Colored Babe Ruth Plays Here Friday

Norris Parris, husky colored youth of Shelby, will attract quite a number of baseball fans, white and black, to the city park here Friday afternoon when the Shelby colored team, managed by Bob Rogers, plays Hendersonville. In a recent game here Parris smacked two home runs in the city park, both going over the fence near the "tin can" gymnasium in center field, and that, to use a diamond term, is some hitting. In the six games the colored team has played this they have lost only once.

Princess Theatre SPECIAL

GEORGE JESSEL IN

"LUCKY BOY" Thursday and Friday

George Jessel is a famous Vaudeville Star, and this picture is of a vaudeville-musical comedy variety, light, diverting, filled with catchy musical and singing numbers—one of the best feature pictures ever shown at the Princess.

"LUCKY BOY" was given a pre-showing at the Princess Wednesday morning, and it measured up to every expectation of a great Tiffany-Stahl special. The voices over the Vitaphone were crystal clear, every word spoken, and every note sung, being distinctly audible over the entire theatre.

The management especially recommends this picture for all those who like lighter musical, witty, peppy entertainment.

"MOTHERS KNOW BEST"

SECOND AND LAST SHOWING AT THE PRINCESS

— TODAY —

This is a silent picture, and one of the best procurable. It has been boosted throughout the length and breadth of the land, as one of 1929's stellar productions.

It was written by Edna Ferber, author of "Show Boat," and such stars as Madge Bellamy, Louise Dresser and Barry Norton take the leading roles.

Ask one of the big audience that saw it last night. Everyone said it is a fine, fine picture.
