

SUGGESTIONS TO SCHOOL PARENTS

New York Parent-Teachers Instructions Passed To Patrons Of Shelby Schools.

The Parent-Teacher associations of greater New York have set up some suggestions to parents that would be equally valuable in Shelby. I am passing them on to the hope that you will be helped by them. They follow:

Arrange the breakfast and lunch hours so that there is no rushing at home or to school.

Encourage punctuality and regular attendance, not permitting trifles to interfere.

See that the children are dressed simply, neatly, modestly, and suitably in accordance with the weather.

Insist upon children under fourteen having at least ten hours' sleep.

Find out how much time should be devoted to home work and see that it is done.

Provide a quiet place for home study, with good light and ventilation. Prevent interruptions as far as possible.

Show an interest in the children's school work, athletics, and other activities.

Visit the classroom during American education week, and at other times, for a better understanding of conditions.

Do not criticize the teachers or school at all within the children's hearing. Always hear both sides of every question and ask the teacher about it.

Instill in the children habits of obedience and respect for authority.

Picture the school as a nappy, desirable place, rather than as one children should dread.

Keep in mind that the schools offer unlimited opportunities to those who take advantage of them, parents as well as pupils.

Plan to meet other parents in the school. It will help you understand your children better. Mothers should arouse the interest of fathers in the school activities and get their cooperation. If there is a parent-teacher association in your children's school, join it. If there is none, why not form one? Intelligent cooperation brings splendid results to all.

New Fashions Oust Old Flapper Slouch

Paris.—The flapper slouch, sometimes called the caterpillar crawl, is a thing of the past believe clothes creators here.

New styles call for flat backs, chests up and hips firm. The old looping postures, don't give-a-darn slump and who-cares curve of the back and torso "date" every woman who indulges in them, chic couturiers are counseling their clients.

The new stance is a free and supple carriage with shoulders squared but not rigid, hips well under control, head back and chin slightly in the air. The fashionable new walk exposes the curves of the body without exaggerating them. Too much non-chalance is bad for chic now that "ladylike" clothes are the Parisian ideal.

Such a small thing as a coat collar is having a decided influence on improved carriage among women who buy at the most exclusive houses. It trims wrap-around coats but instead of terminating just above the hip to be held in the well-known left handed clutch of the past few seasons, the new collar ends high under the left arm and is gripped by the upper arm.

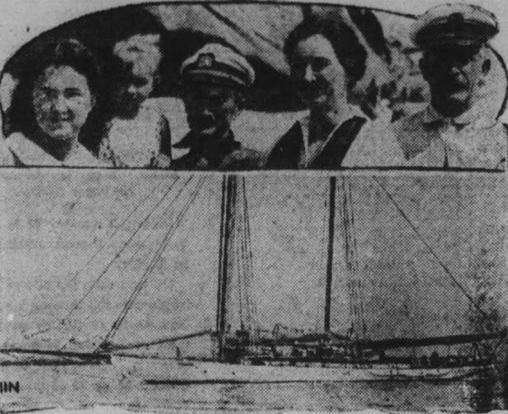

The coat closes well around toward the back, on the left side, thus carrying out the pinnece, body-hugging lines the best designers are promoting. To wear these revealing lines correct carriage is essential.

Another effect of the coats with the new collars is a change in the form of handbags. With the left arm occupied in holding the coat closed it is harder to carry a flat envelope bag under the left arm, its usual place.

Handbags with straps and handles are coming back into vogue as a result, and some designers are making an effort to revive the old reticled type of handbag for afternoon use place.

Romance Still Lurks in South Seas Says California Explorer on Return

After a Two-Year's Cruise in a Sailing Vessel, Harvey S. Bissell and His Family Come Back to Los Angeles with Many Strange Tales of Adventure Off the Beaten Track.

DESPITE reports to the contrary, romance still lurks in the South Seas, according to Harvey S. Bissell, wealthy Los Angeles explorer, who has just returned from a two year's cruise of the land of childlike natives and rainbow sunsets.

Two years ago he and his family (pictured above) left Los Angeles in the schooner yacht "Wanderlust" and sailed westward in search of adventure. They touched at islands fever before visited by white men and in many instances their ship was the first that had been seen by the natives.

Traveling more than 36,000 miles off the beaten track they saw many strange sights and are enthusiastic about the real simplicity and childlike candor of the natives they found in the little islands which lie concealed from the larger and better known groups.

"Romance lurked everywhere," according to Mr. Bissell. "The natives were in the raw, so to speak, and had not succumbed to the vices and diseases brought to the other island tribes by the inroads of the white traders. We hope to return to the South Seas next year."

Girls Dress Well On $15, Test Shows

May Have Seven New Dresses Per Year And Her Paint And Powder Too.

N. Y. World. If a girl makes only $15 a week she still may have seven new dresses a year, and spend $3.30 on cosmetics, the prize winning clothing budgets of the Business Girls Contest showed.

Miss Adeline Evans Leiser, chairman of the competition, announced the winners at the Exposition of Women's Arts and Industries in the Hotel Astor.

A department store information clerk, a clerical worker, a typist, a sales clerk, and a switchboard operator were the first five in the various salary classes, and one of these was grand prize winner. Three hundred and thirty-six girls were entered. The girls making from $15 to $35 spent about a fourth of their earnings on clothes and the average number of dresses for each girl is between eight and nine a year, it was shown. She has two or three coats, four or five hats, five pairs of shoes and eighteen pairs of stockings.

The grand prize winner is Emily N. Bartlett, who the judges believed had everything she needed for a total of $299.89. She had eight dresses, one for afternoon or dinner. She had two and three of each type of underthings, and four pairs of lisle stockings to eight silk ones.

In the $15 to $19 a week class Rose Cohen was winner. She spent $150 for clothes and included seven dresses, with one for evening costing $7.50. Her cosmetics cost her $3.30; her jewelry, 20 cents; two purses, $4; three coats and a sweater, $38.50, and seven pair of shoes, including four pair of patent leather ones, boudoir slippers, overshoes and rubbers for $22.

Helen Harriet Tourner won in the $20 to $24 class. She had twenty pairs of stockings at $1 apiece, six silk dresses for $42; a winter coat costing $50 and four other wraps; three boxes of powder and rouge, for $3.02; jewelry worth $3, and a cleaning bill of $21. Her total was $282.78.

In the Upper Classes. In the $25 to $29 class Margaret F. Weinland spent $288.75 for clothes. Her seven dresses included only one that cost less than $10. She had three of the popular $5 felt hats and fifteen pairs of stockings at $1.65 apiece. Her underwear cost her only $18, but she paid $5 for a handbag, and had three pairs of gloves at $2 apiece. She had three pairs of shoes, suede, patent leather and kid, but they cost $7.50 a pair.

In the highest budget, for girls earning from $30 to $35, Lillian V. Wartman spent $425. She had ten dresses, costing from $29.50, for an evening dress, to summer dresses for about $5. Her winter coat cost her $125, and she had six pairs of shoes, including a pair especially for evening. She had four pairs of gloves for $10, and an umbrella for $5. Her underthings cost her $39.49.

Senator Sheppard, of Texas, one of the ardent Democratic sponsors of Prohibition, offered an amendment in the Senate to make the purchaser of liquor equally liable with the seller. His proposal is believed to have little chance of adoption during this session of Congress.

PUBLIC SHOOTING GROUND IN STATE

35,000 Acre Tract Will Be Made Available For Public Shooting.

Raleigh.—Establishment of the first public shooting ground in state-owned property in North Carolina has been made possible with the passage of a resolution by the state board of public instruction turning over control of Holly Shelter Swamp, Pender county, to the department of conservation and development, Colonel J. W. Harrelson, director has announced.

The 35,000 acre tract will be used as a game refuge and public shooting ground, under plans made by Director Harrelson and State Game Warden C. H. England. The conservation officials propose to reserve a central area of approximately 10,000 acres as a game refuge and to make the remaining 25,000 acres available to the public for shooting grounds. The Hooley Shelter tract is already well stocked with game, according to the conservation officials.

the principle species being deer, wild turkeys, quail and others.

The conservation department plans, according to officials, to begin immediately to lay out the central area where no hunting will be permitted and to designate the area in which the public may take game.

Acquisition of the new refuge brings the number of acres in the state game refuge system well over a quarter of a million. Public shooting grounds surround game refuges on National Forest lands in western North Carolina, but the Holly Shelter refuge is the first to be established on state-owned land. With the new game birds and animals, the new refuge already well stocked with game birds and animals, the most important duty in maintaining the supply, according to officials, will be in protecting the game in the central sanctuary in which hunting will be prohibited.

Compare features

to learn how much more Oakland gives for its price

Oakland has made it easy for you to compare features. In fact, Oakland has made the comparisons itself, tabulating the results in chart form so that you can see at a glance what you get in the Oakland All-American Six as well as what you get in twenty other cars of medium price.

Before you buy any car within $300 of Oakland's price, be sure to come in and see the complete results of these comparisons. And when you have seen them, we will clinch the proof of Oakland superiority with a demonstration—convincing you beyond any question that this is America's finest medium-priced automobile.

Prices, $1145 to $1376, f. o. b. Pontiac, Mich., plus delivery charges. Spring covers and Loveloy Shock Absorbers included in list prices. Bumpers and rear fender guards extra. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

Consider the delivered price as well as the list (f. o. b.) price when comparing automobile values. — Oakland-Pontiac delivered prices include only authorized charges for freight and delivery and the charge for any additional accessories or financing desired.

Only one car as low-priced as Oakland has a wheelbase as long as Oakland's, which is 117 inches. That car requires a turning circle to the left of 43 feet as compared with Oakland's 36 feet. Six higher-priced cars have shorter wheelbases.

Only Oakland and one other car in its field use the fine type of brakes which Oakland employs. And no car in the field equals Oakland's 290 square inches of brake band area. Oakland's separate emergency brake operates on the transmission. Seven cars in the field have no separate emergency brakes, although three of them exceed Oakland in price.
