BACK YARD CABIN HIS VACATION SPOT

St. Louis.—No long trek to the woods or seashore faces Victor J. Azbe, St. Louis engineer, when he takes his vacation. Azbe merely steps into his backyard.
Only a few steps separate Azbe's city home and his log cabin "country retreat." Both built in the same yard, he has surrounded each with the atmosphere befitting its purpose.

Azbe, who came to this country 22 years ago an uneducated Austrian emigrant youth of 17, started out as a furnace man. Now he is a successful consulting engineer.
He built the cabin originally for seclusion when working on involved engineering reports. Now it's his hobby and he actually does take his vacations in the back yard. When he wants a day or a few hours away from business cares or rush of city life, he steps out to the cabin.

"Azbe fashioned the hermitage—invariably a male domain—with his own hands and equipped it as nearly as possible as such a cabin would have been furnished in early American days.
Vines, trees and shrubbery surround it and the owner has a collection of birds, a family of squirrels and even harbors a snake.
Inside are a stone fireplace, crude tables, a bunk. Kerosene lamps give illumination in place of the electricity used in his "city home."

A Skinny Little Idiot Marries A Young Bum, What?

The following report of a wedding at Fountain Inn, S. C., was written and published by Robert Quillen, a newspaper man in that town.

"Mr. Robert Zelby and Miss Tessie Nella were married at noon Monday, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Nella, Rev. M. L. Gassaway officiating.

"The groom is a popular young bum who hasn't done a lick of work since he got shipped in the middle of his junior year at college. He manages to dress well and keep a supply of spending money because his dad is a soft-hearted old fool who takes up his bad checks instead of letting him go to jail where he belongs.

"The bride is a skinny, fast little idiot about 35 years old who has been kissed and handled by every bum in town since she was 12 years old. She paints like a Sioux Indian, sucks cigarettes in secret, and drinks mean corn liquor when she is out joy-riding in her dad's car at night. She doesn't know how to cook, sew or keep house.

"The house was newly plastered for the wedding and the exterior newly painted, this appropriately carrying out the decorative scheme for the groom was newly plastered, and the bride newly painted.

"The groom wore a rented dinner suit over athletic underwear of imitation silk. His pants were held up by pale suspenders. His number

8 patent leather shoes matched his state in tightness and harmonized nice with the axle greast polish of his hair. In addition to his jag, he carried a pocket knife, a bunch of keys, a dun for the ring and his usual look of imbecility.

"The bride wore some kind of a white thing that left most of her legs sticking out at one end and her boney upper end sticking out at the other.

"The young people will make their home with the bride's parents—which means they will sponge on the old man until he dies and then she will take in washing.
"Postscript: This may be the last issue of the Tribune, but my life's ambition has been to write up one wedding and tell the unvarnished truth. Now that is done, death can have no sting."

A motor car that requires no driver has been invented, according to an English paper. But there should at least be a dual control for occupants of the back seat.

Your Children... is their food safe?

YOU, as a conscientious mother, buy the best food for your children, prepare it with scrupulous care and cook it correctly. But even the best food becomes unsafe to eat unless it is kept at the proper degree of cold, which medical authorities agree should be 50 degrees or less—always.
