

Expurgated Copy Of Bible Issued

London.—An expurgated copy of the Bible was issued today by the National Sunday School Union.

Among the changes of phrase, the invitation to Joseph by Potiphar's wife is translated "His master's wife cast her eyes upon Joseph and tempted him to do evil," and in the story of the Prodigal Son "evil companions" is substituted for "harlots."

St. John's account of Christ's treatment of the woman taken in adultery is omitted.

BENNETTSTOWN DOG IS MOTHER OF 11 PUPPIES

Bennettsville, S. C.—A German police dog, the property of Dr. Clayton H. Dobbs, local chiropractor has given birth to 11 puppies, thereby creating the largest single family of canine in existence in this section so far as it is known.

The mother dog was imported by Dr. Dobbs five years ago. She is registered and has a pedigree containing the best of German shepherd strains.

DAIRY FARMING SHOWN TO BE ON THE INCREASE

"Increasing interest among southern farmers in modern dairying is convincingly shown at all southern fairs," says Dr. Burdette G. Lewis, president of Foremost Dairy Products, Inc., a $6,000,000 dairy organization operating in five southern states.

"The state fairs this year have the largest classes in dairy cattle in the history of the south. Better cattle are being shown and lively contests are being made by an increasingly stronger group of breeders and dairy farmers.

"At the state fair at Louisville, Ky., the largest Jersey classes in the entire history of southern fairs were entered. There were more than 480 head shown. In the Guernsey classes an equally large percentage of increase was noticeable and the same held true of the Holsteins."

Advice To Young People.

I want to tell you a story
Just when I was a little child
Around my mother and home
She loved and cared for me when small
And taught me how to pray;
She taught me how to laugh and
sing;
I thank her for that day.

Her tender hands, oh how soft;
They soothed my cares away.
Her gentle face is wrinkling now,
Her hair is streaked with gray.
My mother is living yet and
To her I have been true.
She still tells me what is best;
Your mother does that for you.

Now my childhood is just past
And I am a mother, too.
I have little ones to teach;
I'm teaching my mother's rule.
Mother taught me to go to church,
To learn the Golden Rule.
I teach my children those same words
And send them away to Sunday school.

So many dear girls and precious
boys
Are grieving their parents today,
Forgetting the love and watchful
care,
Not heeding the words they say.
Somebody's mother is praying each night
For her boy or girl who is out of sight.

Some precious daughter who's mother's old.
Yet don't care for her blessed soul.
She is grieving and pleading,
Her heart is most breaking.
Sometime you'll miss her from this earth below.
Young girls and boys, take a word
of advice
To your good mother attend.
A good mother's prayer you never will forget
When gone, you will have lost your best friend
I never have grieved my mother;
I'll say,
To her I have been true.
It is still fresh to my memory today.
This is my advice to you.

Let us cling to our mother,
For her hair is turning gray.
She will have to leave us soon,
For mothers are passing away.
You may have a mother dead,
Or a friend is very dear.
Did you make them a real promise
That in heaven you would meet them there?

Are you thinking of that judgment,
Of that awful day to come?
When we will stand before our Savior
And be judged of what we have done?

Won't you now decide for Jesus,
Won't you step over the line?
Won't you come out now from sin
Won't you say "Jesus is mine?"

Lawdale.)

BROADSIDE FIRED UPON CIGARETTES

Washington.—Dr. Clarence True Wilson, general secretary, and Mr. Deets Pickett, research secretary of the board of temperance, prohibition and public morals of the Methodist Episcopal church, are launching a drive against cigarettes. They represent the Northern Methodist church and are in conflict with the wing of the southern church represented by the Duke university group at Durham, on this question.

"There are many people who believe that the time has come when congress should consider the propriety of protecting the American home and reserving to American parents the health education of their children by excluding from the radio and the United States mails all cigarette advertising," a joint Wilson-Pickett statement said today. "There is not the slightest doubt that such proposed legislation would receive the support of millions of Americans who have stood about all they can stand, or intend to stand.

"It is not contemplated to deprive the adult users of cigarettes of the opportunity to purchase them. But there is a majority sentiment in at least 300 congressional districts prepared to demand the protection of American childhood from the atrocious assaults being made upon it."

Members of congress see this as the formal opening of the battle against cigarettes. Dr. Wilson and Mr. Pickett pointed out that there has never been a time "when the prejudice against cigarettes was increasing at such a phenomenal rate," as it is now.

PIGS DO NOT ALWAYS EXHIBIT UNCOUTH WAYS

"Hoggishness" and "eating like a pig" are traditional phrases to describe unmannerly greediness and gluttony. Recent experiments in the feeding of pigs suggest that the phrases do not always apply. When pigs are fed by hand they do, in fact, rush in to make sure of their share of the feed. But, put hogs in a pasture and they graze leisurely and in contentment.

If, instead of feeding by hand, the owner installs a self-feeder from which the hogs and pigs may eat and in whatever quantity they desire, they soon lose their gluttonous ways.

WASHINGTON NOT ONE OF WET SPOTS

Commissioner Doran Thinks Prohibition Enforcement Is Satisfactory In Capital.

Washington.—Commissioner Doran of the prohibition bureau took issue with Senator Howell, Republican, of Nebraska, that the national capital is one of the wet spots of the country because dry agents are lax in their activities. The head of the enforcement bureau said the agents were doing as good work in Washington as any place in the country and that conditions here are on a par with those in other parts of the nation.

Commenting on the Nebraska's contention that prohibition could be enforced if insisted on, Doran said he had every confidence in the prohibition officers in the District of Columbia.

"The police department is cooperating energetically with our forces and any investigation into the work of those two organizations will show that they are doing excellent work. The enforcement conditions here are as good as any place in the country."
