, they are going to continue their warfare in favor of righteousness, temperance and judgment to come—and no man shall gainsay that exalted, blood-bought privilege.

Newspaper Makes Attack On K.K.K.

Says Ku Klux Klan, Born Of Ignorance, Coils To Strike Now.

Greensboro Record.

The United States of America has reached something beyond a mere deplorable state of mind, or mental inertia, as one pleases, when a wholly un-American organization in utter disregard, contempt and defiance of the constitution of these great states which have builded the greatest and most prosperous nation ever to exist upon the face of the globe, can impudently and unrighteously flaunt its doctrine of hate for no holier purpose than to enrich itself.

Such is the Ku Klux Klan. Born of a union of ignorance, credulity and intolerance, with that filthy wanton, greed, this organization, speaking through Amos G. Duncan, its grand dragon, dares again to lift its slimy, venomous head in the great state of North Carolina to tell her splendid and chivalric citizenry how to vote that the country may escape the clutches of the Roman Catholic church. And they want just a measly, trifling eight thousand dollars to turn the virtuous trick.

Such is the Ku Klux Klan. God can and will save these beloved United States of America from such un-Americanism. Duncan rapes the truth as only ignorant intolerance can assault that virtue, and then, with impartial madness of purpose, he becomes a character assassin of so mean a sort as almost to defy description.

Such is the Ku Klux Klan. And now listen to what this paid ravisher of the constitutional rights of every citizen of the commonwealth has to say of you, if it happens you are not on the side of Hoover:

"America faces a serious crisis. The constitution is assaulted. Every wet, every criminal, every libertine, every political Romanist, every foreigner, and every traitor to Protestantism is marching with deadly determined intent toward the White House under the campaign flag of 'Alcohol' Smith... North Carolina is mobilizing against the Tammany-crats gloriously and patriotically. But the best judgment of leading citizens has decided that North Carolina cannot be won by Hoover unless the Klan assumes a definite, daring, determined part in the battle line. I believe you can be depended upon in this emergency. Therefore, I summon you to the solemn sacrifices and heroic labors necessary to the winning of the fight."

Such is the Ku Klux Klan. No greater insult has ever been offered the intelligent people of this state. It is difficult to imagine any type of North Carolina citizenry responding to such a hymn of hate and intolerance as this man Duncan sends out from his Rutherford county home. While it is true that some men are swayed to unrighteousness by unreasoning passion and uncontrolled prejudice, The Record is not ready to believe that such moral rotteness as that preached by the Ku Klux Klan's grand dragon will be tamely accepted and swallowed by Klansmen, and certainly not by the far outnumbering upright men who never had and never will have aught to do with such a thing.

Such is the Ku Klux Klan. Duncan's disregard of truth and common honesty is further reflected when he says: "We are not fighting the Democratic party—we are fighting Al Smith, who is neither a Democrat, Republican or good American." The grand dragon speaks falsely, and it is with knavish malice that he does so. It is doubtless true, as has been claimed that the Ku Klux Klan has among its membership many worthy men, but such men as Duncan have made the organization a stench in the nostrils of decency, and its name anathema to honest Americans. Claiming exclusive right to true Americanism, it gives the constitution protectorate rights the lie when it denies the constitutional right of every man to worship God in his own way.

Such is the Ku Klux Klan. It coils to strike—as does the snake.

Merchants Asked To Sweep Up Saturdays

Mayor Dorsey says he is striving for a clean town and wants the cooperation of the merchants to the extent of sweeping their sidewalks late Saturday night. He asks that all trash be placed in cans or containers on the sidewalks and to the rear of stores. Unless this is done the wind blows the trash over the streets and makes an unsightly appearance on "Sundays when the city should look its best," says the mayor. Two trucks are on duty early each Sunday morning taking away the trash, but it must be put in containers and not left in piles for the wind to blow about.

County Pride Is A County Man Is Gardner's Pull

Mr. Baird, Now In Ohio Praises County For Friendship And Loyalty. Reasons For Gardner

Editor The Star:

In reading the Oct. 15th issue of The Star I saw the print of a letter I had written to my friend Mr. Jas. A. Wilson of Shelby. If I had written that letter for publication I would have been more careful in its preparation, but as it has been published I wish to be permitted to go a little more into detail as to just why I would work and vote for

Mr. Gardner. First—Everything else being equal, we should give our votes to the one we know personally. I am sure most of the voters in Cleveland county know Mr. Gardner in this way, or know of him in a way that assures them of his force of character, of his personal interest in Cleveland county and in the things closest to the hearts of its people.

Second—Mr. Gardner is of a caliber that assures his especial fitness for the office he seeks.

Third—It would be a signal honor to have a man from Cleveland county occupy the governor's chair.

Fourth—Mr. Gardner's well known interest in agriculture will have inestimable value in promoting the financial interest of the farmers and this in an indirect way will pro-note the interest of every one else in the state.

The farmers dig out of the ground (figuratively speaking) every thing we have or use. For without food every thing else would be vanity.

With the farmers comfortable and contented, it is evident that other lines of endeavor will have plenty.

Fifth—Cleveland county is in a way just a great big family, every one knows every one else.

When Cleveland county goes to the polls on Nov. 6, it should vote as one man for O. M. Gardner for governor.

First—He has been tried in public office and not been found wanting.

Second—There are no great state issues to be decided by changing the political beliefs of the governor so every one can vote for the home folks.

Third—There is personal pride, civic pride, county and state pride, and pride of country (patriotism).

The small boy is proud of his red top boots. We are all proud when our city leads in civic beauty or in any other way; we are all proud when our county has a great fair; excels in good roads or in any way and so on up the line.

Every one in Cleveland county will have commendable pride in having O. Max Gardner of Cleveland county as Governor of North Carolina, but how great a day it would be for Cleveland county if it would vote unanimously for Mr. Gardner for governor. Every voter would feel that they had had a part in showing this token of respect, of appreciation of endless services rendered and all would be glad that they had helped to show this well deserved honor to a neighbor.

And from another view point, Cleveland county would receive a large amount of national advertising if it would give Mr. Gardner a unanimous vote. This would have a value no one can estimate in calling to the attention of the country to the fine spirit of cooperation, existing and this would bring to the borders of Cleveland county others who would like to live in such a county, and industrial plants to locate in its manufacturing centers.
