Dr. Browne, Raleigh, To Make Address At Ellenboro Banquet

(Special to The Star.)

Ellenboro.—Dr. T. E. Browne, of Raleigh, who is director for vocational education within the state of North Carolina, will make the principal address at the sweet potato growers' banquet to be held at Ellenboro, Thursday evening, when the shareholders for the Ellenboro Sweet Potato Storage company will banquet themselves in the agricultural room of the Ellenboro school on a menu calling for sweet potatoes to be served in each course of the banquet.

Prof. Clyde A. Erwin, Rutherford county superintendent of schools, who has within the past five years placed four departments of vocational agriculture in four of the high schools of the county, will be present and will introduce Dr. Browne. J. M. Ostren, district agricultural supervisor, of Troy, is another of the special invited guests. He will also make a short address.

Dr. Browne is an interesting and forceful speaker. In addition to being the director for vocational education he is the director for N. C. State Summer school. He addressed the Rutherford County club on one of his previous visits to Rutherford county.

The home economics department of the Ellenboro school, directed by Miss Barbara Osborne, the teacher, will prepare and serve the banquet as one of their school projects for the year. This will give the girls real practice in meal preparation serving.

With much of the food donated by the sweet potato growers the banquet will come at a very low cost per plate. All of the sweet potatoes, chickens, eggs and milk will be brought fresh from the sweet potato houses and the farms of the growers.

Real string music, the kind that farmers like, will be furnished by a local string band.

Generals As Road Gang Bosses. (From The Toronto Globe.)

Honduras has found a way of keeping busy its hosts of generals—more numerous than the famous Kentucky colonels. On the theory that an idle general is a menace to peace, the old military chaps have all been made superintendents of road-mending gangs, and are so tired at night that they don't even talk about past wars. The generals are said to take quite naturally to the job of bossing.

Mt. Sinai Items Of Personal And Social

(Special to The Star.)

Shelby, R-2.—A large audience was at church to hear Rev. Rush Padgett preach his farewell sermon Sunday afternoon. We regret that he can no longer be our pastor, but wish him success in his work elsewhere, which is such as to require his full time.

Mr. Padgett taught a Sunday school study course at the church last week. This work proved to be very interesting and helpful to the number of teachers, officer and members of the school who attended.

City Water Shows Best Test In Years

R. V. Toms, superintendent of the city water department is proud of the report on the city water just received from the state laboratory of hygiene. A test is made every week or so, but the last test was the most perfect the city has ever had on its water supply. It shows no sediment, no color, no turbidity, no odor while hot or cold, no alum, no nitrates, no coli and only 13 parts per million of alkalinity.

New Prospect Items Of Current Week

Mrs. John Yarboro Seriously Ill—McSwain-Bess Wedding, Many Attend Funeral.

(Special to The Star.)

The friends of Mrs. John Yarboro will be sorry to know that she is seriously ill.

Many people from this community attended the funeral of Mr. Tom Stamey Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Jethro McSwain and Miss Annie Bess were happily married last Saturday at the bride's home. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burt Bess and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Abe McSwain. Their many friends wish them a long and happy life.

GEORGIAN REFUSES NEW STYLE IN NOSES

Atlanta.—There is an old proverb about absence and what it does to the heart which seems to apply to noses—W. L. Sims' nose anyway.

Sims' nose was demolished in the course of an argument and while surgeons were doing what they could with the relics they suggested he might like something fancy or even modernistic in the way of a new schnozzle.

Mr. Sims was not impressed. He had lived with his nose for 62 years and, in a way and when he thought about it, had grown fond of the old thing.

"You just give me the old model, I like it," he told the medicos. And so they did.
