

Nobody's Business

GEE McGEE—
(Exclusive in The Star in this section.)

Madame Bidanski of Moscow has invented a lip-stick-paint that can't be kissed off, nor does it leave an imprint on the lucky guy's jaws. This stuff is selling like hot-cakes in co-ed colleges and dance halls.

Mr. Sinclair is planning to be away from home for about 60 days. Mr. Dohenny and Mr. Fall will not accompany him as was expected about a year ago. Mr. Fall's health gets so bad when he approaches a court house, the doctors think best for him to stay around home and look after his oil-farm.

The cost of food at retail declined one-tenth of one per cent during March. That means that out of every dollar a man made during that month, the installment agent got one cent more than during the previous month. The treasury department reports that there are $4,567,995,000 on deposit in savings accounts in the United States. Nearly all of that of course is being laid aside to make the "down payment."

Uncle Joe went to see the doctor the other day about Aunt Minervy. The doctor asked him what her symptoms were, and Uncle Joe said: "Well, she got up this morning at her regular time, about 4 o'clock. She woke me up crawling over me, but I soon went back to sleep. She cooked breakfast, milked the cows, cut enough stove wood to cook dinner with, done the week's washing and hung out the clothes, got the youngsters off to school, worked a little in the garden, and when she came in the house to put on the turnip greens, she commenced to complain about being tired and worn out. She ain't never done that before, and I want some medicine for her. I am kinder on-easy." What Aunt Minervy needed was a dose of strychnine for Uncle Joe, but the doctor sent her calomel.

Farm Relief is practically upon us at last, Gloy-Be! We are sure to get 30 cents for cotton in the south and pay the west 3 dollars a bushel for wheat, and our sweet potatoes will fetch us around 4 dollars for 4 pecks, and we will get all the oats we want from Missouri at 2 dollars a bushel, and just as soon as we sell our cotton seed for 75 dollars a ton, we can have Iowa ship us some corn at 2 dollars and 96 cents per bushel. Hurrah for that, Farm Board Hoover is fixing to appoint.

We took 2 old hens off yesterday. (Don't that sound country though?) Well, that's what we did. One of the Buff-Orpington brutes stepped on 2 of her off-spring before she got limbered up for scratching, and now she has only 1 to fetch up. The other fowl of pedigree fame seems to be taking better care of her 2 biddies. At the rate I am "raising my own," the liver of a half-grown pullet will cost me between 5 and 4 dollars.

Cotton Letter.
New York, May 8.—Liverpool was weak about 12 o'clock, and Chicago was in the same boat. The bulls were trying to hedge their goat. The discount rate jumped to a new high, and it smelt like rain in the south. The straddlers were mopping their face on the sky, and looked powerful down in the mouth. The longs and the shorts were running around, and bellowing for the ticker to stop. But the boll weevils were roosting all over the ground, getting ready to eat up the crop. Prices may go lower for a day or two, but a long hold is the thing that will pay. But there ain't no telling what the market will do, so plow on, dear brother, and pray.

The size of a man's head doesn't spell anything. I have seen small men with the big head, and they were the only folks in the neighborhood that didn't know that a vacuum within kept alive the imagination without. Give me a little head and a big bank account, and I'll "fly high." It doesn't take brains to get into society.

Hiding a viper among the flowers of a bouquet, a divorced wife in Genoa, Switzerland, attempted to kill her rival. She sent the bouquet anonymously. When the second wife opened the package the snake fell out dead, having perished of cold during transit.

And consider whether this fellow was wise or otherwise. When a friend of ours told us that he had just burned a hundred dollar bill, we remarked that he must be a millionaire. Well, it is easier to burn them than it is to pay them," he said with a grin.

It doesn't take a hundred dollar bill to enable you to realize the advantages of SINCLAIR GAS and OPALINE OIL superiority. That's one feature of Sinclair products; nominal cost for quality that is always greater.

The Mexican rebels carry their wives along with them when they go to war. That assures them of plenty fighting experience both before and after the battles. In a recent skirmish which lasted 10 hours, 2 men got slightly injured, and the frying pan was shot out of a woman's hand. Some war!

I am not an old man, but I can remember when over 99 per cent of the stockings bought by women cost 10 cents, or 3 pairs for a quarter, and 100 per cent of them were black. The only time a man ever saw a pair of those stockings after they left the store was when they were hanging on the clothes line. Gosh, them long dresses were a sin and a shame, and now, after I am at the foot of the dotage ladder, beauty is found from the knees down instead of from the chin up.

A crack passenger train out in Alabama jumped the track the other day, and both of its passengers were badly shaken up. Folks are in too big a hurry during this period of instalment buying to be riding on a fast mail when they can ride with a faster male for nothing.

THIEVES GET HAMS IN TOLUCA SECTION

Raid Community Smoke Houses. Memorial At Laurel Hill, Mr. Sain Returns Home.

(Special to The Star.)
May 8.—We sure are having a lot of rain in this community now. The farmers are getting the blues about planting.

Thieves visited this and other communities last Sunday night. They took six big hams from the smoke house of Claude Dixon also five from another one. One from Walter Sain and two from Horace Sain. They also took several bushels of corn from A. C. Costner's crib, also twisted the lock from the chicken house of Carme Boyles but were driven away by a bulldog without any chickens; also some time back some one took an old setting hen, eggs and all from Mrs. S. T. Carpenter.

Memorial services will be held at Laurel Hill on next Sunday May 12. Preaching at eleven by Rev. J. M. Morgan the pastor.

A lot of people from this community are attending the commencement at Belwood now in progress.

Mr. A. A. Sain who has been in the Shelby hospital for the past several weeks with stomach trouble returned to his home last Friday. He has a nurse to stay with him. He is getting along very well.

GARDNER URGES STUDENTS TO REMAIN WITH STATE

Raleigh.—In a brief address at a luncheon given in his honor at State college by the Reserve Officers Training Corps officers, Governor O. Max Gardner urged the institution's graduates to remain within the state rather than seek positions in other commonwealths. The governor, the budget advisory commission, Josephus Daniels and Colonel J. W. Harrelson, were guests of Major C. C. Early, regimental commander.
