TWINKLES

Shelby and Cleveland county ladies who are preparing the cotton fashion show for the approaching county fair should be interested in this paragraph from the Raleigh News and Observer: "Here's the way to happiness and economy: Mrs. Hull Lawrence, of Alabama, made a hit arrayed in a cotton dress that cost her only 13 cents. This is true dress reform."

TIME TO GET TALKING ABOUT IT

ADMITTEDLY the past success of the Cleveland County Fair has been due to the interest shown by the people of the county, and there is no argument but what the future success of what has come to be the biggest farm event in the Western Carolina depends upon the same thing. Two weeks from today the fair will be in full swing and just how much of a success it will be, and just how many thousands there will be swarming over the gaily decorated tract hundreds of adjoining counties, or our lack of enthusiasm will keep many of them from coming. Here in the county we are prone to take it for granted that our fair is the biggest and best of county fairs in the South, and officials of other fairs almost agree, but if we take the event too much for granted our neighboring counties may lose some of their interest. Let us start our boosting now and keep it going until Tuesday, September 24.

Wherever you go, say something about the fair, and no matter whom you meet, invite them to the event. Tell them what it has been in the past and what it will be this year with the greatest agricultural and educational events ever and with the largest show which plays fairs in America. Say something, too, about all school children being admitted free on the opening day. The free day at the Cleveland fair is now the talk of school tots in four or five counties just as was the coming of the circus in the old days. Boost it!

SELECTING THE NEXT JURY FOR STRIKE TRIAL

NOW THAT the trial of the Gastonia strikers in a Mecklenburg county court, has blown up, it is time for the prosecuting attorneys to give some consideration to their plan of battle for the next trial. It is regrettable that one of the jurors went madly insane and that a mistrial had to be ordered by Judge Barnhill. Everybody has the deepest sympathy for the crazed juror, but in selecting the twelve men, it appears that the attorneys tried to select jurymen who were to least competent to weigh the great bulk of evidence and render a just verdict.

The counsel for the prosecution should change that bill of indictment from murder in the first degree to murder in the second degree and then the matter of selecting a jury will not be such a complicated affair. It was a reflection on our court system when 500 men had to be summoned from which to pick just 12 men to hear the case. By changing the bill of indictment to a less serious offense, the method is much simpler and quicker and bespeaks a jury of intelligence. Certainly the prosecution cannot hope to get a verdict exacting the lives of 13 men who are charged with killing Chief Adderholt. It would appear from the evidence introduced by the state that there was a conspiracy, but it will be impossible to convict beyond a reasonable doubt one or more of the defendants for firing the fatal shot.

The public regard and esteem of our courts. The attorneys who practice in them, will be improved. A better cut can be taken in the selection of the next jury. Both sides will not try to select prejudiced jurors. Those who can be swayed and swerved from justice and right.

ANNOUNCING IN THE DAILIES BEFORE AT HOME

THERE SEEMS to be a fad in Shelby for brides-to-be to announce their approaching marriage in some outside Sunday daily, rather than let their home paper print the good news first. We feel that preference is given the Sunday dailies little thought as to how it belittles the home-town paper. When a girl is to be married, the purpose of publishing the fact is to notify her friends who are of course interested in her matrimony, but on several occasions within the past year, wedding notices have been sent to outside papers where the friends are fewer before such notices were released for publication in The Star. It hurts more than we have said, because we know every bride and groom to be a friend of The Star and they rely on their local paper for other local news.

The Star is always anxious to get news items but it wants to print them first. When news items have appeared elsewhere their value for re-print is minimized. Every enterprising newspaper is anxious to secure and is entitled to print its home news before it is given to an outside paper. When it is denied this privilege, it cannot best serve its community. In the case of weddings, local people have their friends here. They may have friends elsewhere, and often do, but the bulk of their friends and relatives are usually within the circulation radius of the local paper which is in better position to serve the purpose of a news item than any outside daily, regardless of its size. It is the local paper that gives space to the pre-nuptial affairs and to the matrimonial event itself, so what we are claiming in the matter of preference of news is what every paper claims, large and small. And we do so with no unkind feeling toward any person. A Sunday daily has its own immediate field to cover and outside social is given very brief mention compared with what the paper published at the news source will and does give. So the news columns of The Star are always open for first publication of any legitimate news item, but when it is first published elsewhere by a paper circulating in our territory, its value as a news story is depreciated.

New Thomasville Cult To Have No Minister That Has Attended College.

Raleigh.—The "White Horse Gospel, the Faithful Church of Christ, Incorporated," of Thomasville which was issued a state charter yesterday, lists among other requisites for membership that no woman shall have bobbed hair nor wear skirts that do not come within 10 inches of the ground and that no minister shall have attended college.

His Own Measure.

Wag (who thought he'd have a joke at the expense of the provision-dealer): "Can you supply me with a yard of pork?" Butcher (to boy): "Mac, give this gentleman three pigs' feet."

Mount Sinai News Of Late Interest

(Special to The Star.)

Shelby, R-2.—The members of the W. M. U. of Mt. Sinai held a meeting at the home of Mrs. Will Weaver Thursday. A very interesting program was given.

The B. Y. P. U. entertained the people of the community with an ice cream supper given at the school house Saturday evening. Messrs. Miller Ellis, Gordon Ellis and Lebron Rogers furnished delightful music during the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Putnam and little daughter of Lattimore spent Sunday with relatives in this section.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Ellis and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ellis visited Mr. and Mrs. Gaither Ellis Sunday.

Most of the farmers are very busy pulling fodder and picking cotton.

Misses Nora Ellis and Beuna Rollins were visitors at Bolling Springs school Thursday.

Mr. L. C. Putnam has been quite sick during the past few days. We hope for him a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Bridges and family attended the Bridges reunion at Sandy Plains church Sunday.

Mrs. Torrence Bridges with a number of her relatives from this community visited her brother, Mr. Carl Jones who is in the Rutherford hospital, last Thursday. Mr. Jones is suffering severe injuries received in an automobile accident.

Mr. and Mrs. Ector Ledbetter visited Mr. and Mrs. Will Weaver Sunday.

Mrs. Nick Saunders of Rutherford was a visitor in this community Saturday afternoon.

Miss Rheama Clary spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Ellie Clary.

An every-other-day letter from home will be sent to college students away from home for the small price of $1.50.

This gives them The Cleveland Star for less than the price of a two cent postage stamp per copy.

Epidemic.
Doctor—Well, my friend, what seems to be your trouble?
Patient (nervously)—I believe I have caught insomnia, doctor. I cannot sleep a wink until around three o'clock in the morning.
Doctor—Nonsense. Insomnia is not contagious!
Patient—It is in my case, doctor. The baby next door has it!

THE WIND TUNNEL and revolving roadbed, designed to produce, indoors, actual driving conditions as found on the road. On such devices, actual pre-user road tests are made in the "Standard" Proving Laboratories. Only the Bureau of Standards, Washington, D. C., is similarly equipped.

WHICH is another way of saying that the Bureau of Standards in Washington—with its rigorous and complete laboratory tests—is one of the few plants in the United States which are completely equipped to put motor fuels through a college examination. The only other laboratory comparable to that of the Bureau of Standards is maintained by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. Hundreds of thousands of dollars invested here have provided every known scientific and engineering device. They are used to one end:— to make "Standard" improved Gasoline the best you can buy. It is no wonder that there is an overwhelming preference for "Standard." Hundreds of thousands of motorists know that "Standard" is superior on every count—power; starting; maximum mileage. More miles of motoring satisfaction in every gallon. When you buy "Standard" improved Gasoline, you buy a tested, science-perfected, power-giving fuel. You can be sure that if it's "Standard" it's right.
