New Cars On Market In Shelby Saturday

New models of both Hudson and Essex cars were on display Saturday at the D. H. Cline establishment, on West Warren street. Comment on the new vehicles was favorable in the extreme. Mr. Cline explained that the new Essex has 76 improvements over the old, including a 70 h. p. engine as compared with a 60, with a sixty mile possibility to be maintained all day; while the Hudson has 64 new features, with a 92 h. p. engine, instead of the 80, with an 80 mile possibility, and both models are reduced, the Hudson substantially.

The New Chevrolet.
The new Chevrolet six made its metaphorical bow to Shelby Saturday at Chevrolet headquarters in the Gardner Garage. Many visitors passed very favorable judgement on this latest of the General Motors products. Mr. J. R. Crawford was in active charge of the display, having taken over the Chevrolet agency from Mr. Jordan. The salesmen were talking price feature to the crowds, elaborating on the much advertised theme of a six "in the price range of the four." The new car will be on display after the first of the year at the Buick building, to which the Chevrolet headquarters is being transferred.

ADmits ASSAULT ON GIRL AGED 7

Thomasville, Jan. 1.—William Simpson, 57, of this city, arraigned for preliminary hearing here yesterday for criminal assault on a girl seven years old, admitted his guilt and was bound over to Davidson county superior court. Simpson, according to his own story, committed the crime under his own roof after having called the child into the house as she was passing by. She is a member of a well known family.

Simpson was taken to the county jail at Lexington to await the next term of superior court. He is said to be a man with family and was recently employed in a local cotton mill.

LEXINGTON MAN TO SEEK POUS POST

Lexington, Jan. 1.—Major James A. Leonard, former major of Lexington, and operator of a hotel and cafe here, who is an avowed candidate for appointment of the position of superintendent of the State prison to succeed George Ross Pou, has no opposition in the race for the appointment, so far as is known here. The friends of the Lexington man are active in his behalf and doubtless a large number of signatures will go with recommendations to Governor-elect O. Max Gardner, of Shelby, asking for the appointment of Major Leonard to the responsible position at the State prison.

GIRL'S VANISHING STILL A MYSTERY

Nearly One Year Now Since Disappearance Of Frances St. John Smith.

Boston. Where is she? What was her fate? As the year of 1928 went out it leaves unsolved the greatest disappearance mystery of the year, that of Francis St. John Smith, heiress and Smith college student.

Miss Smith left the college dormitories on Friday, January 13, and stepped to all intents and purposes into another world.

Nearly a year of search as thorough as the love and great wealth of her family could provide has failed to penetrate the veil of mystery surrounding her vanishing.

Arnold Case.
As a cause celebre the Frances St. John Smith case promises to rival the never-solved mystery of what happened to Dorothy Arnold, New York heiress, when she walked out of Bretano's, where she had just purchased a book and disappeared on Fifth Avenue in broad daylight.

Was Frances killed or kidnapped, and, if so, what was the motive? The country's foremost detectives have been unable to say. At first it was believed the girl might have been drowned or had thrown herself in a river near the college, but the streams in the neighborhood were dragged to no avail.

Girl Disappears.
Two years before Miss Smith disappeared—also on a Friday, the thirteenth—another Smith college girl, Alice Corbett, disappeared from the college and has never been seen since.

Frances would be nineteen years old now and would have $2,000,000 in her own right.

Some time before she disappeared the girl wrote in the "Magus" publication at Milton Academy, where she had prepped, that she believed it would be "unalloyed bliss" to run away. She wrote: "My idea of unalloyed bliss has always been to run away, but the only difficulty with that was that I had no indisputable reason for so doing."

"I know that unless I felt myself entirely justified in pursuing my course there might be some measure of regret and fear alloying my happiness, and I never could resolve upon so radical a step before making sure that I should receive the fullest measure of bliss in return."

Find Her Reason.
Did Frances finally find her "indisputable reason?" Did she run away, deliberately turn her back on her family and fortune and create for herself another identity?

safe and want to make a different life for yourself we do not want to interfere, but to help you if we can.

Please Come Home.
"But we do want to know that you are safe. Won't you write to Aunt Susie or M. T. and say that you are? They will see that your confidence is respected and your wishes carried out. Above all, we want you to come home; but, if you wish quiet and seclusion, they will see that you have it. We want no explanation. We only want to care for you and know that you are safe. We get through the days only because we hope every hour to hear from you."

MOTHER AND FATHER.
It was said that Frances, despite her beauty, apparently cared little for men. She had no serious love affairs, as far as was known. She had only one date with a boy at Smith college.

Search for the missing girl has been made all over the country.

FILM STAR GETS IN BAD WITH LAW

Los Angeles.—Facing arrest on charges of annoying her neighbors with "wild parties," Alma Rubens, screen actress, announced today that she would fight the case and would "hold to strict accountability all persons" who made the accusations.

A warrant was issued here yesterday for the arrest of Miss Rubens on charge of disturbing the peace. It was issued on complaint of Mrs. Elizabeth Uhl, landlady and neighbor of the actress, and charged that Miss Rubens several times disturbed tenants by looking into their homes at night with the aid of a flashlight and by turning off all lights on one occasion by pulling a main switch.

The complaint declared that Miss Rubens staged a "wild party" in her apartment last Saturday, during which she threatened to "get" Mrs. Uhl. The landlady also alleged that Miss Rubens frequently had used profane language in the presence of other tenants and that she had refused to move when requested to do so.

WHEN IT LOOKS DARK to any weak, nervous or ailing woman, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription comes to her aid. Women in every walk of life today say Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a reliable medicine. It is made from roots and herbs, sold by druggists, in both fluid and tablet form.

Mrs. N. V. Dyson of 402 Howard St., Spartanburg, S. C., said: "As a topic for weak women there is nothing I can so highly recommend as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I had a breakdown, my nerves were in such a state that I could not get my needed rest and sleep. I had backaches and pains in my side, was weak, tired and all dragged out. I took the 'Prescription' and it built me up in splendid health and relieved me of my nervous condition. I never felt better than I did after taking it."
