

Farm Board Controls Co-ops Getting Loans

Macon, Ga.—Carl Williams, member of the federal farm board told an audience of Georgia farmers that the board would control co-operative associations throughout the country.

His statement came in reply to a question by Representative Charles R. Crisp, who asked Mr. Williams "if it was the purpose of the board to exercise supervision over the co-operative associations through which it extended loans?"

Mr. Williams declared that whatever the farm board does of a lasting nature to help remedy the complicated troubles of cotton must be done on the sound foundation of organized agriculture, organized not by locality but by commodity and concentrated in a national body.

Mr. Williams said the board did not expect to help with the peanut crop this year and advised a study of conditions with regard to the crop in Georgia, in Virginia, in North Carolina and other peanut producing areas.

"There is no need of my telling you a lie and giving you false hope," he said in an inquiry about live-stock aid. "We cannot expect to deal with the small association, even of several counties or a part of a state."

Wife Brings Charges Against Son of Famous Evangelist

Formal investigation of serious charges made by Mrs. Harriet Sunday, prominent clubwoman, against her husband, George Sunday, son of the famous evangelist, and another woman was begun by the District Attorney's office, Los Angeles. At the left is Mrs. Harriet Sunday, who names Miss Mayrna La Salle in connection with the charges she has preferred against her husband. Miss Mayrna La Salle, a Hollywood model (right) has also been called to the District Attorney's office.

Hour Of Meetings For Juniors Changed

District Gathering Here Draws Many. Fine Address Made By Hamilton.

The district meeting of the Junior O. U. A. M. embracing Cleveland and surrounding counties was held in the high school building here on last Friday night, Ed Dixon, district deputy presiding. State Councilor Chas. E. Hamilton of Monroe was present and delivered a wonderful address on the principles of the order.

J. H. Gilley, assistant state secretary presented G. V. Hawkins with a gold fountain pen from the state council officials as a slight token of appreciation for the faithful work done as financial secretary of the local council.

All officers, members of the degree team and musicians are urged to be present at the regular meeting on next Tuesday night as there will be practice work on the degrees, also want to perfect plans for the presentation of Bible and flag to the school at Earl on third Sunday afternoon in November.

The hour for meeting during the winter months has been changed to 7 o'clock. All members take notice of the change and be on time. Beginning with December, the meeting will be held on Saturday night following the second Tuesday in each month instead of on the second Tuesday. This is done in order that those who cannot attend on Tuesday night will have at least one meeting in the month for their benefit.

J. A. Liles, Councilor.

Displays Two New Notes of Fall Style

Two new notes of the fall styles are noticed in this very attractive sports suit. First, the soft toed, which carries out the combination of a rich brown and tan and next the new longer skirt length. The jumper blouse is finished with a belt of the material that ends with loops down the front and a collar and cuff set of organic.

Governor To Drive First Ball On New Raleigh Golf Links

Executive's Mid-Iron Stroke, Well Known Here, To Open New Municipal Course.

Governor Max Gardner will drive the first ball on the new municipal golf course being opened near Raleigh today, according to Raleigh dispatches.

The governor is an ardent golfer, but as Shelby golf fans know he will not use a driver in smacking the first ball from the tee of Raleigh's new playground, because the governor does not use a driver. For his tee shots the chief executive uses a mid-iron, which he chokes as some players do a baseball bat, and his driving stance, or position, is somewhat similar to the crouch he used in playing football in bygone years.

SAYS HEART-SICK FOLKS SHOULDN'T DRIVE AUTOS

(Extract from article by Dr. Albert S. Hyman in American Journal Of Public Health)

The increase in serious accidents due to "heart disease" calls attention to the phase of the cardiovascular diseases which renders an individual suffering from such a condition a possible menace to the health and happiness of others. Frequent accounts of such accidents may be read in the daily press. They are usually attributed to "sudden heart failure," but the name "sudden heart failure" is in itself paradoxical; the condition nearly always occurs in persons who have had heart disease for some time. It is sudden only because there is an acute change or rearrangement of the circulation.

The need of requiring drivers of automobiles and railroad trains, motor-men, elevator operators and others in occupations where the lives of many are dependent upon perfect mental and physical functioning, to submit to an examination to prove their ability to cope with the demands of their work without danger to themselves or others, seems obvious.

Applicants for automobile drivers' licenses, in this state at least, are required to meet certain standards as to sight. It would seem equally important that persons suffering from serious heart disease be prevented from occupying positions where attending stress and effort might prove to be dangerous.

How Much Money To Wed?

Yorville Enquirer. A bright young thing, a graduate of one of the colleges for women, in a recent newspaper interview opines that no young woman her set and setting should marry a man who has an income of less than $4,000 a year. She insists that income is necessary for the young wife to keep up with her parties and country club friends, her cigarettes, her yo-yo and you know.

Chancing to know the pa of the young lady who gave out the interview we have in mind, it is all very amusing. When her pa married her ma he was making $15 a week. It is doubtful if the young thing herself knows that.

But what we were going on to say was that most girl graduates of our higher institutions of learning will agree that the $4,000 figure is away too high.

We know a graduate of Winthrop who married a chap making only $35 a month.

We know another who is perfectly happy with a $12 a week man and who would starve to death were it not for the fact that she has landed a job teaching school at $125 a month.

A young lady of our acquaintance who was shown the interview of the girl who must have a $4,000 man, remarked:

"Pshaw, that girl is silly. If that little love bug ever tickles that high brow sister she won't give much of a darn whether her lover makes $400 a year or $4,000."

And that declaration, we insist, is eminently correct.

Talk Football Game For Next Year's Fair

Dr. J. S. Dorton, manager and secretary of the Cleveland Fair association, in arranging for the fair next year is already hearing from several of the colleges who want their eleven to participate in the fair's football clash.

One communication seeks to arrange a game between Wake Forest and Lenoir-Rhyne, while there is some talk of a game between Clemson and N. C. State. Dr. Dorton stated today that if possible he would like to stage a really big game, one between two members of the North Carolina "big five," or between a "big five" eleven and some outstanding South Carolina team.

Virginia Election Starts Talk About Simmons Rival

Simmons could not count on much support from this angle.

On the other hand, a good many here feel that there is very little similarity between the Virginia and North Carolina situations, that the division here is Simmons and anti-Simmons, rather than Smith and anti-Smith, and that those who are opposing Simmons are the same ones that have opposed him ineffectively for 30 years. They also point out that the religious element will not enter into the campaign, but that the prohibition question will, and that the line-up will be far different from that in Virginia. It is also maintained that a contest against Simmons in this state would be a political battle royal, with Simmons as the victor in many undefeated campaigns directing his forces against those who are more or less novices when compared with him.

The Simmons backers here are still inclined to feel that there will be no candidate against Simmons, but are not at all worried if there should be one or six, since they are confident that the Little War Horse from Craven can easily beat the field. The anti-Simmons are equally confident that there will be a candidate or candidates to oppose him, and that he will be defeated. They are also greatly encouraged by the outcome of the Virginia election.

As a vamp who gets her men, Mme. Adriene Guyot of Brussels appears to be in a class by herself. Although not quite 40 years old, she month and two husbands a year.

THE GREATEST SALE EVER HELD
