

Rasblin' Bill Down On Reds And Foreigners; Wants Once To Eat Tar Heel Farm Dinner

Seeks A Revolution In America Because Of Foreigners. Ill Treated, He Says.

Editor of The Star:

Just met an old acquaintance who last year had made a trip through the Southeastern states including North and South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, etc., and who since has been traveling in the north, southwest and midwestern states, and in fact during the last two years he has been in nearly every state in the union and has observed conditions in these various places and he remarked that our Southern states are the most American states and that in case of a revolution in our own country it will be the south that will hold together and save the country.

The southern states have an almost 100 per cent American population and the volunteer rolls of all past wars have proven that the southerners are the most patriotic of all the American people. The Southwest in my opinion is the most unpatriotic.

Bloody Revolution.

In talking with this friend he brought out the fact that in less than ten years time that the United States will be in the midst of one of the most bloody revolutions in the history of the world. I did not quite agree with him but he furnishes abundance of logic for his theory. He states, and we must agree with that, that the large percentage of foreign population that we are allowing to come to the United States care little about American ideals, and American traditions and it is this element that the "Reds" are working on continually breeding discontent and a hatred for our government and that a revolution is sure to come regardless of our ideals, regardless of our patriotism, and regardless of everything else.

The "Red" element is noticeable everywhere and especially in the middle west and in the southwest, where I have been for the past number of years. Even on the streets one can hear remarks that during the war they would have feared to utter.

And whom can we blame for this condition here in our southwest? The answer is obvious. A few years ago they started to raise cotton in Yuma and Maricopa counties in this state. The farmers begin to have difficulty in getting sufficient labor to take care of the raising and the harvesting of the crops. The various chambers of commerce throughout the state started in to help them by bringing in large numbers of natives from old Mexico. The beet farmers in Colorado, Wyoming, had the same labor troubles and their chambers of commerce started in to assist them in the same manner until now the country is so filled with Mexican labor that a white man cannot get a job. The same condition prevailed in the western Texas oil fields and the native Texans recently drove the Mexicans out with guns.

Every time an American employer hires a foreigner he is just adding and abetting a revolution in our own country. He is hurting himself more than he can realize now. And this friend of mine predicts that in less than ten years that we will be at war, not with a foreign nation but among ourselves.

Down On "Wops."

I have met all kinds of foreigners in my time, and 89 per cent of all I have ever met could never be molded into real American citizens in the true sense of the word. The Italians work in this country until they have a good sum of money and then return to their own country where they live the balance of their lives in ease. That is the purpose of most of the foreigners who come to our land. They want to save up enough money to return to their own country and live in ease. That is not a bad ambition within itself, but most of these people do not care how they go about saving this money. And in anyway the country is the loser. If a foreigner commits a crime and is confined in one of our prisons he is an expense to our country. If he is sent back to his own country, he will spend the balance of his days trying to get back or will instill in his countrymen a hatred for the United States and when they themselves get over they will bear this grudge and try to get even.

Suggests Plan.

We should close our ports to all foreigners who are not educated and bar out those who are educated that do not have at least $50,000 or more. No one should be admitted to the United States who cannot speak the English language fluently and this should be a rule in the Mexican border that no Mexican laborer who cannot speak and understand the English language could enter the country on a passport to work in any of our industries and while at work with his fellow Mexicans he should not be allowed to converse with them in any language save our own English.

Of every hundred native born Mexicans now in the United States only about three per cent can talk and understand thoroughly the English language, and among those that can speak a few words of English, they will not attempt to learn it unless it is mandatory with their employers.

Mexico requires that eighty per cent of all men employed in any establishment be Mexicans. This rule is rigidly enforced in the border towns to my knowledge, except in a few cabarets and saloons. Mexico does not allow anybody, just Tom, Dick and Harry, to enter her country. On the other hand the U. S. A. admit a certain number of aliens from other countries, including Mexico, and they permit thousands of native Mexicans to enter the United States through the head tax system and to work for the large corporations, such as smelters, mines, beet fields, cotton fields, etc. These Mexicans can manage to live on one half what it requires an American to get by on as the Mexicans' standards of living are different from that of the Americans. Every time they bring over one of these "Greasers" that means some American is out of work.

According to my friend, this is one of the chief reasons we will find ourselves in the midst of a revolution in just a few years. The American must live and before he will allow the foreigners to crowd him out of his job and take the bread away from his family, he will fight to the death. I was a soldier for ten years and I know the feeling of most of the soldiers. Few of them would take up arms to murder their brother Americans. That is against American ideals and traditions. If we have a revolution it will be the fault of the employer class and not the working class of individuals. Its hard for a millionaire to understand how a wage earner lives. He does not appreciate the hardships encountered in raising a family and making ends meet on a small wage. He is looking towards profits all the time and forgets that when he brings foreigners into the industries that he is undermining the main foundation of his business. The foreigner, himself, is not the friend of his employer. He will no doubt perform his work in a docile manner, but there is in his breast a hatred for his boss that is not in the breasts of loyal American workmen.

Back On Farm.

Personally, when this revolution breaks out I hope to be back in North Carolina with one mule, a carry-all wagon, cow, a few chickens, single shot breech loading shot gun, and enough wood laid up for the winter and I hope there will be plenty of snow so that I can track the rabbits. I also forgot that I also will have a pig and the inevitable pig pen, without which no farm is ever complete.

A Real Meal.

I will read about this revolution and talk it over with my nearest neighbor, but I will not participate. Give me a good meal of corn bread, back bones and ribs, washed down with buttermilk, and it would be mighty hard to pick a fight with me. But on the other hand let me get hungry and I'm fussy to the extreme.

I volunteered for the last war and was happy that they took me in but believe me whenever I volunteer for another one, I will think it's a picnic.

Hard On Bill.

About two more wars and our government would be enwrapped in so much red tape they never would get untangled. I contracted tuberculosis from German gas, in the World war, the Veterans bureau said that same was not due to my service. I went in an able bodied man came out almost a wreck and they said that my t. b. was not due to my service and I would like to know what it was due to. They cannot tell me that. That's why I would never volunteer for another war. In a few years they will probably hold that I owe them money for having gotten gassed and will maybe want to court martial me.

On the other hand I know of several cases of men who never was in France, in fact was only in the army a few days before the armistice. They are paying them from $100 to $207 per month. Not saying they are not entitled to it, but it shows what a mess our so-called Veterans bureau has gotten matters in, especially under a Republican administration. But if I have to vote the Republican ticket to get justice from my government I will tell them to hold on to their justice, I prefer to be a Democrat even though the Democrat veterans are getting the worst of it, and especially those of the old regular army whom have been altogether forgotten.

It's a great old world if we don't weaken. And revolution or no revolution, Veterans bureau, or so Veterans bureau, I am glad to be an American and to live among true Americans, what few there are left, and I believe the Worlds Series is being played fair even if I did lose $25 on Chicago's team Saturday.

Sincerely,
"RAMBLING BILL,"
