

Beautiful Girls In Cycling Stunts At Cleveland County Fair Here Next Week

A picturesquely thrilling cycling interlude is offered by the Jean Jackson troupe, which consists of a bevy of beautiful cycling belles and a dapper dandy, who are engaged to appear at the Cleveland county fair next week.

The routine presented by the Jackson troupe is far away from the old fashioned, cut-and-dried tricks usually associated with acts of this description, there is an up-to-the-minute swift moving vehicle, full of original and thrilling feats that are accomplished on every conceivable form of bicycle and unicycle with a vigor and grace that is the personification of perfect artistry.

The Jackson troupe have achieved universal fame, having appeared in every civilized country in the world at various times.

BRITISH FIGHT VOGUE OF HARROW SKIMMERS

Harrow, England.—The straw hat which annual displaces millions of derbies in New York and other American cities, has few friends in England.

Visiting Americans who insist on seeing straws during the summer either bring their own or come to this London suburb where the students of Harrow wear straw hats as part of their school uniform.

And now an old Harrovian is trying to start a movement to banish even these few straws from England. Writing to the school paper he asks:

"Is there any single argument in favor of the ridiculous headgear? I have never heard one, nor can I think of one. Could anyone imagine a hat less suitable for withstanding either the English climate or the onslaught of the even more boisterous English schoolboy?"

"Possibly it may be looked upon as a sort of old tradition, and defended as such. It is not an old tradition. It was not the school headgear 60 years ago, and 60 years is a very short span compared with the age of the school. Let us get rid of the beastly thing before it does become a tradition."

The Harrow straw, it should be explained, is worn with an elastic band under the chin. Young athletes who make the cricket team are permitted to wear distinctive speckled straws.
