CIVIL WAR VETERANS DIE AT RATE OF 1,000 A MONTH

Washington.—Indicating a death toll of about 1,000 a month, the Civil War veterans pension roll stood at 68,788 at the end of 1928, a decrease of more than 6,000 since the middle of the year.

The present Civil War pension roll reached its high tide thirty years ago at 745,000, said the department of the interior. The number of widows of Civil War veterans also has decreased, 191,000 of them being on the pension list at the end of the year. This was 5,000 fewer than six months ago.

The Spanish-American War veterans are increasing on the rolls, with 173,000, an increase of 10,000 in six months, and 27,000 widows.

Of the other wars only thirteen widows of soldiers of the War of 1812 remain as receiving pensions, while there are 802 widows of the Mexican War soldiers. There are 5,000 veterans of the Indian wars and 3,000 widows of these veterans.

Flowered Bonnets In Spring Styles

Paris.—Leading Parisian milliners have startled their customers somewhat by displaying flower trimmings on the new spring hats. The flowers are small and unobtrusive, but are attracting much attention because their return after such long banishment was unexpected.

They are worn on one side of the brims or a bunch is placed on either side of pocketbook forms, providing a decidedly old-fashioned effect. Scarves of printed silks are also being used as trimmings—usually directly on the form or wrapped around the crown and falling over one shoulder or down the back or tied under the chin.

Felt and straw combinations are featured by smart milliners. Colors are contrasted or one tone superimposed upon another. There is no set fashion in this respect. In the matter of hat shapes, the sharp point showing a bit of the forehead is giving way to a gentle curve. Crowns are slightly less round than they have been.

Thirty-Six Years Ago.

High Point Enterprise. What were you doing 36 years ago?

Recently the activities of two well known men 36 years ago have been discussed in the public prints.

One of these is J. J. Davis, secretary of labor in the Coolidge cabinet. Thirty-six years ago exactly he was a hobo out of work in New Orleans. He was hunting for a roustabout's job in Birmingham as a steel puddler. Davis recalled the facts when he was in New Orleans recently to make an address.

Thirty-six years ago the president-elect became groom for the stable of a family at Palo Alto near where he received his notification of nomination for the presidency and where he heard of his election. He was a student then, looking for any gainful employment to help pay his way through college. He took care of the horses, the employer then of Herbert Hoover recalls.

Almost any prominent American whose life one might study would be found 36 years ago filling a lowly place and without money. In 36 years, opportunities are such in this Western world, that the individual of the greatest social and economic handicap can make almost what he will of his career. The wildest sort of guessing and probably all of it wide of the mark would be indulged in if the wisest and best informed citizen undertakes to pick the ten boys of the present High Point who will become the ten most influential and powerful men 36 years hence.

Between what one is and what one may be particularly in a land like ours, is a range of such tremendous possibilities that prophecies are idle. What were you 36 years ago, you elders? What will you younger folk be in 36 years?

SITTING PRETTY

Reminds us of the "Liars Contest" we witnessed two years ago. The winner of the contest took the prize for seeing "Flying sardines sitting on a mountain playing poker." The prevaricator when asked how the sardines get out of the can to play cards replied: "They had OPENERS." You'll be sitting pretty if you use Sinclair gas and Opaline oil exclusively. It's purity and quality constitutes an insurance policy for even the finest motor.

Cleveland Oil Co. Distributors

Far from the crowds he loved—the roaring cattle bivouacs, the boiling border towns, the grinding trails, the thudding of soggy boxing gloves and all the clamor of life as lived by the genius promoter—Tex Rickard, great showman, was laid to rest. The photo at top shows a portion of the milling throng at Forty-

And Now About The Movies.

From The American Sketch. Producers are groping vainly for a new cycle. Underworld pictures have been so over-produced that they are waning; pictures about theatrical people are becoming a drug. War pictures sometime ago were done to death. Wings resuscitated their popularity a little, but by now aeroplanes are no longer novel. Several pictures have been done about news-reel camera men and women, and there is a flurry of interest in newspaper pictures which reflects the popularity of the play The Front Page.

But a new subject or a new character is sorely needed. There are some indications, in the recent boldness of producers in risking censorship, that the prostitute may suddenly be glorified. Shades of Mary Pickford.

Switzerland Season Busy.

With snow falling earlier than usual Switzerland reports a longer and busier season than for several years. At Wengen and some other resorts, every room in the hotels and pensions was occupied by the middle of December, and the places have been busy since that time. Among the out-door amusements are ice gymkhanas, ski-joring parties, skiing contests, and skating and curling competitions.

The Barker

You've heard ABOUT The Barker, but until you've heard him tell about the wonders behind the canvas, you haven't heard the utmost in talking pictures. Listen to the "Hey Rube" call, drowned out by the love call of youth to youth. Listen to noise and excitement in the midway while behind it, a world-wise woman steals red kisses from a yokel's lips.

See, Hear and Wonder! It's the biggest thrill talking picture ever offered!
