Miss Richbourg Honors Brother.
Miss Sara Richbourg delightfully entertained last Thursday evening at her home on South Lafayette street with three tables of bridge, honoring her brother, Mr. Ashton Richbourg, of Baltimore, who has been visiting his parents for a week. The living room and tables were attractively decorated with mixed autumn flowers. At the close of the evening delicious hot chocolate with sandwiches and mints were served. The party included, Misses Richbourg, Elsie Hardin, Ruth Hamrick, Frances Hendrick and Ella Lipscomb, Messrs. Richbourg, Hack Mims, Howard Spry, Russell Johnson and David Levine.

Birthday Dinner.
Mrs. Charles Williamson's children gave her a delightful surprise birthday dinner on November 9 in celebration of her fifty-eighth birthday anniversary. Soon after the arrival of the family and friends the children presented their mother with a handsome black coat trimmed in fur. Mr. Hoyt Cline, a son-in-law, barbecued the following meats down at the old spring, opossum, chicken and mutton. A bountiful picnic lunch was served on a long table in the yard, which all thoroughly enjoyed. Immediately after the dinner, the entire family visited the cemetery at Rehobeth church and decorated the graves of their father and grand-parents with white and yellow chrysanthemums. This was a family reunion, and there were seven children, nine grandchildren and a number of intimate friends present.

Bride-elect Honored.
The Blue Parrot Tea Room on South Washington street was artistically arranged with white and yellow chrysanthemums yesterday afternoon, when Mesdames Tom and Connelly Eskridge were joint hostesses with a lovely bridge party, honoring Miss Evelyn Wilkins who will wed Mr. Meredith Hennessy next month. Each of the five tables were graced with end vases of large chrysanthemums. The guests found their places with attractive bride tallies and a dainty little doll in bridal attire marked the bride-elects table. The high score prize was won by Mrs. Brevard Hennessy and the honoree gown in a green crepe afternoon dress with hat of the same shade was presented with a trousseau gift. Mrs. Tom Eskridge received in a black velvet costume and Mrs. Connelly Eskridge wore navy blue georgette. A delightful chicken salad course with accessories and mints was served and dainty yellow nut cups were at each plate.
