

Car And Haystack Both Burn In Odd Blaze In Iredell

Statesville.—The most unique car burning event in local news circles occurred in the early part of the night recently on the Gregory road, a neighborhood driveway across the northern outskirts of Statesville township when James D. Fry, a young man, backed his car into a haystack and the exhaust ignited the hay and the dry feed. In turn set the automobile on fire, every combustible portion of the car being consumed. The illumination at night from the combined material in machine and haystack was observed for many miles around.

It is understood that Mr. Fry in turning his car around, backed into the haystack just off the road, and his wheels stuck in the mud adjacent to the haystack. In his efforts to extricate the car, the spark from the exhaust pipe caught the hay and this, in turn, transferred the blaze to the automobile. With no fire fighting assistance near, the driver had only to step out on the earth and watch his car reduced to smoke and ashes. The metal remnants of his auto were later brought to town.

Davidson Glee Club To Appear In Shelby Next Monday Night

Varied Program Will Be Offered. Collegians Have Been On Air.

Davidson College Glee club has been secured to appear in concert at the high school auditorium Monday night, March 18. The club presents a variety of entertainment featuring the Sunnysland Serenaders, their own jazz orchestra. Prof. E. J. Cullum of Chicago is in his second successful year of directing the club and presents classical, semi-classical, and popular music on this tour which includes a number of towns in South Carolina.

The glee club presented programs in a number of eastern North Carolina cities before the Christmas holidays. In the past few years they have entertained radio fans with music through stations WSB Atlanta and WBT in Charlotte. The Sunnysland Serenaders are the best of their kind in jazz. They have become one of WBT's standbys from this section of the country.

For those who like classical music the club has arranged a group of numbers of that type. They present semi-classical music in another group and reach their climax with popular music and jazz. This club has entertained in recent years all of the most prominent woman's colleges in the southeastern part of the country and plays here while on its second year of the school year.

The director Prof. E. J. Cullum was secured from Chicago in 1927 by Davidson college trustees to take charge of the glee club and college band. He is a graduate of Tonolowich in London where he spent a number of years studying. He is now a member of the board of directors of the Southern Glee Club association and is well fitted to present with his club a very entertaining program.

The Sunnysland Serenaders under the direction of B. H. O. Geer last year toured parts of Europe. They were engaged by a trans-Atlantic steamship company to furnish music enroute. They were highly praised for their interpretation of music and their ability to give unique entertainment all the time during the trip. This orchestra will furnish music for about twenty minutes on the glee club program.

GARDNER DOES NOT DESIRE TO BE AN OVERLORD IN STATE

Raleigh, March 13.—Declaring he does not wish to be an "over-lord of North Carolina," Governor O. Max Gardner yesterday announced that if it becomes apparent that the legislature has failed by any substantial margin to raise enough revenue to meet their appropriations he will convene it into special session to correct its own error and at the same time issued a formal statement withdrawing his support from the bill creating a purchasing department which was recommended by Governor McLean and his budget commission.

"I am not a candidate for the office of over-lord of North Carolina," reads the statement, which is based on the two considerations that it would place too much power in the governor's office and that there is no time to draft a proper bill including the highway commission in its terms.

Governor Gardner does not consider it probable that there will be any occasion to call the general assembly into extra session and his statement is less significant for that reason than as indicative of the manner in which he would deal with such a situation should it arise.

The governor made his statement before the house met last night and at that time the general assembly has apparently agreed upon a bill carrying $3,000,000 more for the equalizing fund during the biennium for which it appropriates than was recommended by the budget, and to meet it there has been added only a million a year, the finance committee estimating that the other million necessary during the two-year period can be accounted for by closer collections.

Governor Gardner is acquiescing in the legislative estimates and is not insisting upon the budget estimates, but if the legislators have made a mistake, he will let them cure it.

Worker Value Is Basis Of Profit

It is not the value per acre that makes farm prosperity in North Carolina, but the value per worker.

"North Carolina ranks third in value per acre of crops, but 39th in value of crops produced per farm worker," says A. T. Holman, agricultural engineer at State college, who argues for the use of labor-saving machinery and better planning of crops in 1929. "We may reduce our production costs this year by planting no wet, undrained land; by planting no poor, barren, washed land, and by slightly re-arranging our fields to reduce lost time and eliminate the waste land. Further reduction in costs may be secured by driving larger team and working more acres in this state when we shall be compelled to use larger and more economical machines and implements. Then we must work enough acres of good land per man to make the farm an economical production unit."

Mr. Holman gives eight ways in which increased production per farm worker may be accomplished. The first is to supplant the normal cash crop acreage with a substantial planting of food and feed crops. When plowing and harrowing the land two, four or six horses per worker should be used. Fertilizer may be distributed with a three-row implement and the land can be bedded with riding cultivators or listers. Transplanting is done with machines by the best farmers and seed put in with two-row planters. The small plants may first be cultivated with the rotary hoe, spike-tooth harrow or weeder. Then when the plants get larger the one- or two-row riding cultivator may be used.

The addition or use of these methods will increase the production per farm worker and thus bring a greater return to him for labor expended, declares Mr. Holman.

COULDN'T SLEEP

Louisiana Lady States That The First Bottle of Cardui She Took, Helped Her.

Montgomery, La.—"I was in a dreadfully run-down condition," says Mrs. Charles L. Lacroix, of this city. "I suffered a great deal of pain. I was in misery all over. I could not sit up and I could not lie down. I couldn't sleep and at times I would have dreadful vomiting spells. The aches and pains seemed to cover my whole body."

"I had taken Cardui, off and on, since 1903. It had always done me good, so when I got in this bad condition, I thought I would take it again."

"One night, my husband brought me home six bottles of Cardui and I began to take it. I could tell that I was improving from the first bottle, but I kept on taking the medicine, for I knew that I needed a tonic that would build me up and strengthen me where I was weak and run-down. That is exactly what Cardui did for me. After I had finished the sixth bottle I felt fine. I feel truly thankful for what Cardui has done for me, for I could not have gone on living in the desperate condition I was in."

Cardui is a harmless extract of valuable medicinal herbs, and acts as a strengthening tonic.
