Ramblin' Bill Locates Some Old Money Made In State Years Ago

A friend of mine knowing that I am a North Carolinian has given nor is it Confederate money. I have several bills in denominations of from four to ten and one nine do!lar bill. All this was issued by The Bank of Cape Fear, Wilmington, in the year 1823, or 1833. I never was identification and location of said one to collect coins, stamps, nor money regardless of how rare. About the only collecting I do along these lines is to collect enough today to eat on tomorrow and sometimes I do not do that. If this money turns out to be worth anything at all, it will be the first time that anything I ever owned turned out to be of value. If I buy a new suit at what I think is a bargain, I find one just like it in some other store at about half what I paid and everybody I meet that looks seedy at all is wearing one just like mine. Last summer I bought a new straw Katy that I thought was rather cute and it was > Commence of the Commence of th WHEN CHILDREN Need a Laxative WE have used hedford's Black-Draught in our family for nineteen years. I have found it of great help in raising my family. surely a bargain or I would nave not been able to buy it. The lext day I met an old Darkey who peddles hot tamales for a living and he was wearing the brother to my hat and the twin brother at that. I immediately threw mine in the stove and went back to an old Stetson that bootlegger left in the hills several years ago when I was hunting stills in Pinal county.

I would like to know the history of this money anyway. The aistory of anything from North Carolina is always interesting to me and if it does have any real value among coin and stamp collectors, would like to have their address. I will send a specimen of this money to any bank anywhere for inspection. trusting that said banker will not run off with it. Nowadays its sort of taking chances to trust the banks, but the North Carolina banks are different. I would not trust a Colorado bank, nor a Texas bank near as quick as I would a North Carolina bank. A North Carolina bank loaned me twenty-five dollars once and that's more then I can say for any other state.

In conclusion, wish to say that the Phoenix bootleggers are zetmas and that there is just as many ed Mrs. Forest Cornwell near headaches in a pint of their stuff Mountain Sunday afternoon as ever. Met one today who alternates his time between Leavenworth taking orders for the Christmas

Mister Bootlegger then takes Mister Business Man's car, goes after the booze and delivers it to Mister Business Man's house and returns the car to a certain spot. If he is stopped by John Law or some prohibition man, Mister Business Man loses his car and Mister Bootlegger did not know that the booze was in it. You see that is playing just about as safe as its possible to play any illegitimate

When I was an officer I arrested all law violators that I saw, but I did not last very long as an officer. To be a successful officer nowadays, it seems, you must know whom to arrest and whom to let go by. There are tricks in all trades, however, but I'm plain and simple and old fashioned and have'nt learned all the tricks yet and don't think I will start in to learn them at this late age.
