Three tempting courses, a salad, sweet and ice course were beautifully served by the hostess, assisted by Mesdames Basil Goode, Oren Hamrick and Evelyn Hoyle. After the dinner, bridge was played at nine tables. The fallies were designed in old fashioned couples. The high score prizes were won by Mrs. Oren Hamrick and Mr. Ray Lutz. Mrs. Bowling received her guests in a black satin blacke crepe gown with shoulder bouquet of Columbia roses.

Twentieth Century Club With Mrs. Roberts.

The home of Mrs. W. J. Roberts on West Marion street was beautifully decorated with vases and baskets of chrysanthemums and roses, Friday afternoon, when Mrs. Roberts was a cordial hostess to the Twentieth Century club in their regular meeting. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Lee B. Weathers, Mrs. John Schenck the vice president, presided. The subject was a continued study of "Religion." The first paper on "Abraham" was read by Mrs. P. R. Morgan, "Moses, the Man of God," was read by Mrs. S. S. Royster and the Book of Ruth was given by Mrs. J. A. Suttle. Mrs. Roberts was assisted by her daughters, Misses Adelaide and Minnie Eddins in serving a delightful chicken salad course with stuffed dates and mints. Special guests were Mrs. George Thompson and Miss Foy Moore.

Riley Honor Chicora Club.

Mesdames J. L. Webb and M. Webb Riley were charming hostesses to the Chicora club members and a few friends with an elegant dinner, Friday afternoon at 7:30 o'clock following the regular club program. The music room and living room were arranged with yellow chrysanthemums and the reception hall and library with pink and red roses from their own flower garden. Mrs. P. L. Hennessy, the secretary read the most entertaining minutes in rhyme, after which a miscellaneous program was given. Mrs. Nix substituting for Mrs. Holland read a paper on "Folk-lore of North Carolina." Mrs. Paul Webb's paper on "North Carolina Spirituals," was also read by Mrs. Nix. Miss Salmi Webb concluded the program by reading an interesting description of "Jug-Town." While the hostesses were inviting their guests to the dining room, Miss Mayme Roberts played a number of piano selections. The long dining table was covered with a handsome pin-point imported lunch cloth with dolleys to match, and centered with a huge green bowl of red carnations and lace fern, with clusters of green glass candlesticks at either end of the table, holding lighted red tapers. A color note of red and green was beautifully carried out, also in the four smaller tables with madiera covers and centered with vases of red carnations. The guests found their places with the most attractive place cards in autumn designs. Mrs. Riley was assisted by Mrs. W. F. Mitchell and Misses Stella Murchison and Mayme Roberts in serving the dinner, the first course consisting of sliced turkey, scalloped oysters, cranberry sauce and all accessories, the last course was fruit cake with the most delicious and beautiful ice cream, which was designed as a huge marble cake was cut and passed, each guest helping herself. Cashew nuts were passed last. Mrs. Mary E. McBrayer made a short announcement at the table in a few well chosen words, thanking the hostesses for their lovely hospitality. The invited guests were Mrs. Cora Lattimore, an honorary member, and Mesdames T. A. Wilkins and Hugh Wray of Gastonia, Mrs. John Pender of Tarboro, guest of her daughter, Mrs. E. Y. Webb and Misses Murchison and Roberts.

Poor Farmers Richer Suggestions To Make

In a recent issue of the Mason, Tennessee County Times, County Agent W. E. Hix offered some suggestions, which, if followed should make poor farmers richer. The suggestions follow:
Terrace your washing land.
Sow your rough land and your thin land to pasture, using a good seed mixture.
Lime your best land and sow to clover for hay and to improve your soil. Grow your corn and tobacco after clover.
If you cannot get lime, sow one of the improved varieties of Lespedeza.
Do not cultivate land in corn more than one year in three.
Sow winter cover crops on bare fields.
Make judicious use of the right kind of fertilizers.
Feed all roughage grown on the farm to livestock, and return the manure to the thin spots in your fields—85 percent of the plant food in the feeds used is returned to the soil in the manure.
Use good seed of a variety suited to your soil.
Feed your livestock a balanced ration made from a variety of feeds. For horses, cattle and sheep this will require good legume hays; for hogs it will require skim milk or tankage; and for poultry it will require plenty of skim milk or meat scrap.

One Companionate Marriage Working

Chicago.—The second anniversary of the companionate marriage of Josephine Halderman-Julius and Aubrey C. Roselle found the couple in Chicago each working and each vouching for the success of the marriage.
"We hoped people had forgotten all about us," said the 19-year-old daughter of E. Halderman-Julius Girard, Kansas, publisher, "but we may as well be good sports and tell how successful our marriage has been."
"We are just like any other married couple. Furthermore, we are married as thoroughly as any one else, and we can't understand why there has been all the fuss about companionate marriage."
The couple observed their wedding anniversary by attending the opera. They have been in Chicago for six weeks. Roselle working as an accountant, and his wife in the book section of a department store.

Odious Comparison.

Little Richard—"A fib is the same as a story, and a story is the same as a lie."
Little Roy—"No it isn't."
Little Richard—"Yes it is, because my father said so, and my father is an editor."
Little Roy—"I don't care if he is. My father is a real estate man, and he knows more about lying than your father does."

Countess Augusta von Rhein of Vienna wore a veil for 47 years because of a scar on her face.

"Then why don't you say it to me?" the teacher asked.
"Because if I say it now, you'll only make me learn something else for tomorrow."
