

"Forward Reach" is Wall's Subject

Special Music At All Services During Day At First Baptist Church.

"The Forward Reach" will be the subject of Dr. Zeno Wall, in the services of the First Baptist church at the Central high school, Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Mr. Eason announces special musical programs for all services during the day. The choir will sing in the morning service, "The King of Love My Shepherd Is," by Shelby, and other music will be heard. In the evening service, which begins at 7 o'clock, Dr. Wall will use as his subject, "Watchman, What of the Night?" The message will be preceded by a song service of the old familiar hymns. The choir will render "Consider- and Hear Me," by Pflieger, and the male quartet will sing. The Sunday school opens at 9:30 o'clock in all departments. Classes can be found for all ages. Everyone is invited to this teaching service of the church. The eleven B. Y. P. U.'s will hold their programs at 6 o'clock in the evening. These training units will have splendid programs prepared. All members of the church and friends are invited to be present.

COPPER IN WATER AND FOOD IS AID TO BODY

New York.—The Journal of Experimental Medicine reports in its current issue that from evidence now at hand the quantities of copper found in food and drinking will not injure any human organ. Furthermore, evidence is accumulating to show that small amounts of the metal have a beneficial effect on the blood in case of anaemia.

At The Theatres

"Two Arabian Nights," starring William Boyd and Mary Astor, is today's offering at the Webb. It is a comedy, produced by United Artists. It is seldom that United Artists essays a comedy, and the result should be as excellent as it is unusual. Both stars are favorites. The story concerns the up-roaring doings of two American doughboys blundering through Europe and the Orient after the war. It is a sidesplitter. Wally Wales in "Saddle Mates" tops the bill tomorrow. Says the press sheet: "Westward Ho! Ride with Wally Wales and Hank Bell down the long trail of romance, adventure and daring."

Marshall Neilan, one of the big four directors of Hollywood, turned his attention to comedy, and has put over one "Taxi 13," starring that price of comedy actors, Chester Conklin, which appears at the Princess today. It is an FBQ. We read: "See the wild ride of a Paul Revere of the Taxi world on the trail of shootin' crooks and fightin' cops."

Saturday's bill is a double header—Sterling's "Undressed" and "Paths of Flame." "Undressed" is presented by a fine cast, including Virginia Brown Paige, Bryant Washburn, Hedda Hopper and Buddy Messinger. "Paths of Flame" is an outdoor adventure picture.

Cotton Market (By John F. Clark & Co.)

Cotton was quoted at noon today on N. Y. exchange: January 1929: March 1929. Yesterday's close: January 20.01, March 20.07.

New York, Jan. 4.—Heavy bidding and good business in print cloths yesterday, sheetings quiet. No particular news. The amount of contracts wanted by believers in higher prices on any fair reaction is apparently much larger than the total offerings in the way of scattered liquidation, short selling or hedge selling. This was demonstrated yesterday. The general situation warrants purchases on favorable opportunities based on improving statistical position, smaller carry-over probably little increase in acreage and good textile outlook. CLEVELAND.

WEDDING STARTS IN 1928. WINDS UP IN NEW YEAR

Concord.—Dan Cupid sprang a new trick in the matrimonial line here New Year's Eve. The little love god prompted a marriage that started in 1928 and ended in 1929. David M. Teague, of this city, and Miss Pearl Barber, formerly of King's Mountain, were married at First Baptist church parsonage, the ceremony beginning one and a half minutes before the passing of 1928 and concluding a few seconds after the 1929 baby year was born. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. Herman Trueblood.
