Publicity Keeps Hen From Laying

That's What Experts Said And Thus Saved Betty From Thanksgiving Fate.

St. Paul, Minn.—Betty, a temperamental little blonde, whose days and nights for the past month were a nightmare, on the eve of Thanksgiving, escaped the guillotine by a proverbial neck.

The chic little beauty—as plover crossed the street—stood vindicated for shiftness in the eyes of Justice John F. Doyle, because of the expert testimony of Prof. A. E. Smith and H. A. Nourie, who knew all there is to know about hens even unto: "Why is an egg?"

Betty, to make a long story short, was selected out of flock of 38 hens sold by William Hoover to Mary Johnson for $52.65 to determine whether they were as Hoover said: "Good layers."

Miss Johnson had paid the plaintiff only $30 of the purchase price, because of the unsatisfactory performances of the hens, and Hoover brought suit for $22.65.

Justice Doyle ruled that if Betty laid an egg in one month, the "cock" should be considered "good layers," but if she did not, it was to be the block with her and Miss Johnson would not have to pay more.

The 30 days were up and just at the moment when it appeared that Betty was doomed to some Thanksgiving board, stepped Smith of the University of Minnesota and Nourie, president of the American Poultry association.

"Betty is a highly prized temperamental little creature," the professor said. "You can't expect her to move from one home to another and carry on 'business as usual.'"

"The little defendant is in a highly nervous state," echoed Nourie. "All the publicity surrounding this case has made her upset and worried. I beg of the court to let her go free."

Justice Doyle fixed a tender ear on the trembling defendant, tightened up his belt and said: "Not guilty, but take this parting advice young woman: Go lay an egg."

There was no demonstration, no kissed jurors and no joyful weeping. None the less, Betty, the unproductive blonde, was free.

His Mistake. From The Durham Herald. The editor of The Christian Herald, called down by Baptist preachers for publishing vicious articles about the Gastonia textile conditions, has expressed a willingness to visit the Gaston county textile center and investigate for himself. He disclaims any intention of slandering the mill community and says he gathered his information from newspaper articles and from a report by an investigator of the federal council of churches. Under the light of his explanation and his expressed willingness to learn the facts, his unfair article seems to have been inspired more by a desire to believe the worst, rather than to discount the obvious untruths of prejudiced and Communist writers.

COUNTIES NAME MEMBERS BOARD

Raleigh.—Every county in North Carolina will have one representative on the new board of governors of the Carolina Motor club, and the board will work with the officers and directors in mapping the policies of the association, it was announced here today by C. W. Roberts, vice-president of the club.

It is believed that this new system will add materially to the efficacy of the organization and bring it into closer contact with the people of the state. Ballots have already been sent out to more than 21,000 members, who may cast their votes for any club member in their county. Ballot boxes will be closed December 15.

Election of the board of governors which will serve as the legislative branch of the Carolina Motor club, was authorized by directors of the club.

Early in January directors and governors will hold a joint meeting when duties of the newly elected board will be fully outlined and a plan of action decided upon. Importance of a statewide drivers' license, an adequate state highway patrol force and enactment of the safety responsibility act as three cardinal and interlocking measures to reduce the staggering toll of human lives and property damage now claimed annually in North Carolina in traffic accidents, will be discussed at the January meeting.

"Although the general assembly will not convene until January, 1931, public sentiment must be aroused to the necessity of decreasing traffic accidents," Mr. Roberts said. "In 1928 there were 675 deaths on our highways and one out of every 90 cars registered figured in an accident. Other states have experienced an average reduction of 20 per cent. in the accident death toll following enactment of a driver's license law and on this basis, it is reasonable to believe lives of 155 persons were needlessly sacrificed last year."

TRUSTEE'S SALE

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a deed of trust executed on May 21st, 1929, to me as trustee, securing an indebtedness to the Shelby Building and Loan association, and default having been made in the payment of said indebtedness, I, as trustee, will sell for cash to the highest bidder at public auction at the court house door in Shelby, N. C., on Saturday, December 28, 1929, at 12 o'clock M. the following described real estate:

Situated in the town of Shelby, N. C., and known as lots Nos. 12 and 13 in block A, as shown on plat of the sub-division of the Cyclops Auction company's property, made by J. A. Wilkie, surveyor, and recorded in book two of plats, page 3, in the office of the register of deeds of Cleveland county, N. C., reference to said plat being hereby made for location and dimensions. This November 26, 1929.

HIGH SALARIED EXECUTIVES HAILED AS GOOD DRESSERS

New York.—The men who draw salaries of $25,000 and more a year are snappy dressers, says the National Association of Merchant Tailors of America.

Anyone who makes that much money can afford to be a good dresser says the average man.

The tailors made a survey. They found that out of 50 jobs paying more than $25,000 yearly and filled by New York corporations, 46 went to men who knew their sartorial P's and Q's.

"There is a distinct and span dress movement on in the United States," the tailors' group adds. "Clothes that the business man of five years ago would have classed as foppish are on the conservative list today. Back of it is the psychology that the successful look begets success."

KEYHOLE TO HELP JURY SEE THROUGH ITS CASE

London.—One of the most curious exhibits ever seen in an English court room was produced when a Keyhole was introduced in evidence in a divorce case so that the jury might judge how much could be seen by peeping through it.

The keyhole was in a drawing room door. Justice Hill allowed the whole door to be placed in evidence upon the plea of counsel that there was a question of observations having been made through the keyhole, and that the jury might like to test its possibilities.

TRUSTEE'S SALE

By virtue of the authority vested in me as trustee in those two certain deeds of trust executed by Monroe Degree and wife, Henrietta Degree on the 1st day of November, 1928, and recorded in book 140, page 224, and that other deed of trust executed on the 6th day of July, 1928, by the trustees of Republicity Lodge No. 693, and recorded in book 153, page 84, of the register's office for Cleveland county for the purpose of securing an indebtedness in said deeds of trust described, and default having been made in the payment thereof and demand having been made upon me to execute the trust, I will sell to the highest bidder at the court house door in Shelby, N. C.

On Saturday, December 21, 1929, at 12 o'clock or within legal hours the real estate described in said deeds of trust, to-wit:

Situated in the north eastern portion of the town of Shelby, N. C. and being the northeast portion of that lot of land conveyed to M. McDowell by R. J. Daniel and wife, Dovie Daniel by deed recorded in book 3-0, page 172 of the office of the register for Cleveland county, N. C. and bounded as follows: Beginning on an iron pin on the west side of a 30 foot alley, N. E. corner of the original lot at the intersection of a 10 foot alley with said 30 foot alley and runs thence with the old line and the south edge of said 30 foot alley N. 87 W. 88 feet to a stake in said line; thence a new line S. 3 W. 3 feet to a stake; thence 87 E. 88 feet to the west edge of said 30 foot alley; thence with the same line N. 3 W. 58 feet to the beginning.

This the 19th day of November, 1929.

CAN GIVE YOU A FORMULA FOR

Warm Comfort all over the house at a big saving in fuel!

PICTURE the Frances Washington in your home — circulating its cozy warmth to every corner — at an astonishing reduction in fuel.

The gases rise to the top of the Radiating Combustion Dome where the valuable heat units are consumed. Only the waste from the combustion process goes out the smoke pipe at the back.

The cold air, drawn from the far corners, is returned reheated, fresh and moistened. Wide channels between jacket and heating unit allow air to enter from the bottom openings, mix with the heat from the combustion continuously through the rooms.

There are ten little panels in the feed door through which the cheerful glow of the fire may be seen.

The Frances Washington beautifies your home while it solves your heating problem in the most modern way. Its beautiful design and grained walnut finish harmonize with furnishings and decorations. You are invited to come in and see a free demonstration.

COMBUSTION DOME The fuel gases rise to this dome, give up their heat units before they pass out the chimney as useless smoke.
