Around Our TOWN Shelby SIDELIGHTS

By RENN DRUM

NOW THAT SHELBY HAS DECIDED THAT ALL FOUR SIDES OF the county court house are front sides, the photographer who wanted to make a picture of the "front side" is gone.

Anyway, that photographer started a bigger argument than any other photo maker ever to visit town. He has that to put in his record book. Still everybody isn't satisfied in the matter, and contemporary newspapers are making their quips about Shelby's big controversy. Well, as for that, this front-side argument is not half so dangerous as some other arguments going on in North Carolina.

THEY'RE TELLING A GOOD one over at McNeely's ladies shop, although it is a bit mysterious. The other afternoon, at a period when business was not rushing as is the usual case on long summer afternoons, Mr. McNeely and some of his clerks were seated about the store when in walked a gent, apparently knowing just where he was going, and why. He strode back through the store until he was near the center of the display room. Then he wheeled to the right and started walking again. Blam! Squish! "Ouch!" The gentleman walked right into the big mirror in which the sweet things about town peer when they try on the new fall coats or peep to see how long their sun-back goes, or how high the other end comes up.

Apparently he mistook the big mirror for a door, but just where he was going and why; the clerks, who couldn't suppress their giggles, never did learn. As he walked out rubbing his nose bruised in the collision, one of the girls inquired: "Something we can do for you." "No thank you," he replied. "I was just looking for some black shoe polish. Wonder if the heat does things like that to a fellow?"

SCATTERED THOUGHTS: So, Ruth Elder has been taken into Camp—but for how long? . . . Somehow it seems as if a line or two must have been left out of that news story about the rural policeman and textile worker killing each other near Charlotte—it doesn't read just right. . . . With many other men following his lead of pajama wearing on the street W. O. Saunders may next appear in public clad in his Bee Vee Dees. Several of the Shelby ex-service men down to Raleigh for the Legion convention saw the portly Elizabeth City editor strolling about in his pajamas.

"DOC" DORTON IS ALL PEPPED up, more than is his habit, over the county fair the last week of this month. And he contends that before the opening day is over the thousands in attendance will be just as excited as he is. He's promising to spring something new, several somethings, this fall.

Local Public Library Now Has Two Thousand Volumes

An institution which is growing and serving the community in a much larger way than most people realize, is the Shelby public library. Miss Stella Murchison says a complete index is being made of the volumes and she believes when the board meets in annual session, at an early date, she will be able to report that there are 2,000 volumes in the library. Saturday is the largest day at the library when between 80 and 100 books are taken out by people to read.
The following volumes have been received recently:
Scarlet Sister Mary, Black April, The Burning Fountain, Destiny Bay, Son of the Gods, Mamba's Daughters, The Storm House, The Buffer, Meet the Tiger, Rhinestones, The Village Doctor, Glorious Betsy, Lilac Time, My Best Girl, At the South Gate, Joshua's Vision, First Love, Precious Bane, The Tiger of Clond River, The String of Pearls, Love Magic, The Kingdom of Dreams, The Ladder of Polly, Knights Gambit, The Spite Fence, The Story of Hassan, The Party of the Third Part, Lipsticks, Diana Dauntless, Doom's Day, Jim The Conqueror, All Quiet On The Western Front, They Stopped to Polly, The Galaxy, Red Silence.
Books For Boys and Girls:
The Black Hunter, Black Rock, Over the Ocean to Paris, Penrod, Ken Ward in the Jungle, The Missing Chums, The Tower Treasurer, The Last of the Plainsmen, Land of the Free, The Strolling Saint, The War Chief, Tarzan and the Ant Men, The Guest of the Moon Fish, The Secret Stair, The Jade Necklace, Mary Cary, Polly in Alaska, Polly in the Orient, Polly in Egypt, Connie Loring's Ambition, Barbara Hale: A Doctor's Daughter, Gloria: At Boarding School, Gloria: A Girl and Her Dad, Connie Loring's Dilemma; Nancy Brandon's Mystery; Joan's Garden of Adventure, Joan: Just Girl, Barbara Hale and Coquette, Nancy Bradon, Cleo's Conquest, Cleo's Misty Rain Bow, A Little Son of Sunshine, Six Little Bunkers in 12 volumes, Bunny Brown and His Sister Sue in 17 volumes, Pi the Yellow Pup Sees the U. Colored Farmers Have First Reunion

The colored farmers of upper Cleveland county enjoyed a lovely afternoon at Cline Grove church Wednesday afternoon. This was the first farmer's reunion to be held in upper Cleveland. Plans are being made to make this an annual picnic. Everyone enjoyed the delicious barbecue sandwiches made by Bee Tendie. Speakers for the day were E. S. Deam of Kings Mountain and Viola Thomas, county supervisor of Shelby. Shelton Feemster and his famous Lawndale Jazz band was on hand and furnished, as usual, good music. Manager of the day S. S. Feemster.

SOUTH CAROLINA Foods And The Goiter Problem

The disease known as goiter is an enlargement of the thyroid gland, due to a deficiency of iodine in the diet. Consequently, one of the most important preventive measures ever undertaken in the interest of health is the effort to obtain foods that naturally contain a sufficient amount of iodine so that when eaten in moderate quantities they will prevent goiter.
South Carolina farms produce food products, vegetables and fruits, high in iodine content. Farms consisting of tracts of 50 to 500 acres may be purchased on attractive terms. For particulars write N. B. Gamble, Box 1318, Columbia, S. C.
