Henry Ford Quits Education Board

Dearborn, Mich.—Henry Ford, Dearborn's wealthiest citizen resigned recently from the local board of education, because some citizen of this small city resented his non-attendance at board meetings.

Mr. Ford had been a trustee of the school district for eighteen years and was regarded by many school electors as an honorary member of the board. He had not attended meetings for several years but went his personal representative, who acted in an advisory capacity, not being allowed to vote.

The Ford estate is largely in this school district, and Henry Ford and the Ford Motor company pay the bulk of school taxes.
