An interesting program has been arranged. Music will be furnished by the Toy symphony orchestra, composed of 40 boys of the primary department. The boys chorus will also render several selections. Miss Elizabeth Brown of the high school faculty, who is a delightful reader will give several humorous selections. A large and increased attendance is urged at this meeting.

Mr. L. A. Kiser Weds Miss Cline
Miss Novella Cline and Mr. L. A. Kiser were quietly married Saturday evening at 8 o'clock by Rev. W. E. Lowe at his home on Cleveland Springs road. Only a few friends witnessed the ceremony. Mrs. Kiser is the attractive daughter of the late Mr. John Cline. She wore a tan crepe ensemble with hat and accessories to match. Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Kiser left for their home near Lincolnton, where they will go to housekeeping at once. Mr. Kiser is a progressive farmer of Lincoln county.

Mrs. Riley Honors Mrs. Gardner And Bridge Club.
The Webb-Gardner home on South Washington street was never more attractive than on Friday afternoon, when Mrs. Madge Webb Riley charmingly entertained the members of the South Washington Bridge club, honoring her sister, Mrs. Max Gardner of Raleigh, who is spending the Easter holidays at home. Mrs. Riley wearing a tan georgette and lace gown, received her guests in the spacious reception hall, which was decorated with Easter lilies and yellow jonquills. Mrs. Gardner was beautiful in an imported cobalt blue chiffon costume with pearls. Mesdames J. L. Webb, J. A. Darwin, and Gene Burgess assisted in receiving. The south parlor was arranged with pink and white snap dragons and peach blossoms. The five bridge tables were placed in the dining room and living room which were arranged with silver baskets and vases of white lilies, spirea and yellow jonquills. The dining table was covered with a lace piece and centered with a huge silver bowl of white lilies and jonquills, with small silver bowls of the same flowers on each end of the table, with silver candle sticks holding yellow tapers. The guests found their places with the most attractive hand-painted place cards in Easter designs. Mrs. Gardner was presented with a pair of Dresden figurines. Mrs. Livy Hunter won high score and was presented with a heart shaped satin box of candy, with a bunch of violets on top. Mrs. William McCord won low score and was given a small box of candy in the same design. The most attractive Easter favors were given, little high topped Easter bonnets. Mrs. Riley was assisted by her mother, Mrs. J. L. Webb, J. A. Darwin and Miss Stella Murchison in serving two delightful courses of refreshments, emphasizing the color scheme of white, yellow and green of the decorations. The hints were in yellow, embossed with white and green lilies of the valley. All of the members of the bridge club were present; the only out of town members, being Mrs. Livy Hunter of Spartanburg and Mrs. O. M. Gardner of Raleigh.

AGED VETERANS OF THE COUNTY

Corn Cracker Recalls Some Of The Heroes Of The Sixties And Pay Tributes To Them.

Editor Cleveland Star:
While people differ as to a successful life, let me cast my vote for the thin grey line that constitutes the remaining heroes that followed the varying fortunes of the Stars and Bars of the Southern Confederacy. Many of the bravest of the brave sleep the sleep that knows no waking on the battlefields of Virginia; while the moaning pines chanted their last solemn requiem. As a class they were exponents of gallant courage; and their feats of arms were not excelled by the heroic three hundred at Thermopylae, the charge of the Light Brigade at Balklava, nor the Imperial Guard at Waterloo; where forever set the star of destiny of the imperial Corsican.
But with their gallant achievements following the waning fortunes of Lee and Jackson—their greatest glory was in the victories of peace—when the Bonnie Blue flag was forever furled by the pallbearers of the Lost Cause.
Fields that ran red with blood in April yielded a bountiful harvest in June, and horses that transported the flying artillery to the scene of action in early spring walked in the furrow to produce the fruits of the husbandmen.
The writer has travelled extensively over the south, and was reared in a border state that furnished men for both the Blue and the Grey. With very few exceptions, those heroes of the Confederacy had the dauntless spirit that wrung success from apparent defeat—and to their labors and executive we are indebted for the miracle of the New South. Look at the achievements of the late Julian S. Carr. His spirit of patriotism caused him to leave the state university for the tented field; and from Appomattox he tramped homeward in tattered rags and barefoot. He became a leading captain of industry, helped his unfortunate comrades in distress and misfortune, and scattered the fame and picture of the Durham Bull all over the union.
With a matchless benevolence, he gave of his bounty to every college in the state, to Chapel Hill, and schools of humbler degree; as well as to every church that was in need of assistance. The last time the writer met him, he was financing five or six deserving boys and girls in securing a college education.
Especially in the Carolinas, the miracle of improvement reminds the beholder of the wand of enchantment. Instead of all the whirring spindles and clacking looms being found in Massachusetts, just cast your eyes upon the mills of North and South Carolina. Instead of pointing to Delaware as the home of fine luscious peaches, go with me to the wonderful orchards of Central Georgia and the Sandhills of North Carolina. Instead of telling the pupils of our public schools about the stupendous activity of manufacturing in Lowell, we commend you to High Point, Durham and other places.
For quite a while these old heroes were neglected by a set of parsimonious lawmakers; but now they receive a respectable pension. Now, let every man that wore the grey in Cleveland county be paid this pension. If they endured the privations of camp life and ever faced the enemy, let every fault and foible be forgotten. Simon Peter, a man of lofty physical courage denied His Lord and swore like a seaman. Did he ever falter after baptism of the Holy Spirit at Pentecost? Let the last days of these grand old heroes be their best days; for "taps" will soon sound over their pulseless forms as they are borne to the "City of the dead."
Among the living are, Captain Ed Dixon, Fallston, aged 96; Captain Devaney Parker, aged 92, who lives alternately at Shelby and S. C.; Maj. O. D. Price, Lattimore, aged 85; James C. Elliott, Latti-

At The Theatres

The Webb is featuring the DeMille sensational melodrama "The Goddess Girl" as a headliner today and tomorrow. Says the press sheet describing this latest DeMille effort: "The master of magnificent spectacle creates the most sensational melodrama of all time—DeMille lavishes embellishment with terrific action." Jeanie Macpherson wrote the scenario, and Pathe is the release. Lina Basquette is one of the stars, with Marie Prevost and Eddie Quillan in the cast. It is a thrilling story, set against a background of great elaborateness.

That inimitable screen humanist Jean Hersholt is the headliner in the two-day bill (Monday and Tuesday) at the Princess. "The Younger Generation" is the play—a Fannie Hurst story. Ricardo Cortez is a feature player. It is a human interest drama of love, sacrifice and devotion—a tale of childhood love that surmounts all obstacles and endures great sacrifices to find happiness and the dawn of a new day. It is tense, dramatic, emotional. A play for all who enjoy the theatre.

Auto Deaths On Increase In U. S.

Increase of 7 Per Cent Over 1927 Figures Represented—75 Persons Died Each Day.

Hartford, Conn.—An insurance company, in a statement issued recently, declared that approximately 27,500 persons were killed in motor vehicle accidents last year.

This toll of life is more than seven per cent greater than the number who met death in motor vehicle accidents in 1927. If a similar increase should be reported this year, it would mean the death of nearly 30,000 persons.

One Death To 900 Cars. With approximately twenty-five million motor vehicles registered in the country at the close of last year, a fatality toll of approximately 27,500 means the death of one person for approximately every 900 cars. On an average, also, 75 persons were killed in motor vehicle accidents during each day of last year. In 1927 the total number of persons killed in motor vehicle accidents was 25,533.

Manager Scott Off Youngster Finds

F. E. Scott, manager of the local J. C. Penney Co. store left Saturday for Atlanta, Ga., to attend the annual spring convention of the organization which will open April 1, in the Atlanta Biltmore.
The convention, which is one of fourteen, covering the entire country will be headed by Lew V. Day, director of personnel, chairman; George H. Bushnell, vice president; W. A. Reynolds, sales department, and E. C. Ruffner, district manager will be present from the New York office.

The first two days will be devoted to business sessions in the morning and general conferences between store managers and department managers from the home office in the afternoon.

On Tuesday evening there will be a banquet at the hotel with a short program of inspirational nature followed by the initiation of new managers into the J. C. Penney Co. ranks.

A feature of the business sessions in the morning program of the first two days will be talks by store managers. Three managers will be selected by store managers. Three managers will be selected for each of the fourteen convention points.

Following the business sessions, four days will be devoted to spring buying.

Recent developments in the J. C. Penney company include the acquisition of 117 stores throughout the mid-West and West and the opening of 65 new stores in the general expansion program to include 500 new locations during the present calendar year.

Sales of the J. C. Penney Co. for the year passed, were in excess of $176,000,000 according to Mr. Scott and the quota established for this year is $215,000,000.

Total number of stores now included in the J. C. Penney Co. ranks is 1212 with increases being recorded each month.

Retiring Officer Gives Town Boost

To the Editor of The Star:
I just want to say to the good people of Shelby that I knew only two people here when I came to town as a policeman but in the near two years I have been here I have become acquainted with hundreds and I certainly consider the town a hospitable place to live. I have enjoyed my work as an officer here, and I want to thank the citizens of the town for the many kind acts and courtesies they have extended me.

SHRINERS COMING HERE SATURDAY

Caravan Of Red Fezzed Nobles Will Stop An Hour In Shelby And Stage A Parade.

(Special To The Star.)

Charlotte, April 1.—Oasis temple will put Rutherfordton "on the map" of the mystic shrine next Saturday when a caravan of red-fezzed nobles, led by Lee A. Folger, of this city, potentate, will invade the town to join with the shriners and blue lodge Masons of that section in what will be the most colorful and interesting fraternal event ever held there.

Potentate Folger's caravan will halt en route to spend an hour in Shelby to "put on" a spectacular parade by the uniformed bodies of the temple and to present a concert program by the band.

The motorized caravan will form at 1 P. M. in Charlotte, with the arrival at Shelby scheduled for 3 o'clock. The potentate's announcement, made public here tonight, said "ladies are especially invited to accompany the nobles." All nobles who may receive information in any way concerning the pilgrimage are invited to share the pleasures of the occasion, it was added.

Immediately after arrival, the parade will be held in Rutherfordton. A delegation from that town will meet Potentate Folger at Spindale. After the march through the downtown streets of Rutherfordton, a band concert, an exhibition drill by the patrol, and a program by the Oasis bell ringers will be given in the open air. An interesting feature of the afternoon will be the presentation by Mayor Justice of the "key" to Rutherfordton to Potentate Folger. Reports indicate that key is of large dimensions. A picnic dinner will be served to the Shriners in the early evening.

At 6:45 P. M., the caravan, reinforced by shriners and Masons of that section, will move to Lake Lure, where a ball will be given in the hotel there. Admission will be by Blue Lodge or Shrine membership card.

A motion picture, "An Even Chance," dealing with the problem of the crippled child and produced especially for the Mystic Shrine, will be shown at Rutherfordton in connection with the visit of the Shriners. The Mystic Shrine is operating a great chain of hospitals, the nearest one being at Greenville, S. C. Potentate Folger and members of Oasis Temple's divan are particularly anxious to promote the work of alleviating the suffering of crippled children in this territory. He regards the work as one of the greatest of humanitarian activities, and, like many other leaders in the Mystic Shrine, looks into the future to the time when such a hospital will be located in the territory of every one of the temples of the order.

Cotton Association Opens Essay Contest

The second annual contest in essay writing for North Carolina boys and girls will be held this spring, says Mr. C. C. Horn, district agent. The N. C. Cotton Growers association and the American Cotton Growers exchange will co-operate in offering prizes to the winners.

The subject for the essays will be "Cooperative organizing, standardizing and merchandising." Mr. Horn, district agent, who has an office in the Lineberger building has a lot of folders outlining the rules of the contest and giving the range of prizes in the form of cash, medals, trips, and school awards.
