WOOD GOAT PLAN STARTS INTEREST

Kinston.—"Dear sir: Please get me a job keeping the state's goats." That was the burden of a letter received by D. Eugene Wood here today. It was from a man in a mountain county. It was "one of innumerable letters" received by Wood since he proposed some months ago that the state purchase 10,000 goats and distribute them through the swamps and woods of the eastern counties. There have been letters ridiculing and praising his scheme. There have been letters offering to sell him goats. There have been numerous letters asking that he get the writers jobs "looking after the goats." Wood suggested that the state buy the goats for the following reasons: "Breeding places of reptiles and insects, including mosquitoes, would be eradicated," he declared. To provide a new game supply. "A wild goat is as nimble as a deer," he said. "Sportsmen would come here from all over the United States to hunt the billies; of course we would have to protect the nannies." Goats propagate rapidly. "In five years there would be 50,000 goats in the lowlands. They would be wild as bucks but efficient as lawn mowers in trimming up the waste places in the countryside. Eastern Carolina would look as neat and clean as rural England with the goats doing their stuff," according to Wood. "I laid the proposition before legislators. I told them the cost would not exceed $10,000. The legislature laughed at the plan, then proceeded to pass a lot of measures a darned sight more foolish."

Persons here and there got the idea Wood had been appointed chairman of the "state goat commission." He has been addressed as "Goat Commissioner Wood" and "Hon. D. Eugene Wood, commissioner of goats." A Guilford county man has asked for a place on the "state goat patrol." One in Perquimans wrote: "I know goats' habits well and do not object to the odor." A New Hanover resident stated: "I feel that I am well qualified and have a wife and seven children." One in Greene county said "You are the d—dest fool I ever heard of. If the state buys these fool goats and they eat my tobacco plants I shall stick tacks in your tires." "I believe you are a public benefactor," wrote an individual in Pamlico. "I hope you get the goats and all the kids will be billies."

WEAK AND THIN

Virginia Lady Was Just Dragging Around. Health Improved Steadily After She Took Cardui. Bristol, Va.—"I was just about down in bed and so weak I was past going," writes Mrs. Jennie Goodman, of 718 Portsmouth Avenue, this city. Mrs. Goodman says her family was very uneasy about her condition, as she seemed so weak and thin. "I ached all over," she explains, "and my back and sides hurt most of the time. "I dragged around, and did not see a day of good health. "I went to call on one of my neighbors, and she remarked about my looking so bad. She told me to get a bottle of Cardui and take it. Next Saturday night, my husband brought it home to me. "Before I had taken Cardui a week, I was feeling much better. I continued taking it for awhile, as my health kept on improving. "I gained in weight, and soon was feeling like a new person. Since then I have taken Cardui several times, and it has always done me good. I can recommend it to others." Cardui has been in use so long that its merit has been proved by the experience of several generations of women. A purely vegetable, medicinal tonic. For sale by all druggists. NC-204

"Mussolini Hoover."

Washington.—"Mussolini Hoover" was the title bestowed upon the president in the senate by Senator Eliease, Democrat, South Carolina. "He wants to be president and he wants to be the house and the senate," Eliease declared. "He appointed a cabinet, most of whose members nobody ever heard of. He wanted them to come to the White House and get their orders and not have any opinions of their own. "Hoover is to this country what Mussolini is to Italy," Eliease shouted. "Mussolini Hoover" is what he is.

Winston Runaway Coming Home Now

Mobile, Ala.—Seventeen-year-old Rommie Simmons, of Winston-Salem, today was preparing to return to the home he ran away from over a year ago and to his parents with whom he had not communicated for the same length of time until last night. The lad was located here yesterday after his picture, supplied by the Associated Press news photo service, had been published in newspapers. The Rev. Robert G. Whitt, chaplain of the Seaman's Church Institute, identified the boy by the picture and notified his father. The latter then communicated with his son. In the time since he left home, Rommie has followed the diverse occupations of circus employee, seafarer and worker in the oyster industry along the Southern coast. He said he left home to satisfy an ambition to see the world. No herb is free of pests, Mr. Hoover.—Bethlehem Globe.
