Lifer Sees World For His First Time In Just 53 Years

Solitary Confinement Is Temporarily Broken By Transfer Many Changes Take Place

Fifty-three years ago, a boy of seventeen, who had murdered children even younger than himself, entered the Charleston State prison to expiate his crimes by a life of solitary confinement.

Today, Jesse H. Pomeroy, now a grizzled man of seventy-one, was taken from behind the grim walls that had been his home to the state farm at Bridgewater, Mass.

Pomeroy arrived in an automobile, the first ride he had ever taken in a motor vehicle. During the trip his eyes were held wide by wonder and his tongue was almost speechless as he realized that what speed a modern world, hidden from him by prison walls, had moved in fifty-three years.

Massachusetts' historic "lifer" was disappointed at the scarcity of horses on the highways. He saw but one from the time he left Boston until he arrived at the outskirts of Bridgewater. At the state farm he faced one of his greatest surprises. There, tractors have all but displaced horses, and a lengthy explanation was necessary before he was able to understand the use of those machines.

Near Brockton the two automobiles bearing Pomeroy and five other long term prisoners paused long enough at an airport for Pomeroy to witness for the first time the take-off of an airplane. He was so amazed he was unable to question his guards.

The French have reluctantly ratified the debt agreement. This does not mean, however, that they will ever forgive us for lending them the money. New York.

IF YOU WANT TO SEE a lot of facts in a few words don't overlook this one. A teacher was explaining to her class that the word "collision" means that when two things came together unexpectedly, and asked little Johnny to give her an example of "collision." "Twins" he exclaimed smilingly.

We'd like to have you "collide" with our products. It will amaze you to realize the extra power and mileage Sinclair gas places at your command. What's more, Sinclair gas and Opaline oil gives smoother operation and eliminates the usual carbon trouble caused by inferior gas.

Mostly I was afflicted with bad spells of backache. At times I felt as if my back would break. I would drag one foot after the other, in a helpless sort of a way, and once I got down in bed. My husband urged me to take Cardui, and I soon found what a fine medicine it really was.

"When my second child was little, I was in very bad health. I did not pick up as I should have. I do not believe that I would have come through, but for Cardui."

Senator Simmons And Next Primary In North Carolina

Rocky Mt. Telegram. Had Colonel Watts lived North Carolina would never have fallen into sad error of the recent campaign, said an associate and admirer of the late leader. Colonel Watts intended to advance a favorite son and to get North Carolina solidly behind the man. He was not expected to have a show and he would never have lasted for long in the convention. But such a plan would have forced Hull Democrats into line. The state would have been carried for Smith. That is one view.

But in many circles, Senator Simmons, the aged proponent of stand-pat Democracy who jumped his party after the convention is regarded as little less than a traitor to his party. Many of the Democrats who have marched to the polls for Simmons in the past openly declare they will either fail to vote or will vote the Republican ticket. Chief Justice Stacey of the North Carolina supreme court, is mentioned, quite unofficially, as the one man who can beat Simmons in the primary. The prospect is that he will not run for the office Josiah Williams Bailey is another possibility to oppose Simmons.

The Republican party in North Carolina would prefer that Simmons wins in the primary without difficulty, one observer thinks. The party would then utilize the disgruntled Democratic vote, and the floating vote to achieve a Republican victory. On the other hand, others are saying that the Republican party would prefer to see Simmons lose in the primary and run on an independent ticket, thus splitting the Democratic vote.

Senator Simmons will be very hard to beat if he chooses to run. Not because of his value as a senator or what he has done in behalf of the state, but for the whip handle. It is whispered that McLean would be glad if Simmons were to be re-elected. The senator could hardly finish out his term and McLean would be ready to succeed him to office. We expect the next primary to contain as much bitterness as any campaign in a number of years and regardless of its logic, the DePrie episode will play an important part in the campaigning.

The Rough Stuff. Los Angeles Times. The house of commons must be getting quite common. Anyhow, some of the members are forgetting that Lady Astor is a lady and coarsely resent her interruptions. Even the presiding officer told her to keep still. Half a dozen members told her to shut up and one labor leader added the statement: "I tell her straight to her face that I am a better man drunk than she is sober." This seemed to be a statement that called for neither answer nor denial. Nancy admits that she is a lady and no gentleman.
