Copeland's HEALTH TALK

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D. (United States Senator and former Health Commissioner of New York)

One of the most common lot human afflictions is sore throat. Many persons cannot get wet feet or expose themselves to the weather without an attack.

DR. COPELAND

I doubt exceedingly if climatic and weather conditions are tremendously important factors in the development of sore throat. There are other causes which must not be overlooked.

stances we are merely suffering the effects of our own misdeeds. Aches and pains are sent by Mother Nature as a reminder that we need to reform.

Finds Us Cute But Not Always Smart

But Our Educational System Is The Envy Of The World, Says Dr. Briffault.

Dr. Robert Briffault, eminent British anthropologist, who has just finished a course of lectures at Dartmouth college, in making observations on America says that the country is eternally young and adds that he considers that a questionable compliment.

However, Dr. Briffault says that the educational system of this country is the envy of the world and points to a culture most gratifying to envisage. He has made short visits to the larger Eastern colleges and a few in the Middle West, all of which he pronounces excellent.

"The college men of this country are much more in earnest than they are in England," said Dr. Briffault, who has been stopping at the Hotel Pennsylvania. "In my country it is considered bad form to be too keen on anything but sports. The scholarships offered here have done much to stimulate interest in culture, and the eagerness of all the young college men here to learn is really very inspiring."

"I have heard some criticism of the fraternity spirit here, but I consider it very good. It will certainly win over the old tendency to mold the educational system on the Oxford policies, which are deadly and are an unfortunate relic of the Middle Ages. The self-governing body is fighting the old ossified traditions, which are surely not suited to America. Less classical study is better for a country so young. Of course, I consider that some classical study is necessary, but this country needs a blending of both."

"While the educational system of this country is the envy of the world you need it all, for by education only can you combat the many elements here that are making away from culture. I have not ceased to be amazed at the completeness of even the small colleges here. For example at Dartmouth there is the finest library that I have seen anywhere. It is perfect in its arrangements and, contrary to the usual rule, the students are allowed to smoke there, a little point in comfort that is very important. Of course, I think it is something of a mistake to have a college in such a wilderness as Dartmouth is, for the students have no relief from their studies. It would be better if they were nearer a large town, in my opinion."

"I have been amazed to find New York city so far ahead of the rest of the country I have visited. It is quite a hundred years further advanced than the Middle West. Out there I found the people really religious and sex, for example, and their pruderies astounded me. They discussed with great seriousness subjects that were long ago outgrown in England. I was so interested in their point of view that I never once lost my temper."

"The American women, too, have amazed me. I had been told that the American women are more advanced than the English women. I have not found that to be the case. Of course, there are brilliant exceptions, but for the most part the women are self-conscious and timid. Invariably at a gathering the women and the men group themselves separately and discuss entirely different subjects. They appear to have little in common. And it is not true that the women rule the home and the men. The old Puritanical traditions still prevail and men have the better of it. "I am not too favorably impressed by the American business woman. She may in the future be able to work out her problems, and I realize that her entrance into business is an economic necessity, but just now it is an unattractive situation. Ultimately women want to have a home."

Child Bride Aids Her Jailed Hubby

York, S. C.—Mrs. Adam D. Tippet, pretty and petite young high school girl of Salisbury, whose husband is in jail here on a charge that he enticed her to come with him from Salisbury to Probate Judge George Preston Smith here for marriage, knowing that she was under sixteen, is going to stick by her youthful husband, despite her dad's ire.

The young woman came to town Monday and went to the jail to see her husband when she gave assurance that she loved him more than she did pa and ma and all the rest. Then she set about getting a lawyer for her man and she expects that he will be free in a day or two on bond.

Tippet said that although he and his wife had appealed to her father to be reasonable and give them the parental blessing, the father a railroad conductor of Salisbury, had been deaf to their appeals and was still determined to prosecute him to the full extent of the law.

However, he was not inclined to worry a lot since the visit of his pretty young wife and her assurance that she was sticking to him. VANDERBURG NOT HERO IN GASTONIA

Report of His Being Honor Guest At Banquet Was Untrue.

Gastonia.—Gastonia people were mortified at reports that Jake Vanderburg, 17-year-old boy who was found not guilty of the murder of five members of his family, was to be the guest of honor at the annual junior-senior banquet of the Gastonia high school. The story had absolutely no foundation, in fact, and called forth vehement denials by the school officials, teachers, students and those in charge of the banquet. Traced down, it was found that, following Jake's release, an old school mate of his in the local high school, himself but recently back home from a hospital for the treatment of nervous disorders, had been overheard talking about the banquet.

Vanderburg is no hero in Gastonia, though numbers of women, displaying a maudlin sentimentality that disgusted the general public, were seen during the week to bring him flowers, candy and other dainties to the court room. Information obtained from his at-

First Trial of Black-Draught Convincing, Says Lady, Who Escaped Suffering By Taking It.

Jackson, Miss.—"My first experience with Black-Draught convinced me that it was a good medicine, says Mrs. Ida Kersh, 311 South Congress Street, this city, who says she has taken Black-Draught for years. "My trouble," writes Mrs. Kersh, "was sick headache which seemed to be caused by constipation. I used to have a thick, slimy taste in my mouth, and such a tired, bad feeling. This would be followed by headache and sick stomach. I would have to stop my work and go to bed. I read about Black-Draught and decided to try it. I found that by taking the Black-Draught in time I could ward off these sick spells. "And so for the last twenty years when I feel the least bit bad, I take Black-Draught and feel that it has saved me much pain and sickness. Constipation damps up poisons in the bowels, where they are absorbed into the general system, causing many serious symptoms. Now is the time to fix up your MODEL T FORD

RIGHT now, after winter lay-ups and winter driving, is the time to go over your Model T and find out just what it needs in the way of replacement parts and adjustments. For a very small cost, you may be able to protect and maintain your investment in the car and get thousands of miles of additional service.

To help you get the fullest use from your car, the Ford Motor Company is still devoting a considerable portion of its plants to the manufacture of Model T parts and will continue to do so as long as they are needed by Ford owners.

These parts are quickly available through Ford dealers in every section of the country. Note the low prices in the partial list given below:

Table listing various car parts and their prices, including items like Filter and oil, Connecting rod, Camshaft, etc.

These prices are for parts only, but the charge for labor is equally low. It is billed at a flat rate so you may know in advance what the job will cost.
