Flourishing Class At Sunday school
(Special to The Star)
Among the many things of interest in the east Shelby textile community, is the men's Bible class, under auspices of the Methodist Episcopal Sunday school in the Jefferson grade school building.
The class has experienced a phenomenal growth, since its organization about a year ago, until today the enrollment has reached 48.
The class has just recently been christened "Willing Workers," which is indeed a characteristic name for this growing class of men, as is evidenced by the interest and enthusiasm of its constituents.
As an advertisement and an inducement to get others to join the class, the members are to wear a royal blue button pin with the class name inscribed in white lettering.
Ten per cent of the class collections are to be used for class expenses and charitable purposes which will doubtless be the means of helping quite a number of unfortunates to attend the Sunday school.
The following are the present officers of the class:
President, Mr. John Sweezy; Vice-President, Mr. D. F. Taylor; Secretary and Treasurer, Mr. E. L. Miller; Teacher, Rev. Dan S. Hardin.
