Copeland's HEALTH TALK

Nervous Disease
By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
(United States Senator and former Health Commissioner of New York)

Pain is uncomfortable, almost unbearable at times, no matter where it is you wish you could escape it.
 Pain is uncomfortable, almost unbearable at times. No matter where it is you wish you could escape it.

I recall a roommate of mine in college. He had the earache and walked the floor by the hour. His outburst alternated between childish weeping and vehement profanity.

Not long ago I saw a lady leave the table, her hands clasping the back of her neck. Sudden and violent pain in that region was too much for her.

Talking with the lady afterwards, I learned that she had a mastoid operation some years ago. Since that time she has had occasional attacks of neuralgic pain, attacks like the one I mentioned.

There are two distinct types of ear pain. One is due to actual inflammation, such as my roommate suffered. The blood vessels of the middle ear are filled with blood, actually crowded with blood. Or else there is an accumulation of fluid inside the middle ear. This places such pressure on the delicate nerves as to cause severe pain.

The other type is purely neuralgic in its nature, or it comes from an inflammation in the course of one of the nerves going to the tissues may be out of order.

The pain may not be in the ear itself. It may appear to be located in the bone back of the ear. Or it may be in the back of the neck, as was the case with the lady of whom I spoke.

Repeated attacks of this sort should send the victim to the ear specialist. The purpose of the visit is to make certain exactly what may be the condition of the ear. There will be a sense of relief when this organ is found to be perfectly normal.

I shall assume that there is no trouble there. Then we must conclude the trouble is nervous in origin. It may be a "reflex" trouble. That is, the real source of the disturbance may be quite remote from the ear.

A defective tooth, for instance, an exposed nerve in one of the back teeth, may give little pain in the mouth. The pain may be referred to the ear or the region about it.

I have seen many a case of "earache" disappear instantly. Getting rid of the bad tooth brings relief of the pain.

Disease of the nasal sinuses or of the tonsils may result in such absorption of pus as to poison the nervous system. In such a case there may be earache.

My purpose today is to point out that not every pain in the ear means disease of the ear. When you realize this, you will take pains to have such an examination as will locate the real cause.

Democratic Office Is Established In Capital Of Nation

Permanent Headquarters To Carry On For Party Every Day Of Year.

Washington.—Democratic party leaders, intent upon recovering in the 1930 congressional election some of the ground lost last year, have decided to open permanent headquarters in Washington under the direction of J. P. Shouse of Kansas as chairman of the executive committee.

Formal announcement of this move was made here by John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic national committee, who at the same time said he had succeeded in reducing the party deficit of $1,550,000 to about $800,000, "with every indication of a further reduction to under $500,000 within the next fortnight."

Replying to questions put to him by newspaper correspondents after he had read his formal statement, the national chairman said he had no intention of relinquishing his post and expected to be very active in party affairs.

Chairman Raskob said that after the executive and advisory committees he had reached the conclusion "that the party's interests can be advanced best by the opening of permanent and adequate headquarters in Washington and the conducting of active organization work

365 days in the year."

The chairman's announcement was made after he had held an informal conference with a large number of Democratic senators, including Senator Robinson of Arkansas, floor leader in the senate, and party candidate for the vice presidency in the 1928 elections, and Senator Harrison of Mississippi, who had a prominent part in the last campaign.

Besides, Mr. Shouse, other members of the committee are the chairman himself, former Senator Peter G. Gerry of Rhode Island; Senators Harrison and Pittman of Nevada; Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York and F. J. Hoey of New York.

"Mr. Shouse, as chairman of the executive committee, will be in active contact with members of the national committee and members of congress and in complete charge of relations between state organizations, their chairmen and members," said the Raskob statement.

"Mr. Shouse will devote his entire time to this work. He will call upon national committeemen and national committee-women and party leaders both in congress and in the several states for advice and counsel, and will ask them to contribute their effort and thought that will best promote the party's interests. He will surround himself with a competent staff for organization, publicity and research work.

"Office space will be provided for as well as state chairmen and other Democratic officials visiting Washington. Everything will be done to build a strong, countryside Democratic organization that will be a virgil going institution functioning at all times in the interest of Democratic policies and doctrines as set forth by such great Democrats as Thomas Jefferson, Andrew Jackson and Woodrow Wilson.

"Children Are Being Eaten."

Greensboro News.

China's civilization is the oldest, and Kansu, along the frontiers of Thibet, was referred to in a Peking cablegram published yesterday as "the ancient outpost of Chinese civilization." Here it is that the inhabitants have been raided by men of wrath from other regions who have consumed or destroyed all the food stuff they could find.

Therefore, and on account of bad harvests, an observer reports, 80 per cent of the people are foodless and without seed for planting. Children are being eaten in many districts; many children are afraid to venture out of doors, by day or by night, lest they be carried off and devoured.

This in the "ancient outpost of civilization," in Anno Domini 1929. On the same earth on which North Carolinians dwell; under the same benign sun which gives them light and life.

Famine and misery in remote parts of that vast portion of the earth's surface we call China constitute an old, familiar story. The words that tell it have little meaning to us. But at least every one must comprehend that the worst distress of all the ages, that mankind has suffered in his struggle to conquer environment, now remaining anywhere are there. Not in darkest Africa, where there has never been any civilization except such as infiltrated from the borders, was set up by invaders from other continents; not in the jungles of South America, still half savage; but in the region of civilization's birth.
