Items Of News Will Be Appreciated—Phone 177—

A Chevrolet car owned by a Mr. Morehead of the Bell Telephone Co. and occupied by him and Miss Marie Whitesides was almost completely demolished last Sunday night when struck by south bound passenger train No. 135 at the crossing on Mountain St. The car choked on the track before the moving train. Both occupants leaped from the car just before it was struck by the train.

Kings Mountain is to have a new post office soon. It has been in the building of Dr. J. G. Hord on Mountain street for several years but will be transferred to a building on S. Railroad avenue, formerly occupied by Logan Motor Co., where they will have more floor space. This building is owned by the W. A. Mauney heirs.

A banquet was given by the merchants of the town at the Carolina Inn Wednesday evening for the purpose of organizing a Merchants Credit association.

Mrs. Sarah Baker Fulton and daughter, Miss Pearl Fulton were the most charming hostesses at a delightful reception on last Saturday afternoon at their attractive home on North Piedmont avenue, complimenting Mrs. H. T. Fulton, jr., a recent bride, who before marriage was Miss Sara Love, of Kings Creek, S. C. Numerous tall floor baskets of gorgeous chrysanthemums and low bowls of daisy chrysanthemums formed the floral decorations of the hall, living room and dining room. The dining table covered with a Maderia cloth and arranged with a bowl of white pom-pom chrysanthemums and fern. On the table and buffet were tall white tapers in silver candlesticks.

The guests were welcomed at the door by Mrs. L. P. Baker, wearing pink beaded georgette. Introducing the guests to the receiving line was Mrs. A. H. Patterson who wore American Beauty silk velvet with rhinestone ornaments.

The receiving line was formed in the living room. It was composed of Mrs. Sara Baker Fulton wearing a lovely gown of orchid chiffon with shoulder corsage of white roses; Mrs. H. T. Fulton, jr., who was strikingly beautiful in a gown of flesh taffeta of late design, with shoulder corsage of cream roses; Miss Pearl Fulton in a lovely gown of black lace with rhinestone ornaments wearing red roses; Mrs. Chas. Love of Blacksburg, S. C. wearing blue georgette; Mrs. John Floyd, September bride, dressed in black georgette with shoulder corsage of red roses; Mrs. Wesley Love of Kings Creek, S. C. dressed in lavender green georgette. Mrs. Norman Fuller McGill dressed in blue chiffon with rhinestone ornaments directed the guests to the dining room where sandwiches, potato chips, fancy decorated cake, mints and Russian tea was served by Miss Sara Allison, Miss Kathleen Williams, Miss Gussie Huffstetler, Miss Mary Baker, Miss Margaret Neisler and Mrs. J. M. McGinnis. The same color scheme of green and white was carried out in the refreshments. Mrs. C. E. Neisler, sr., gowned in silk lace with corsage of violets and Mrs. R. C. Baker, in black georgette and lace with corsage of roses, poured tea.

Mrs. Edward Lowell of Charlotte, dressed in peach satin and wearing roses, directed the guests to the living room where delicious punch was served by Mrs. Charles Dillig and Mrs. Joe Neisler. The punch bowl was attractively arranged with daisy chrysanthemums and ivy.

Mrs. H. N. Moss wearing silver gray georgette and Mrs. O. C. O'Farrell wearing a costume of Independence Blue said good bye to the guests.

HUMAN RACE NOW IN ITS INFANCY

Washington.—The human race now is in the earliest infancy of an existence that may last for 1,000,000,000 years in a universe made up approximately 20,000,000,000,000,000,000 stars in a flight like that of a great flock of celestial swans, which already has lasted roughly, close to 10,000,000,000 years.

Such is the picture of man's place in creation presented in the annual report of the Smithsonian Institution by J. M. Jeans, celebrated astronomer and secretary of the Royal Society of Great Britain.

Mr. Jeans pictures man as just beginning to peep over the edge of his cradle, and concludes his picture of life, space and time with the astonishing statement:

"The picture it sees may be merely a creation of its own mind in which nothing really exists except itself. The universe which we study with such care may be a dream and we brain cells in the mind of the dreamer."

Man, he says, has existed at the most about 300,000 years on a planet about 2,000,000,000 years old with every likelihood that conditions still will be suitable for human life a million million years hence, although the years will be longer and the climate colder. A very gloomy view of the future, Mr. Jeans observes, would give man a life span of 2,000,000,000 years.

Romance Is Renewed After Fifteen Years

Coldwater, Mich.—Twenty years ago Jack R. McKee and Ida Brownell, high school students at Quincy, became secretly engaged. McKee, however, wanted to seek his fortune in South America, and the engagement was broken.

For more than fifteen years they neither saw nor communicated with each other.

Last week, McKee, now a prosperous business man of San Salvador, came to the United States on business. He telegraphed Miss Brownell that he was coming to Detroit. Miss Brownell will accompany him back to San Salvador after they are married in Los Angeles.
