Copeland's Health Talk

Doctors Live Longer

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

(United States Senator and Former Health Commissioner of New York.)

With young people the thought of death is rarely permitted to enter the mind. As we grow older there is increasing interest in the obituary column.

I confess I never fail to run over such lists of casualties in the medical profession. In each of the weekly issues of the "Journal of the American Medical Association" is a page headed "Deaths." During one week recently there were so many that it required four columns of type to list the names of departed doctors.

I had a curiosity to see exactly how these medical men died. Even though it is a gruesome subject, I believe you will be interested. Perhaps, too, this analysis may be made the basis of some comments that will help you to stave off the evil day of death.

In this list I found seventy-seven names. The average age at death was 68 years. There were thirty names of men 70 years or more, the oldest being 94. The average age of those under sixty was 59 years.

I feel encouraged. It was only a generation ago that the average doctor in active practice died at about 40. If this week's record is typical, I am convinced doctors are living longer than in the old days.

Now let us see what were the chief causes of death. Only a limited number of the obituaries included this information. But, as recorded, the chief disease was of the heart and blood vessels. Half as many died of pneumonia and from the effects of accidents. The same number were swept away by cancer.

Next came brain troubles, including hemorrhage. Small numbers died from liver complaint, diabetes and typhoid.

At least half these deaths were due to preventable ailments. Doctors are the last men in the world who should neglect the precautions which are known to be effective in warding off certain diseases.

You know the old saying about shoemaker's children—that they are always without good shoes. The same principle applies to the doctors. In their enthusiasm for the cure of their patients, they do not give thought to their own precious bodies.

It is probable that attention to bad teeth or tonsils, diseases of the gall bladder, or neglected constipation, might have kept from the heart the poisons which caused it to fail. Who knows, too, what can be done to escape cancer by living well regulated lives? Is it probable that lowered resistance is an essential factor in developing this dreadful disease?

"Physician heal thyself," said one of old. I wish it might be possible to make the doctors think of themselves. They are so important to large numbers of their respective communities that we hate to see them neglect to take to themselves the wise advice they give others.

It is positively wicked for you to overlook the simple precautions which add years to your life. You can't cheat nature. You'll get caught sure as fate. Begin now to live right, to eat right, to get the rest and sleep you need.

You can avoid many diseases, by hemorrhage, liver trouble and lots

Beans Got Him. Cario, Mich.—The theft of 30 bags of beans is the immediate cause of a life sentence for Frank Bower. His four convictions on a felony made him a habitual criminal.

A left-over ham-bone will greatly improve the flavor of pea or bean soup.

Whip Women, Too. Indianapolis.—If criminals must be whipped the state senate insists that women as well as men receive lashes in front of the courthouse from sheriffs. It has amended a whipping post bill, expecting that now it will die.

PUBLICATIONS OF SUMMONS. North Carolina, Cleveland County. In the Superior court, Marjorie Heavner Towery, vs. Arthur Towery, to Arthur Towery, Defendant. Take notice that an action as above entitled has been commenced in the Superior Court against you for divorce absolute, on grounds of separation for more than five years, that the said summons is returnable before the Clerk on the 7th day of March, 1929, when and where you are required to appear and answer or demur to the complaint, or the relief prayed for will be granted. This the 2nd day of February, 1929. A. M. HAMRICK, Clerk Superior Court.

What 59 years have taught us about making gasoline

The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey was a pioneer in refining gasoline. Since the first automobile was built "Standard" has been—both in quantity and quality—the leader in the refining and supplying of this necessary motor fuel.

This company has spent millions of dollars in research work and in the development of new and better processes of making gasoline. What has been the result? Just this—that you can depend on finding in every gallon of "Standard" Gasoline these qualities:

- Easy Starting—even in coldest weather.
- Quick Acceleration—a necessary thing in traffic.
- Power, Steady and Reliable—for hill climbing and long hard runs.
- Mileage Efficiency—proved over and over by road tests in every type of car.
- Safety to Motor—a fuel that cannot possibly injure your engine.
- Complete Combustion—a fuel that burns cleanly, leaving practically no carbon, and burns completely, leaving no "loose ends" to seep down and dilute the motor oil in the crank case.
- Uniformity—you can set your carburetor on "Standard" and forget it, for every gallon is like every other gallon wherever you buy it.
- Availability—"Standard" Gasoline has the further advantage of being easily obtained, as our red "Standard" pumps are conveniently located throughout the length and breadth of this state.

This rare combination of qualities makes "Standard" the best all-round gasoline on the market. The fact that it outsells any other brand of gasoline in this state by more than 2 to 1, is evidence of its superior qualities. Use "Standard" Gasoline and you will get unvarying fuel satisfaction.
