To Establish Co-op Cotton Market Group

Cotton Marketing Bureau To Be Largest Organization Of Type In World.

Memphis, Tenn.—Approval for establishment of the largest co-operative marketing organization in the world was received Wednesday by the federal farm board from 150 representatives of cotton co-operatives and leaders of the cotton business.

The agency—strictly a marketing bureau—will be organized by the government, backed by the government and its policies directed by the government's farm board.

Cotton Men Agree. The plan was agreed upon at a cotton congress here. Alexander Legge, chairman of the board, said the American Cotton growers exchange will be re-organized and incorporated by the government for $30,000,000 which is $10,000,000 more than was granted for organization of a grain marketing agency.

Stock in the association will be sold to cotton growers and the law will restrict sale of the stock to farmers only. There are more than two million cotton growers in America and the board hopes to organize and enlist all in the agency.

Government control of the organization will be indirect as the farm board is not allowed to hold stock in such corporations. The various state exchanges will give notes to the board for the loan of money needed and stock will be issued for sale to growers.

25-Year Notes. The notes probably will be made payable 25 years. Carl Williams, cotton representative of the board, said. Regional offices will be established and Memphis, Atlanta and Dallas are being considered as head quarters for the general bureau.

Williams estimated that only 10 per cent of the cotton now is handled by co-operatives but through campaigns in every cotton producing state the board hopes to enlist every cotton farmer from plantation owner to share cropper in the new organization.

Flay Hoey's Auto Damaged By Blaze

One of the new highway motor-cycles officers came along at exactly the right time for Mr. Flay Hoey, who now feels as if he has received ample service to date from the patrol.

Wednesday afternoon on highway 20 between Shelby and Kings Mountain the Hoey car caught on fire and would likely have been completely destroyed had not one of the patrolmen appeared on his motorcycle and aided in halting the cycle officers came along as exactly as they could be.

Lions Banquet Orphans, Needy Boys Of Shelby

Score Of Unfortunate Youths To Have Big Feed And Frolic With Club.

Friday night before Christmas, December 20, a score or so of orphan and needy boys about Shelby are going to have a big banquet and entertainment program as the guests of the Shelby Lions club at the Hotel Charles.

The club members, officials announced today, will play individual roles of Santa Claus to the boys selected for the evening.

Pick Deserving. J. B. Smith, county welfare officer, who is in closer touch with needy conditions about Shelby than any other, will cooperate with the club in selecting the most deserving boys for guests of the club. It is not likely that all of the youth, who will enjoy their big Christmas evening, will be orphans as in several cases boys from unfortunate homes, where there may be very little Christmas cheer, will be picked. When the boys are selected the name of one boy will be assigned each Lion and the club member must see that his boy gets to the banquet and thoroughly enjoys himself.

The program will be planned with the especial idea of pleasing the youngsters and for that evening the entire assemblage will be boys again. Christmas gifts will be tendered each lad at the conclusion of the banquet.

The plan was agreed upon at a cotton congress here. Alexander Legge, chairman of the board, said the American Cotton growers exchange will be re-organized and incorporated by the government for $30,000,000 which is $10,000,000 more than was granted for organization of a grain marketing agency.

Empty Stocking Is Gradually Filling Up Now

Those who have known troubles and hardships of their own are always ready to extend a helping hand to others when they hit the hard places in life's pathway. Among the givers to The Star's Empty Stocking Fund to aid the unfortunate of the town on Christmas eve was a man who has battled upward in life despite a physical handicap which would have flattened many men. And he didn't say so, but it is likely that he intended for his gift to do what it could toward making life seem a bit brighter Christmas for the mother who has walked on crutches for 35 years and now despite her handicap is faced with the almost impossible task of making a living for herself and her five children.

Dry Christmas Officers' Goal In This County

Many Being Jailed As City And County Officers Halt Christmas Booze Traffic.

It may have been a wet summer and fall in this section, but it is going to be a dry Christmas, if county and city officers remain as active for the next fortnight as they have recently.

Last week-end Cleveland county deputies and members of the Shelby police force placed more than a score of prisoners, the majority of them for liquor law violations, in the county jail, and this week the activity has continued without a letup. All infractions of the dry law seem to be under the close scrutiny of officers as big bootleggers, pint peddlers and imbibers are among those being apprehended.

One young fellow nabbed last week-end and not tried as yet is termed by officers as a monarch in the trade in this section, being under bond in both the state court and the federal court, the charges being that he makes his beverage in Burke county when not selling it here and elsewhere.

Eggs are already high and, with such activity on the part of officers, eggnog may be even more valuable by Christmas eve.

Q. S. S. Grocers In Forest City Meeting

Grocers Of Cleveland And Rutherford Counties Meet. Open New Plan Soon.

Between 75 and 100 people, the majority of them grocers of Cleveland and Rutherford counties, met last night at Forest City where they discussed the opening of the Quality Service Stores in this section. These stores will link with each other as individual merchants under the Quality Service name and will purchase, sell and advertise co-operatively. At the meeting it was decided that the new plan would go into effect about the second or third week in January.

The gathering was addressed by quite a number of speakers, including several representatives of firms manufacturing products sold by grocers. The chief speech of the evening was made by Supt. Clyde A. Erwin, of the Rutherford county, and his topic was the value of co-operation. Other speakers included Mr. J. S. McKnight, Shelby wholesaler; Mr. T. C. Young, head of a South Carolina wholesale house, Mr. Myers, advertising manager of the Quality Service stores and others.

The meeting, presided over by Mr. W. C. Ellis, of Spindale, was attended by delegations from the Spartanburg and Greenville units of the cooperative chain.
