

Lawdale Outfit Wins Another Game

(Special to The Star.)
Despite the absence of Lawdale's efficient first baseman, Johnny Whisman, Lawdale won their ninth game out of eleven played, over Cherryville at Cherryville Saturday afternoon by a score of 5 to 4. The game was rather exciting and interesting from start to finish. Warlick, Lawdale's young local pitcher, who made the varsity at High Point college this past year on the pitching staff, played a wonderful game for Lawdale. He also showed that he could bat by getting three hits. Henry, Champion, the pride of the team, also knocked out a three banger. Hendrick of Cherryville showed his spectators many spectacular plays. Lawdale received eight hits off of Ballard while Cherryville only received six off of Warlick. Ballard struck out 10 men and Warlick nine. Lawdale expects to have another fast game Saturday afternoon on the local Piedmont grounds with Henrietta.

At The Theatres

The Princess is showing two top-notchers as a mid-week bill, offering again today, "Mother Knows Best," with George Jessel in "Lucky Boy" coming Thursday and Friday. "Mother Knows Best," a story by Edna Ferber, author of "Show Boat," starring Madge Bellamy, Louise Dresser and Barry Norton, is one of the very best pictures on the screen today. It is life in its realer aspects, dramatically and appealingly played.

George Jessel is appearing a sort of musical comedy-vaudeville production, light, vivacious and entirely engaging. This is the sort of picture that everyone likes—real entertainment. "Seven Footprints to Satan" is the Webb bill today, showing with two of the ever popular Vitaphone acts, Douglas Fairbanks in "The Iron Mask," this time with voice and sound is advertised as the special for tomorrow. This picture has been shown previously at the Webb, but as a silent drama. This time it comes with all the glamor lent by the Vitaphone. And with this feature added, it is said to be a hummer. The picture today "Seven Footprints to Satan" is a mystery yarn, with Thelma Todd in the stellar role. It will prove to be corking good summer entertainment.

Miss Billie Harrison left Sunday for Raleigh and from there she goes to Duke university to attend summer school.

Miss Carrie Babington left last night for Charlotte to join her brother-in-law, Mr. J. C. Bundy and daughter, Miss Virginia, for a motor trip through the Shenandoah valley and a visit to different points in New Jersey.

Raskob Not To Quit As Party Leader

such a course ultimately might "well result in revolution." Mr. Shouse served notice that party headquarters here would refuse to be concerned over candidacies, assailed the pending tariff bill as "reprehensible," denied the democratic party was a free trade party, and told his fellow party men that he would await the operation of the new farm relief bill before attempting to criticize it.

In speaking of concentration of authority, Mr. Raskob said the tendency of the republicans would result in the establishment of "a power so colossal as to be unwieldy and incapable of administration."

"The lack of respect for such a government," he added, "and the tyranny under which our people will have to live in consequence thereof, may well result in a revolution which will divide this county into two or three republics and our prosperity will then suffer the ill which the countries of Europe have suffered through jealousies, lack of trust, standing armies, etc., for countless generations."

As a result of the freedom secured for us by our forefathers through declaring their independence from living in tyranny, through shedding their blood in the Revolutionary war and through setting up a new government, the people of the United States have enjoyed life liberty and the pursuit of happiness to a degree unheard of in the history of the world. But we have reached the cross road and in my opinion there has never been a time in the history of our country when the states and the nation more needed the unselfish, intelligent thought and interest of its citizens than now.

Party Faces Job.

"To awake this interest and educate our people to the dangers of losing our freedom and liberty is the job of the democratic party. No finer example of patriotism and unselfish devotion to a cause can be cited than the life of Jouett Shouse and the great thing he has done in coming down here to Washington and agreeing to devote his entire time and energies to the building of that kind of an organization necessary to protect and preserve our party, thus preserve our government and the liberties and freedom which it guarantees."

In outlining what it is proposed to do in organizing the party for the forthcoming congressional campaign Mr. Shouse said it was the party's duty and responsibility to try to build up an "effective fighting force to turn over to those who will direct the next campaign."

"The most unwise, the most destructive action that could be taken would be to lend, even to the slightest degree, any part of the influence or help or encouragement of national headquarters to the candidacy of any of the various men who may aspire to the next presidential nomination," he said.

"I can not too definitely impress upon you my earnestness in making this statement. I know that Mr.

Raskob feels exactly as I do, and I call upon you and upon democrats everywhere not to embarrass the national headquarters in the constructive work which it will attempt to do by trying even remotely to relate it or its efforts to the plan for a nomination, no matter who may be the man concerned or how outstanding his qualifications."

Lauds Raskob.

Paying tribute to Mr. Raskob, Mr. Shouse said he could state positively "that without ulterior motive, without selfish design of personal ambition, without reference to the candidacy of any man for any office, but solely with a desire to be of service to his country through the instrumentality of the democratic party, he has put into effect the idea of permanent, working, constructive organization."
