Dr. Copeland Gives a Good Health Tip in Advising that the Heart Muscles Be Prepared for the Inevitable Demands of Life's Uncertainties.

> By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D. United States Senator from New York. Former Commissioner of Health, New York City

ANY persons ask about the heart. Perhaps one has been told to avoid violent exercise and emotion, for fear of their bad effects on this organ. Another may have been told to wall: briskly and to stimulate an interest in things, so that the heart will beat more vigorously.

Just how should this vital organ be treated? ow are we to reconcile these conflicting state-

The heart is a mass of muscles. It must beat seventy times, or so, every minute. No matter how quiet you may be, the powerful heart muscles contract strongly every time there is a When you are hurried or excited these contractions are fairly violent.

There is no doubt that for some persons safety demands moderation and caution against those experiences which excite the heart. But for most of us, by all odds the vast majority of us, it is important to train the heart so that it s accustomed to hard work. Reasonable work,

DR COPELAND There arise emergencies when tremendous strain is thrown upon the heart. These emergencies are met in health, and likewise they are met in disease. You may run for the street car, or be told of some frightful accident to one near and dear to you. Without warning there may come a terrible and unprepared for demand upon your heart muscles.

Or you may have some protound filiness, when prolonged overwork is thrown upon the heart. In a disease like pneumonia the high fever and rapid pulse may test the endurance ankles seem stiff and when attempts. f the strongest heart. You never know what demands

You must be ready for whatever may too many sweets and rich foods largely muscle you know that it iust be treated like other muscles if is to grow strong. There must be systematic exercise, during which the heart muscles are made to work harder than they usually do.

The trouble with most persons is that they never take any exercise beyond that demanded by their daily duties. It would be foolish to advise a farmer, a carpenter, a plumber or any other man engaged in active, hard, muscular work to "take exerconstantly.

cise." He would laugh at you.

But a bookkeeper, a manicurist, a stenographer, most clerks and the majority of business men and women do not get physical exercise, or at least brisk physical exercise. They must have it if the body generally. and the heart in particular, are to be kept in prime condition.

You should lay up a reserve of strength in your heart muscles by keeping them fit and strong by vis-orous exercise during a part of the day. This is your duty to yourself. Of course, if you have a weak heart and your doctor advises against such exercises you should follow his advice. But for most of us such vigorous work as I have de-scribed will add strength, and length
