Rainfall in February and March Greatest in Quarter of Century.

Raleigh.—North Carolina rainfall during February and March broke precipitation records for more than a quarter of a century. In his summary of March conditions, Lee A. Denson, meteorologist of the Raleigh bureau, pointed out that the total precipitation of these months had not been equalled for the same season of the year since 1903.

temperature for the month was 4.2 degrees above normal, while the precipitation was 1.66 inches above the normal. A wide range of temperature was recorded, from zero at Mount Mitchell on the 10th to 91 at Chadbourn and Lumberton on the 24th. Kingston had the highest average for the month, 59.8, while the lowest was 35.9 at Mount Mitchell.

"Field work was again badly delayed by rain, flooding of streams and wet soil, except in portions of the coastal plain," Denson reported. "The early potato crop was planted about ten days to two weeks late. Truck made good advance near the close of the month after a late start. Strawberries were reported in very good condition. The warm periods brought peaches into full bloom a little earlier than usual, and at the close of the month there had been no temperatures low enough to cause damage. Wheat, oats, rye, clover and pastures made rapid growth, and forest leaves were unusually far advanced."

The rivers went into heavy flood about the beginning of March, and were not entirely within their banks until the middle of the month, the meteorologist said, adding that flood warnings issued by the bureau had resulted in the saving of property worth $40,000.

The state's mean temperature was 54.1 degrees, or 4.2 degrees above the normal determined from the records of 57 stations ten years old or more. Precipitation averaged 5.94 inches, which was 1.66 inches more than the normal as determined from the records of 71 stations.

Although March is traditionally a blustery month, the bureau records showed that there was not as much wind movement as usual last month, although some scattered storm damage was reported on the 7th, 22nd, and 23rd. Estimated damage from the tornado of the 22nd which struck in Mecklenburg, Cabarrus and Randolph counties was placed at $75,000, with one death reported. Storms having the characteristics of a tornado did $35,000 estimated damage in Edgecombe, Pitt, Cumberland and Halifax counties on the 23rd.

INDIGESTION

Taxi Driver Goes Back To Medicine He Had Taken When a Boy to Find Relief.

Nicholasville, Ky.—"Running a taxi is my business, and I am called out at all times, sometimes just before meal time, and this makes my eating as well as my sleeping very irregular," says Mr. Jesse Dickerson, of 502 Central Avenue, this city. "I had indigestion, on account of this irregularity. I would feel very uncomfortable after meals. I would be constipated and have dizziness. I knew I had to take something. I remembered how, when at home before I was married, my mother would give us Black-Draught, and how she believed in it. "So I decided to take it again. It sure did me good. I am glad to let others know what a good laxative Black-Draught is. It clears up a dull headache, and makes me feel like a new person."

Thousands of other men and women find Black-Draught a great help in relieving common ailments, due to indigestion, constipation and biliousness.

Was Entertaining To Party But Not So Much So To Him

New York.—The fabled Spartan boy who carried a fox inside his shirt until the animal had gnawed clear through to his backbone had little on Clifford Rothkoff, 35, an artist.

Rothkoff was giving a party for some friends when he decided to amuse them by stabbing himself with a trick knife. To his consternation, the blade failed to slip back into the handle as expected and he felt cold steel entering his chest.

Rothkoff asked a friend to "take a walk" with him. Outside the house, he summoned a taxicab and collapsed on the way to Bellevue hospital. There he was told he would probably live, as the blade had penetrated no vital organ.

Rothkoff's wife, Leslie, notified from the hospital of her husband's condition after the guests had merrily departed, became hysterical.
